

College Rules

This is Chad. His nickname is Sloth. He gets out of bed at three o'clock and for the rest of the day he plays Nintendo.

RULE # 182 - Don't be a sloth.

Tyler Wintermute Emerald

Art

continued from page 5

Moscato said "No War" is intended to encourage discussion surrounding President Bush's actions abroad.

"We're trying to provide creative opposition to what's going on," Moscato said. "In a country our size, you feel kind of powerless. I can't stop the war, but I can put on an art show to create a dialogue."

My House, located at 1136 W. Fifth Ave., has gathered submissions for the show throughout the past month, and today is the last day artists can turn pieces in at My House or the Survival Center in the EMU. Moscato said exhibit visitors can expect to see a wide variety of work, ranging from more graphic pieces to abstract ones.

"There are collages and sculptures," Moscato said. "I was impressed by the variety of work collected."

Artist Jarrett Arnold's work will appear in the show.

"I happened to have already painted the pieces, and it seemed perfect to display them there," Arnold said. "I hope the show gets people to more strongly feel that war is not a good idea and have more sympathy for fellow human beings."

During the opening, there will be a place for "procrastinator artists" to put their creative juices to work using donated art supplies.

Art major Carly Boyer helped organize the show. She said she felt the anti-war message is especially compelling when expressed through art.

"Art is a really powerful statement," Boyer said. "(The opening) will be very strong, just as strong as any protest."

Organizers of the opening and month-long exhibit said the show is not about passively looking at art; it is about using art to engage the community and provide a platform for creative activism.

"Art has the power to change lives and empower people," Moscato said. "You feel powerless over the laws that govern all these decisions over our lives. I think people are sick of being fed messages by mainstream media. Art empowers you to create your own message."

Contact the Pulse reporter at helenschumacher@dailyemerald.com.

Entertainment Calendar

Friday, March 7

7:30 p.m. — Cai Emmons (the author reads from his book "His Mother's Son"), Eugene Public Library, 100 W. 10th Ave., 682-6349, free

7:30 p.m. — Lesbopalooza III: Tribe 8, Laura Love, Aisha Ayers, God-des, Jordan Blumberg-Emge (rock), WOW Hall, 291 W. Eighth Ave., 687-2746, $6 students, $8 general

8:30 p.m. — Dan Jones (rock), Wild Duck Music Hall, 169 W. Sixth Ave., 485-3825, $5, 21 and over

9 p.m. — Lo Nuestro (salsa/ Latin dance), Luna, 30 E. Broadway, 344-6948, $6

Saturday, March 8

7:30 p.m. — "Americana" (Eugene Concert Choir performs classical/ folk/spiritual music), Soreng Theatre, Hult Center, 682-5000, $12-$24

7:30 p.m. — Lesbopalooza III: Station

Wag, Shelley Doty X-Tet, Lisa Koch, Chris Purelen, God-des, Jordan Blumberg-Emge (rock), WOW Hall, 291 W. Eighth Ave., 687-2746, $6 students, $8 general

8:30 p.m. — Justin Hopkins (acoustic guitar), Cafe Paradiso, 115 W. Broadway, 484-9933, $5

8:30 p.m. — Pearl Django (gypsy/New Metropolitan swing ensemble), Luna, 30 E. Broadway, 344-6948, $10

9:30 p.m. — Monte Montgomery (guitar powered blues), Wild Duck Music Hall, 169 W. Sixth Ave., 485-3825, $12

9:30 p.m. — Not Quite Right (rock), Samurai Duck, 960 Oak St., 345-6577, $3

Sunday, March 9

2:30 p.m. — "Americana" (Eugene Concert Choir performs classical/ folk/spiritual music), Soreng Theatre, Hult Center, 682-5000, $12-$24

6 p.m. — Buster B.'s Guitar Bash (finger style guitarist), Luna, 30 E. Broadway,

344-6948, $3-$5

7 p.m. — Shelley Doty X-tet (acoustic funk trio), Cafe Paradiso, 115 W. Broadway, 484-9933, $8 cover, $6 students

Monday, March 10

8 p.m. — Chamber Musicale (student chamber ensemble), Beall Concert Hall, 346-5678, $3 students and seniors, $5 general

Tuesday, March 11

6 p.m. — Taiko Drum Ensemble (Japanese drumming/contemporary theatre/music and dance), EMU Ballroom, free

Wednesday, March 12

8 p.m. — Living Legends Creative Differences Tour (hip-hop) McDonald Theatre, 1010 Willamette St., 345-4442, $17

8:30 p.m. — Absolute Improv (improv comedy), Wild Duck Music Hall, 169 W. Sixth Ave., 485-3825

LESBOPALOOZA

THE QUEER WOMEN'S FESTIVAL

FRIDAY
MARCH 7

LAURA LOVE
TRIBE 8
GOD-DES AISHA AYERS

Tickets

$7 STUDENTS

$10 GEN.PUBLIC

291 W. 8th, Eugene OR.
Doors: 7:30 pm

SATURDAY
MARCH 8

SHELLEY DOTY X-TET WYMPROV!
ARJUNA GREIST
CHRIS PUREKA
STATION WAG
FOR MORE INFO:

Suzi 346-4095 or Kristina 346-3360

Tickets are on sale at the University of Oregon's EMU Ticket office, 346-4363.

Lesbopalooza is sponsored by the ASUO Women's Center, the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer Alliance and by homos like you.

Event is wheelchair accessible and sign-language interpreted; childcare scholarships available.