

Spring Career Fair - Graduate and Professional Schools

Table	School	Profile of School
7	A.T. Still University	Andrew Taylor Still established ATSU's founding college, Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine, over 110 years ago. With the addition of three new schools in the last decade, ATSU remains a leader in comprehensive medical education, research, and healthcare throughout the world.
8	Armstrong Atlantic State University - Physical Therapy Program	Innovative, award-winning, problem-based learning, physical therapy curriculum featuring small class size, case-based teaching and out-of-state tuition waivers for most students. Part of a Graduate School that features programs in public health, sports medicine, health care administration, education, computer sciences, criminal justice, history and nursing (masters and nurse practitioner). Located in beautiful, historic Savannah, Georgia.
9	Bastyr University	Bastyr University, located north of Seattle, Washington, is one of the world's leading academic centers for advancing knowledge in the natural health sciences. A twenty-five-year pioneer in natural medicine, Bastyr continues to be in the forefront of developing the model for 21st century medicine. Bastyr offers a range of graduate programs including Naturopathic Medicine (ND), Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine (MSAOM, MSA, DAOM), and an MS in Nutrition.
10	Ben-Gurion University - M.D. Program in International Health and Medicine	This is a four-year medical degree program that focuses on global health. In addition to the standard medical school curriculum, coursework is offered in areas such as disaster relief, refugee health, and cross-cultural communication. Students spend years 1-3 in Israel. During the fourth year, students spend two months in Kenya, India, Ethiopia, Peru, or Nepal and can complete electives at Columbia University.
16	Columbia University - Mailman School of Public Health	The Mailman School of Public Health, located within Columbia University's Medical Center campus, offers programs leading to the Master of Public Health (M.P.H.), Master of Science (M.S.), and Doctor of Public Health (Dr.P.H.). The Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) degree is also offered in collaboration with the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Concentrations are available in biostatistics, environmental health sciences, epidemiology, health policy and management, population and family health, and sociomedical sciences.
11	Creighton University - School of Pharmacy and Health Professions	Creighton University's School of Pharmacy and Health Professions offers entry-level doctorate programs in pharmacy, physical therapy and occupational therapy. Creighton also offers a web-based pharmacy pathway and a certificate or masters in health services administration. Creighton University is a Jesuit, Catholic, private university in Omaha, Nebraska.
15	Des Moines University - College of Osteopathic Medicine	Des Moines University offers degree programs in medicine and the health sciences - nothing else. The campus community embraces a common mission and vision: to prepare exemplary caregivers and leaders in medicine, healthcare and health services management.
14	Eastern Washington University - Department of Physical Therapy	We offer a physical therapy curriculum leading to a Doctor of Physical Therapy degree.
17	Georgetown University - Special Master's Program in Physiology and Biophysics	Georgetown's biomedical training programs offer a variety of outstanding research training environments responsive to the needs and interests of a diverse population of students. Georgetown's Medical Center offers students not only a tradition of excellence in education and patient care spanning nearly a century and a half, but also the excitement of an institution in ferment, aware of its growing stature in national and international distinction in academic medicine. During the past several years, the Medical Center has achieved unprecedented growth in its programs for basic and clinical research.
35	Lane Community College - Flight Technology Program	Training to prepare candidates for careers as professional pilots. LCC offers aviation-related training to meet Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) certification and licensing. LCC is geographically central to both the University of Oregon and Oregon State University. Lane freely articulates with both universities.
18	Midwestern University - Health Sciences Programs	Midwestern University is educating the health care team of the next century. Our outstanding academic reputation stems from the depth and breadth of our learning environment with two campuses in Downers Grove, Illinois and Glendale, Arizona, and with programs in osteopathic medicine, pharmacy, physician assistant studies, physical therapy, psychology, occupational therapy, bioethics, health professions, education and biomedical sciences. We provide an interdisciplinary approach to learning.
19	National College of Naturopathic Medicine	The National College of Naturopathic Medicine, located near downtown Portland, offers a Doctor of Naturopathic Medicine (N.D.) degree and a Master of Science in Oriental Medicine (M.S.O.M.) degree. With the college's academic emphasis in holistic, preventative medical education, both degree programs focus not only on technical excellence, but also on patient-centered care.
34	OHSU School of Dentistry	Since 1899, the School of Dentistry at Oregon Health Science University has produced dentists, dental specialist and dental hygienists for the citizens of the greater Northwest region. In addition to educating dental professionals, it's highly regarded faculty and staff are involved in research, patient care and numerous programs dedicated to outreach and community service.
21	OHSU School of Nursing	The Oregon Health & Science University School of Nursing ranks in the top 10 schools of nursing nationally. The Nurse Midwifery Program is ranked #1 in the nation by U.S. News and World Report. The school ranks eighth in National Institutes of Health nursing research funding. Discover your passion for Nursing at the OHSU School of Nursing.
