

advertise.

get results.
call 346-3712.
OREGON DAILY EMERALD

CHARLES H. LUNDQUIST - College of Business
UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Business Career Symposium

Wednesday, April 21st

6:00 to 8:45 pm

Lillis Business Complex, 2nd Floor

- EXPLORE CAREERS: Hear from People in the Business!
- Network with UO Alumni and Employers!
- Win DOOR PRIZES! Attend the Reception!
- Compare and Contrast Jobs in the Same Field...

Track A

Operations and Event & Team Management 6:00 to 7:15 pm

- Jeff Sanders Promotions - Sponsor Benefits Coordinator
- UO Athletic Department - Associate Director for Internal Operations
- JELD-WEN - Corporate Vice President
- Target - Executive Team Leader

Marketing, Sales & Communications 7:30 to 8:45 pm

- Nike - Business Analyst - Specialty Sales
- John Hancock Financial Services - Registered Representative
- Black & Decker - Field Marketing Representative

Track B

Financial Analysis & Banking 6:00 to 7:15 pm

- Wells Fargo - VP Senior Relationship Manager
- Intel - NW Region Controller
- Levi Strauss & Co. - Credit Manager

Accounting, Tax, & Auditing 7:30 to 8:45 pm

- USDA Forest Service - Acting Financial Manager - Willamette National Forest, USDA Forest Service
- KPMG - Audit Manager
- Moss Adams - Partner
- Levi Strauss & Co. - Accounting Manager

For more information, please contact James Chang at the LCB, 346-3421.

Club brings taste of Hawaii to mainland, McArthur Court

The Hawaii Club's annual Lu'au Saturday featured traditional food, dance and music from the islands

By Ashley Griffin
Freelance Reporter

The University Hawaii Club's 29th-annual Lu'au at McArthur Court on Saturday night held a feeling of authenticity with dancing, a reggae band and indigenous Hawaiian foods such as poi shipped from the islands.

"The Lu'au is a way of bringing our culture to the mainland," University alumnus Jason Cummings said. He said the club's mission is to educate the public about Hawaii and maybe entice travelers to come to the islands to learn more.

The evening opened with a prayer and a Hawaiian lu'au dinner. The tables were decorated with fresh pineapple boats, and the main dishes included a tender roast pig, Shoyu chicken and white rice. Audience members were also introduced to some Hawaiian staples, like poi, which is the root from a taro plant.

"I liked the poi," sophomore Leslie Margeson said. "It didn't taste like anything but the color was pretty."

Other foods included a sweet guava cake and a salty Lomi Lomi salmon mixture.

Between dinner and the show, the crowd was encouraged to visit the country store and mingle with the

Turn to LU'AU, page 16

Tim Bobosky Photographer

University students Sarah Nagata, Christina Chun (behind) and Tiare Duncan dance the Hula at McArthur Court on Saturday evening to the sounds of the Hawaii Club Band.

CAMPAIGN

continued from page 1

and hope people come to see it," he said.

For younger voters, such as students who turn away from traditional media sources such as network news, technology's integration into politics has become increasingly important.

The Democratic National Committee unveiled a rebuilt Web site last week that incorporates many of the techniques utilized by the Dean campaign to help Democrats make political connections, and the Bush campaign is once again turning to its Web site, updated in January, to mobilize Republicans, according to an April 13 article in USA Today.

Director of the Institute for Politics, Democracy, and the Internet at George Washington University Carol Darr said that although groups had successfully used the Internet before, it wasn't until 2003 that mainstream politics adopted useful techniques.

"There's before Dean and after Dean," Darr said in the article. "Dean made all the difference, he put it together. The Internet went from something people saw as bells and whistles and something they had to do to avoid looking old-fashioned to something they really wanted to do — both to raise money and organize volunteers."

Contact the business/science/technology reporter at stevenneuman@dailyemerald.com.

The Muslim Students Association presents...

ISLAM in America

Tues, 4/20

Christ in Islam and Christianity

Wesley Foundation (by UO Bookstore) @ 7:00

Wed, 4/21

Women & Human Rights in Islam

Law School, Rm. 142 @ 6:00, UO

Tues, 4/27

Muslim Night: A Glimpse of Culture

Knight Library Browsing Room @ 7:00, UO

Sponsored by the Muslim Students Association and the Wesley Foundation; please contact us at asuomsa@gladstone

$
$
$
$
$

Microcomputer services wants

YOU!

We need computer-savvy workers to support UO students, faculty, and staff.

Starting pay: • Micro Services employees - $8/hr • Departmental consultants - $9/hr

Work study not required

Inquire at 151 McKenzie Hall

See <http://micro.uoregon.edu/jobs/> for more information

$
$
$
$
$

Get the word out!

Advertise in the Emerald classifieds

SELL

- cars
- furniture
- sports equipment
- computers

FIND

- employees
- lost items
- jobs
- roommates

Best Rates In Town
Call 346-4343 NOW!
Oregon Daily Emerald/Advertising