Cioroch and Lori Grey of Georgia in straight sets during the quarterfinals.

Panova beat Fusano earlier in the singles portion of the tournament and handled Kops-Jones in the finals of the Pac-10 Championships in early May.

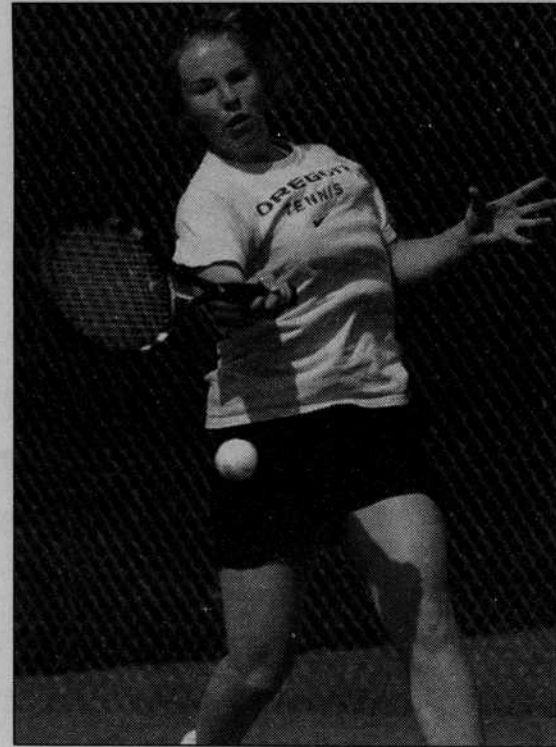

The season not only ends with All-American honors for Nagle and Panova, but they had four wins against the top 15 opponents and will have high expectations for next year.

"This is my first time here, so it was a really great experience to get to participate in (the NCAA Tournament)," Nagle said. "I was just happy to come here and get to the quarters in the doubles."

Panova agreed.

"This is also my first time at this tournament," she said. "I hope I get to come again next year."

Courtney Nagle said she's excited for next season, when both she and Daria Panova will return. Adam Amato Emerald
