Measure

disabled and individuals seeking alcohol and drug rehabilitation treatment.

Lynn Read, acting state Medicaid director at the Oregon Department of Human Resources, is not optimistic about Measure 28's chance for success when votes are finally tallied at the end of January.

"The polls have not been favorable," Read said. "Everyone is moving forward as if to implement (cuts)."

The Measure 28 proposed cuts are the third round of reductions to hit OHP this year. They follow cuts made by the State Revenue Forecast Board and the Legislative Emergency Board.

"The departments have already worked extensively to identify the least painful cuts, now the cuts are extremely painful," Read said.

OHP, like many other state funded programs, could be running out of options. Officials said that Measure

Measure 28 proposed cuts will affect the Oregon Health Plan through:

- Elimination of dental benefits for adults
- Elimination of coverage for pharmaceutical drug costs
- Elimination of coverage for durable medical equipment and supplies, including wheelchairs, walkers, crutches, respiratory supplies and therapeutic shoes
- Elimination of the Medical Needy program
- Reduction in funds for Alcohol and Drug Rehabilitation programs
- Reduction in funds for contracted perinatal and prenatal programs
- Reduction in funds for maternity case management
- Reduction in coverage for the OHP standard population

28 could act as a turning point not only for OHP, but also for the health of the state.

"It's one of those things that we're just going to have to wait and see what happens," University Health Center administrator Bob Petit said.

"Hopefully people are going to get out and vote for the measure. If they don't, higher education and public programs are just going to suffer."
