Student football tickets going fast for first games
 About 300 student football tickets remain for Duck games against Mississippi State and Fresno State, but they probably won't last much longer. "I'd say by Thursday they'd all be gone," assistant ticket manager Laura Jorgensen said. "It's about what we expected."
 The biggest rush came Monday morning, when tickets were first made available. Ticket officials estimate about 1,800 tickets were distributed Monday and add about 400 were given to students Tuesday. About 2,550 student tickets are made available for non-conference games. "It's been kind of sparse but steady," EMU ticket office worker Marlena Oden said. Most students are in a good mood when they pick up their tickets, she added, "especially since there's no line."

 Emily Scriven was one of the students who avoided long lines by picking up her tickets Tuesday. "It's kind of a risk," she admitted. But Scriven, a junior, isn't too worried.

"I've gotten a ticket to every game," she added with a smile.
