

Fall 2003 Career Fair

Wednesday, November 5
10:00am - 3:00pm
EMU Ballroom

TODAY!

Career Center
220 Hendricks Hall • (541) 346-3235
<http://uocareer.uoregon.edu>

LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES AT THE UNIVERSITY OF OREGON PRESENTS DEMOCRACY AND HUMAN RIGHTS IN LATIN AMERICA: LESSONS FROM THE PAST AND PROSPECTS FOR THE FUTURE

(Thirty years after September 11, 1973)

Wednesday, November 5

5:00 p.m. Adell Mc Millan Gallery—EMU
Opening of Altars and Art Exhibit in Tribute to Victims of State Terror and Human Rights Violations

7:00 p.m. Special Screening: Documentary
"Estadio Nacional" (McKenzie 240-A)

Thursday, November 6

9:00 a.m. Fir Room—EMU
Terror, Trauma, Memories: The Legacy of the Pinochet Era in Chile

11:00 a.m. Fir Room—EMU
New Perspectives on Authoritarian Traditions and Insurgency Politics in Latin America

3:00 p.m. Fir Room—EMU
Social Movements and the Future of Human Rights

5:00 p.m. Fir Room—EMU
The Future of Democracy and the Specter of Militarism

7:30 p.m. Browsing Room—Knight Library
Keynote address
The Pinochet File: A Declassified Dossier on Atrocity and Accountability
Peter Kornbluh (National Security Archive)

Friday, November 7

9:00 a.m. Fir Room—EMU
The Politics of Representations and the Representation of Politics in Dictatorial and Democratic Times

11:00 a.m. Fir Room—EMU
Human Rights in Latin America:
Lessons and Prospects

3:00 p.m. Fir Room
Solidarity and Activism in the Global Village

5:00-6:30 p.m. Gerlinger Lounge
Recital de Poesía y Prosa
Reading of Poetry and Prose:
"Vientos del Pueblo"

9:00 p.m. Ballroom—EMU
Latin American Peña
Special Performances by:
Lo Nuestro and Irene Farrera

- Sponsored by the Wayne Morse Center for Law and Politics
- Cosponsored by Department of Romance Languages, College of Arts & Sciences, Oregon Humanities Center, Office of the Vice President for research and Graduate Studies, Institute of International Education, Ford Foundation
- Additional support provided by Department of History, Department of Anthropology, Department of Political Science, Center for Critical Theory and Transnational Studies, Office of International Programs, Department of Geography, Center for the Study of Women in Society, and International Studies Program

For more information, call (541) 346-5051

The University of Oregon is an equal-opportunity affirmative action institution committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act. Accommodations for people with disabilities will be provided if requested in advance. (541) 346-5051

TENNIS

continued from page 5

She earned the honor of being Oregon's record-holder for victories in a single season. Panova was named Pac-10 Women's Tennis Player of the Year — Oregon's first player of the year award for tennis since 1988. She also swept the Pac-10 singles titles at the indoor and outdoor championships.

Panova has not disappointed heading into her third season. After recently winning the singles draw at the IIA Regional Championships, she advanced onto the IIA National Championships this week in Ann Arbor, Mich.

Despite all of her accomplishments, Panova is still not satisfied.

"It's fine, but I want to be the top player in the entire country," Panova said.

The success of her team, however, is still her No. 1 priority.

"Her whole personality is very positive and hard-working," Schyllander said. "A lot of girls look up to her for who she is. She's really not a selfish athlete — it's team first, her second."

Off the court, Panova loves to listen to all genres of music, including her favorite rap artist, Eminem. Movies also occupy her free time during breaks in the busy schedule of the year-round tennis season. She considers "The Matrix" her favorite movie.

Panova, known as Dasza to her friends, also enjoys spending time with her teammates.

"We hang out all of the time," Panova said. "We like going out together, watching movies together — they're like my new family."

Panova, an economics major with a 3.4 GPA, already has plans for her career after the University.

"I would like to be an assistant coach (for tennis)," Panova said. "Then be a head coach and athletic director."

If her life so far has been any indication, her fate looks promising.

Alex Tam is a freelance reporter for the Emerald.

FOOTBALL

continued from page 5

Besides mentioning an expected dance on the Washington "W," Lewis also called out Pickett, saying "Anyone can have one good season."

Lewis added comments about Washington receivers Reggie Williams and Charles Frederick.

"He's a good football player," Bellotti said. "He's a leader on defense. He can make plays and he's very instrumental in what we do. I don't expect that to change. It's just the fact that he won't get the opportunity to speak to the press."

On the field, Lewis and Washington offensive lineman Khalif Barnes exchanged pushes in the fourth quarter of Saturday's game, drawing personal foul calls for both players. Bellotti said Monday that he turned the incident in to the league office.

"(Lewis) did not strike the guy, the other guy pushed him first," Bellotti said. "It was a bad deal and it's unfortunate because it doesn't belong in the game of football."

Contact the senior sports reporter at mindirice@dailyemerald.com.

BASKETBALL

continued from page 5

"It will be nice to go out there and know that I'm 100 percent healthy and not have to worry about anything," Kraayeveld said.

Oregon's main focus tonight will be maintaining a high level of defensive intensity, which has become the Ducks' calling card.

"The key for us is going to be our defensive play," sophomore forward Carolyn Ganes said. "If we can go out and play tough, inspired defense, the offense will come. Everybody has on and off nights (offensively), but the defense is what is going to have to be consistent for us."

Ganes, along with junior guard Brandi Davis, led the Ducks in scoring last season with 10.9 points per game. Ganes, spent the off-season working on her game, including a stint with the Canadian National Team at the Pan American games in August.

"I think everyone improved over the summer," Ganes said. "We all have new aspects to our game that we can contribute and things that other teams may not be expecting from us this year."

Along with showing its offseason improvements, Smith said tonight's exhibition will be a chance to gauge areas where Oregon needs to improve.

"I think (tonight) is going to be a test and evaluation," Smith said. "Globally seeing where we are with our defensive system, our rebounding and our offensive system. Evaluating against a different opponent will be nice because we've played against ourselves and we know how we can play with ourselves."

The Ducks won last season's exhibition opener 100-43 over Horsholm BBC. Despite the talent discrepancy which comes with exhibition games, the Ducks want to take this game seriously and prepare for the rest of the season.

"We're treating it like any other game," Ganes said. "We want to treat every game like we're going out and playing Stanford or Washington."

Contact the sports reporter at jonroetman@dailyemerald.com.

KEN KESEY'S
ONE FLEW OVER
THE CUCKOO'S NEST
ADAPTED BY
DALE WASSERMAN
BRAWDY!
Nov. 7, 8,
13, 14, 15,
21, 22 - 8 pm
Sunday,
Nov. 16 - 2 pm
Sunday's Matinee:
benefit performance
for Shelter Care, 686.1262
UO Ticket Office / EMU
346.4363
Mon-Fri 9-5
UO Box Office: Tickets at Performances Only
LUSTY!
ROBINSON
THEATRE
Directed by Rob Urbinati
Comic NAKES
89.7 FM
For request accommodations
related to disabilities:
UO Development
Office, 346.4190

ROSES
$5.99
DOZEN
Rhythm
& Blooms
13TH & KINCAID
WED/THURS/FRI
017365