last game against New Mexico, Edwards could be the man to take control for Stanford.

"When you play a lot of man defense and you blitz a lot, you are vulnerable over the top. ... I think our defense has the ability to zone it up and not play man-to-man if we need to," BYU head coach Gary Crowton said in a press conference Tuesday about the New Mexico game.

California (1-3, 0-0) at Illinois (1-2, 0-0 Big Ten)

Cal will look to get things back on track with the end of their non-conference schedule on the road, but it must face Illinois, which has won seven of eight in the history of the matchup.

The two last met in 2001 when Illinois coasted to a 44-17 victory and ended the season winning the Big Ten championship. The Golden Bears will look to rework history with the help of wide receiver Geoff McArthur, who is averaging 117.5 receiving yards per game to lead the conference and be ranked sixth nationally.

Idaho (0-3, 0-0 Sun Belt Conference) at No. 19 Washington (1-1, 0-0)

Idaho truly has nothing to lose in its game against Washington, considering the Vandals are still winless and have never won at Husky Stadium in 32 tries.

"We've done this, in terms of playing these bigger schools at their place, enough to not have that be an issue so it really does come down to playing as well as we can," Idaho head coach Tom Cable said in the Vandal weekly release.

Washington quarterback Cody Pickett remains a dominant force behind center, as the senior ranks second in the conference averaging 272.5 yards per game.

New Mexico (1-2, 0-1 MWC) at No. 24 Washington State (2-1, 0-0)

If you're New Mexico, it might not be a bad idea to postpone your trip to Pullman for several reasons.

Cougar quarterback Matt Kegel has passed for 584 yards and five touchdowns in the past two road games, which were against Colorado and Notre Dame.
