PHILLIPS & COMPANY SECURITIES INCORPORATED

Job Description

Phillips has become a recognized force in the brokerage industry because of its most important asset - the people who make up the firm. For this reason, we are now accepting applicants for Phillips & Company's Broker Development Program. Our Broker Development Program encompasses 3 distinct phases. First, unlicensed individuals will be put through a 6-8 week training program where they will study for the Series 7 and Series 63 exams and begin to learn the fundamentals of our sales process. Second, upon the successful completion of the exams, each newly licensed individual will be assigned a sales manager and 2 senior brokers who will train them on the specifics of account opening and our sales process. Finally, once the goals of the training program have been met, the new broker will begin to build a client base utilizing the skills learned during the first two phases of the training program.
