

Daily scavenger hunt: Painted protrusion

Adam Amato Emerald

What the heck is this? As part of the local celebration for National Historic Preservation Week, University graduate student and Associated Students for Historic Preservation member Christopher Bell is sponsoring a weeklong photo scavenger hunt with ASHP and awarding prizes.

The contest: Be able to correctly identify the location of the photographed artifact on campus, what it is and a little about it. The Emerald will print a different photo each day this week — to enter, simply send an e-mail to hpweek2003@yahoo.com and make your guess. All answers will be printed on Monday.

Today's photo: Where is this object? Who designed it? What is it made out of? And finally, a related question: What year did the University win the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship? (Be specific!)

For a full listing of events planned as a part of National Historic Preservation Week, see the related article in Wednesday's Emerald or visit <http://darkwing.uoregon.edu/~histpres/>.

"It's nice to have someone to look up to and get advice because they've been around for four or five years," Divisi singer Evynne Smith said. "We can sort of follow in their footsteps but still do our own thing because, of course, it's totally different because it's all-women."

Divisi performs on Thursday at Duckling, a University event for students with children, and on Friday at 4 p.m. in the EMU Amphitheater. They will begin work on their first CD on Monday, tentatively self-titled with a fall release. Divisi will be holding auditions this term at a time to be announced. For more information, visit the group's Web site at <http://gladstone.uoregon.edu/~divisi/>.

Rights

for OSSERA, said Senate Bill 786 is important because it would offer lesbian, gay, bisexual, queer and transgender individuals recourse against discrimination.

"The point of this bill is not to get people in trouble," Shaw-Phillips said. "The point is to give queer people a little ground to stand on in supporting their civil rights."

Senate Bill 786 is presently in Sen. Brown's Rules Committee. According to the senator, there will be hearings on the bill this month. Brown is expecting a high level of opposition to the bill, and said she does not expect to see a vote for some time.

"We have been trying for over 25 years to pass this sort of legislation," she said. "At this point, the passage of the bill has more to do with partisanship than anything."

There have been a few court cases in lower Oregon courts that have addressed discrimination based on sexual orientation. In Tanner v. Oregon Health Sciences University, an appellate court ruled that a state law barring employment discrimination on the basis of sex also prohibits discrimination based on sexual orientation. Brown said Tanner was a landmark case and could help to promote equal rights for all Oregonians, even if Senate Bill 786 does not pass.

"We may be able to pass through litigation what we have so far been unable to pass through legislation," Brown said. "This is going to be an uphill battle, but it is my dream to see Senate Bill 786 pass."

Sen. Brown can be contacted at (503) 986-1704. Three other senators represent the University and the surrounding area: Sen. Tony Coreoran, D-Cottage Grove, can be contacted at (503) 986-1704, Sen. Bill Morrisette, D-Springfield, can be contacted at (503) 986-1706 and Sen. Vicki Walker, D-Cottage Grove, can be contacted at (503) 986-1707.

June 23 - July 18
CRN 42044 Professor Henry Alley

SUMMER 2003 - HC 421H
You do not have to be an honors student to take this course. Open to all students with sophomore standing or above.

This course will begin with the journal, move to autobiography and fictionalized first-person accounts and will conclude with third-person short stories.

In class, the stories of Welty, Carver, Porter, Woolf, O'Connor, and Walker will be discussed to highlight technique, as well as concerns of characterization, style, tone, and plot. When appropriate, we will listen to recordings of authors reading their own works.

Writing assignments include several stories and a writer's journal. Class enrollment is limited to twenty-two.

Leadership

from the inside out

monday • may 12th

considering leadership: how personal styles influence leadership

During the first part of this workshop you will have the opportunity to take a self-score version of the Myers-Briggs Personality Inventory. Then you'll learn how the way you operate in the world influences your definition of leadership, your expectations from a leader and how you think you should act when in a leadership position. We will discuss how differing views of leadership can lead to differing conclusions in each of these areas.

3-6:30PM • ROGUE ROOM • EMU

thursday • may 15th

approaches to conflict resolution

This interactive workshop will explore concepts and skills related to effective communication and conflict resolution. We will cover topics such as distinguishing positions from interests, looking at the impact of assumptions and inferences, shifting your "conflict lens" and the art of asking questions.

3-5PM • UMPQUA ROOM • EMU

WORKSHOPS ARE FREE. LIMITED SEATING. PRE-REGISTRATION SUGGESTED. REFRESHMENTS WILL BE AVAILABLE.
