Whatever you call them, the wide range of sweetened, flavored, alcoholic malt beverages now on the market are in a class of their own.

Malt

Two notes of caution: It is never wise to drink quickly, even if one is "only conducting a test." And we do not recommend mixing the leftovers from all the bottles to create a "zombie." It was outrageously awful.

Captain Morgan's Gold

Overall: 1, Flavor: 2.8, Sweetness: 4.2, Aftertaste: 2.2

This drink tasted like honey and cream soda, with a bad, clinging rum flavor. It had a spicy smell with a tangy sweetness and a bitter, alcoholic aftertaste. Buying this is being sold fool's gold.

Smirnoff Ice

O: 2, F: 3, S: 3.2, A: 1.6

Think cherry cough drops. Now think in a bottle. We're not sure who invented this flavor, but it smelled like cherry, tasted weak and medicinal, wasn't sweet enough and thankfully had almost no aftertaste. After plunging our mouths into a vat of Vick's, it was nice that the taste went away quickly.

Stolichnaya Citrona

O: 3, F: 4.4, S: 3.8, A: 2.8

Citrona is a mystery. It smelled remarkably like waffles. Then it had a bland, artificial citrus taste that wasn't too bad. It went down smoothly. But then the aftertaste hit — a tongue-coating like baking soda and tonic water. It made us think of diaper changing, for some reason.

Bacardi Silver

O: 4, F: 4, S: 5.4, A: 3

Silver starts with a fruity, over-ripe-blackberry bouquet, but the smell didn't last into the flavor. The taste was pretty bland, only somewhat fruity, and reminiscent of plastic warm from the sun, or of old onions. It was very sweet, which made it taste a bit like generic lemon-lime sodas, but then the aftertaste finished the picture: light and clean, but like gin left out too long.

Mike's Hard Iced Tea

O: 5, F: 6, S: 5, A: 3.6

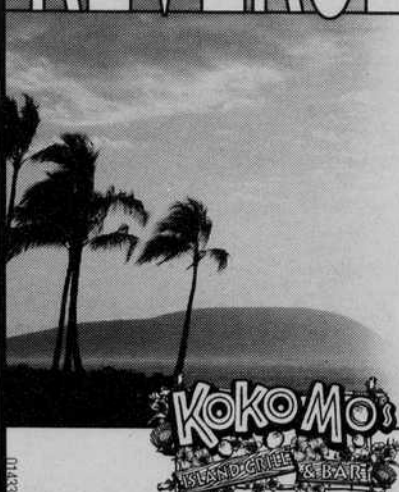

Maybe iced tea is a bad flavor for malt beverages to mix. In general, they don't do too well; they never taste real, and the aftertaste is usually nasty. Mike's, however, has changed that. While it didn't taste like iced tea, it certainly smelled like it. It didn't taste as sweet as it smelled, either, but it was an acceptable blend of tea, sugar and perhaps lemongrass, with a short aftertaste.

Kazi Lime

Kazi is the only local beverage on Turn to Beverage, page 5
