year and we will be ready to kick Washington's butt."

Washington is a sore subject for the Ducks. The Huskies were the first and last team to defeat Oregon this season, stopping the Ducks' 9-0 start in a 5-2 victory over the Ducks. The Huskies came to Eugene later in the season and stole the deciding match to defeat Oregon, 4-3.

"These women know anytime the Huskies are involved, it is a big match," Schyllander said. "We're at a point now where we want to take the Northwest crown and take out the Huskies."

Despite the Ducks' problems with Washington, Oregon made a seven-win turnaround this year and posted a 17-9 record. Their sixth-place finish in the Pac-10 is their best since the conference combined divisions in 1997.

Schyllander said a highlight for the team came in February when the Ducks achieved the first sweep of the Arizona schools in program history.

"Those wins put us at another level in the Pac-10," Schyllander said.

Individually, the season started great for the Ducks as junior Daria Panova won the Pac-10 Indoor Championship. Panova, ranked as high as seventh in the nation this year, continued to play well for the Ducks, going 32-14 and moving to the top of Oregon's list for all-time wins with 84.

The Moscow native faltered at the end of the season; she was upset in the quarterfinals of the Pac-10 Championship, breaking her streak of three straight Pac-10 tournament titles. Panova was also upset in the first round of the NCAA Individual Tournament.

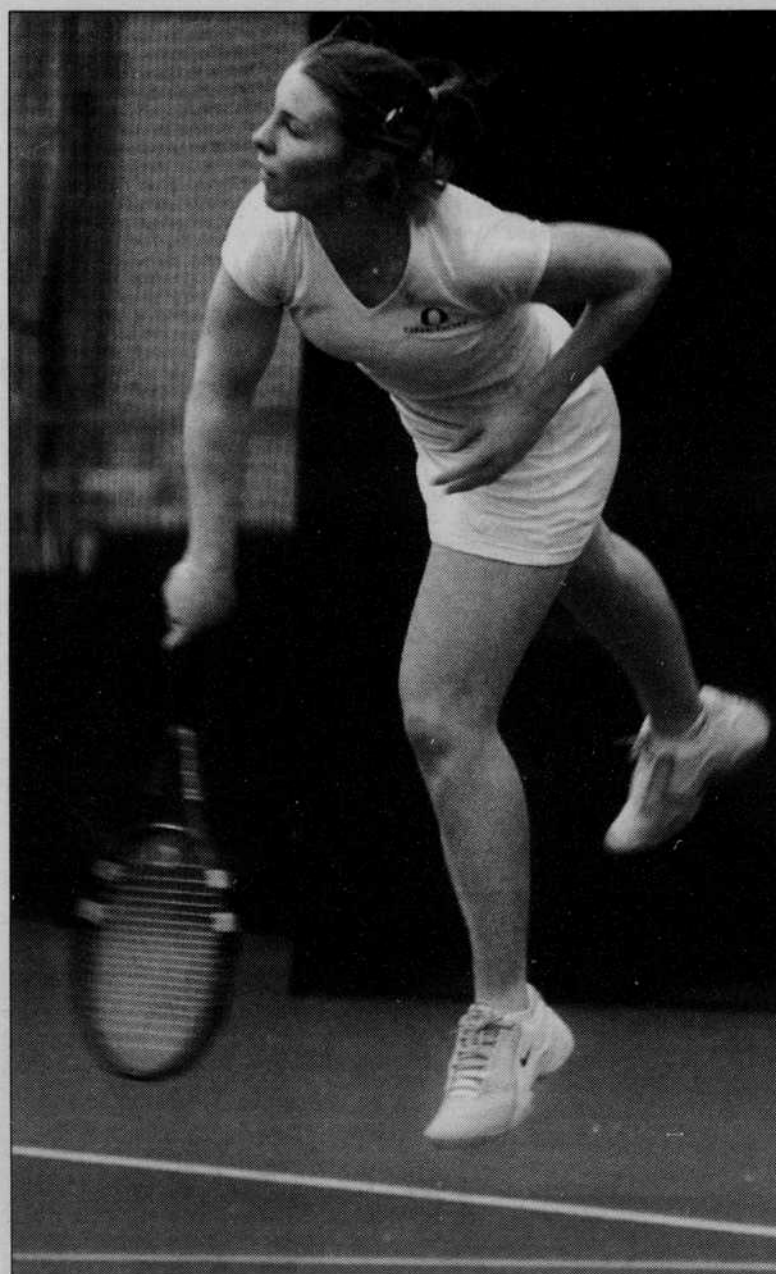

Freshman Dominika Dieskova stepped up for the Ducks in the No. 2 position, getting her biggest victory against No. 11 Dianne Holland of Arizona on Feb. 14.

Dieskova, ranked 71st in the nation, compiled a 20-17 record while becoming the first freshman in Oregon history to be selected for the NCAA Individual Tournament.

The Slovakian native also got her name in the Oregon record books with teammate Anna Leksinska by racking up 20 doubles wins, second all-time in a single season at Oregon.

"The sky is the limit for (Dieskova)," Schyllander said.

Senior captain Courtney Nagle ended her Oregon career third on the all-time wins list with 64 victories.

High hopes for next season

The Oregon program will be aiming high next season, as the Ducks will lose only one player and gain one of the top recruits in the country.

"I think we are finally starting to believe that we're good," Schyllander said. "We got a taste of playing some of the top programs in the country and we're excited to build on that."

Oregon adds 19-year-old Tatiana Luzhanska — ranked as high as the No. 54 junior player in the world by the International Tennis Federation — to next

With Panova, Dieskova, Bak, Leksinska, Davina Mendiburu, Bolivian national team member Monica Hoz de Vila and newcomer Luzhanska, the Ducks could be an imposing force in the Pac-10 for years to come.

"We've had a lot of success this year," Mendiburu said. "Our goals will be higher next year because we believe we can be in the top 10 or 20 in the country and near the top of the Pac-10."

Sven Swinnen becomes Oregon's highest ranked men's tennis player in history at No. 16, and has compiled 60 career wins to move him to third on the all-time list.

Tommy Skipper breaks the Pac-10 record in the pole vault at 18 feet, 10 1/4 inches and also wins the Pac-10's decathlon in his debut as a decathlete. Oh, and he's only a freshman.

Uniforms for football and basketball are always something to look forward to every year. What pigment of yellow and mixture with green will national analysts make fun of next?

Volleyball's struggles persist with a 3-69 Pac-10 record over the past four seasons. Head coach Carl Ferreira, however, will return for his fifth season.

Wolverines get crushed at Autzen Stadium 31-27, which propels the Ducks to the cover of Sports Illustrated and a No. 10 ranking in the nation. What a sweet day that was for Ducks fans.

X-Factor on the Oregon men's basketball team will be the play of their big men. If the Ducks can get key contributions on the post on the offensive and defensive ends, it will open up the perimeter for Oregon's elite wing players.

Youth movement stretches across all of Oregon athletics including basketball, football and track and field.

Zone defense should never be employed against the Oregon men's basketball team. There are too many great shooters who should not be left open by the zone.