20	Oregon College of Oriental Medicine	The Oregon College of Oriental Medicine (OCOM) provides a comprehensive program leading to a Masters degree in Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine (M.Ac.O.M.). The three-year program emphasizes traditional Chinese medicine, acupuncture, Chinese herbology, Qigong, Tuina, and Shiatsu. Federal financial aid and study in China are available.
22	Oregon State University - College of Pharmacy	OSU's College of Pharmacy offers a four-year professional program leading to a Doctor of Pharmacy. No bachelor's degree is necessary; however, completing the pre-pharmacy curriculum takes about three years. Pharmacy offers diverse opportunities including hospital settings, home health care, clinics, corporate, academic, research, and retail. OSU graduates are widely recruited by employers because they are well prepared for the dynamic challenges of a pharmacy career.
13	Pacific University - School of Education	Pacific University offers quality teacher education and school counseling programs on two campuses - Eugene and Forest Grove. Founded in 1849, Pacific is consistently named a "Best Value" by U.S. News and World Report.
23	Ross University - Veterinary and Medical School	Ross University is a U.S. modeled medical school and veterinary school in the Caribbean. Students do all of their rotations at affiliated hospitals in the United States (42 hospitals-Med school and 20 veterinary schools-Vet school). There is a 90% pass rate for Ross graduates on the USMLE and Board exam!
24	Samuel Merritt College	Make A Difference! Explore professional opportunities in Physical Therapy, Occupational Therapy, entry-level FNP or MSN-CM, Physician Assistant and Podiatric Medicine.
25	Scholl College of Podiatric Medicine	Scholl College offers a four-year professional degree program leading to a doctorate in podiatric medicine (DPM). A two or three year residency leads to certification in orthopedics and surgery following graduation.
26	Southwest College of Naturopathic Medicine	Accredited four-year professional level medical program resulting in a Doctor of Naturopathic Medicine Degree (ND). Studies concentrate on natural approaches to therapy; strong emphasis on disease prevention, integrated clinical education. Graduates sit for professional board exams for licensure as naturopathic physician within licensed states.
27	St. George's University - School of Medicine	With over 25 years of success, St. George's University School of Medicine has graduated over 5,000 physicians practicing medicine in over 30 countries; and last October marked the graduation of our Charter Class for the School of Veterinary Medicine. With top notch faculty dedicated to teaching, a state-of-the-art campus, and academic support services, it is no surprise that we have an average pass rate of 90% for step one of the USMLE and 96% for the NAVLE.
33	University of Houston - College of Optometry	UH College of Optometry offers a four-year professional program leading to a Doctor of Optometry; Graduate studies leading to MS or PhD in Physiological Optics and Vision Science; Combined OD/PhD in clinical practice and research in vision.
32	University of North Dakota - Physical Therapy Program	Established in 1970, the University of North Dakota Department of Physical Therapy offers a six-year course of study, leading to a doctor's degree in physical therapy (DPT). As a student in the UND School of Medicine and Health Sciences, you will have access to first-rate facilities and resources - including scientists, physicians, and other health-care professionals. You will learn in well-equipped laboratories and a superb medical library. After completing three years of pre-professional studies, you will enter our program as a senior. For the next three years, you will be immersed in demanding but rewarding study and research - plus unique opportunities to explore your interests and apply your growing skills.
28	University of Puget Sound - Physical Therapy/Occupational Therapy Programs	The University of Puget Sound offers programs leading to the Doctor of Physical Therapy degree, and Master's degrees in Occupational Therapy. Our programs feature small classes, responsive faculty, and a unique on-site teaching clinic that gives students excellent hands-on learning experiences before they embark on off-campus full-time internships.
29	Washington University in St. Louis School of Medicine	Washington University's Program in Physical Therapy ranks among the top physical therapy schools in the United States. Our comprehensive curriculum prepares students to pursue rewarding careers in Physical Therapy. Students learn in a collaborative environment in which they will acquire the attitudes, knowledge and skills required to become an effective and compassionate health care practitioner.
30	Western States Chiropractic College	Western States Chiropractic College (WSCC) has been a pioneer in the world of chiropractic education since 1904! As a leader in evidence-based chiropractic education, WSCC has long encouraged an integrated approach to health care. WSCC's four-year professional program prepares its graduates to deliver quality patient care based on established chiropractic procedures, scientific knowledge, and professional integrity.
31	Western University of Health Sciences	Western University of Health Sciences offers the following graduate and professional programs: osteopathic medicine, pharmacy, veterinary medicine, physical therapy, physician assistant, health professions education and graduate nursing.