Eugene heats up, bough breaks

A fallen tree branch lies in the middle of 13th Avenue on Wednesday afternoon. The 20-foot high branch broke at approximately 5 p.m. after two days of record heat in the area.

Crews were on the scene within an hour to clean up the site. No property was damaged and no one was hurt, even though the branch fell directly in the middle of the street between the bike racks in front of Condon and Gilbert Halls.

The Department of Public Safety had the area taped off and an officer on the scene immediately after the breakage.

This is one in a series of events after record highs of 104 degrees on Tuesday and 101 on Wednesday.

Temperatures are expected to decrease for the remainder of the week. Today's expected high is 87 degrees.
