JOIN ONE OF FORTUNE MAGAZINE'S MOST ADMIRED COMPANIES

We provide one of the most important services in the world today: 1 in 6 Americans receives a paycheck from ADP and 450,000 companies rely on us for payroll processing, HR management tools, and time and attendance systems. The keys to our success are twofold: a service organization that is truly world class, and one of the best trained and motivated sales organizations in the country.

THE OPPORTUNITY

Our Small Business Services (SBS) division has an opportunity for a happy, energetic and coachable sales professional. You will be trained on our channel selling approach: building relationships with accountants, banks and clients, and generating new prospects through telemarketing-confirmed appointments and prospecting. After training, you will be assigned to an established territory responsible for selling to new prospects and generating additional sales to current clients in your territory.

THE CHALLENGE

If you have enough experience in sales to know you want to pursue sales as a career, if you are motivated to learn all that you must be valued as a consultant by your clients, and if you can inspire people to trust your decisions and follow your lead, you will love this job. If you bring the raw talent and motivation, we provide all the tools: exceptional training, company car, laptop, sales force automation software, great products, name recognition and the best service in the industry.

REWARDS

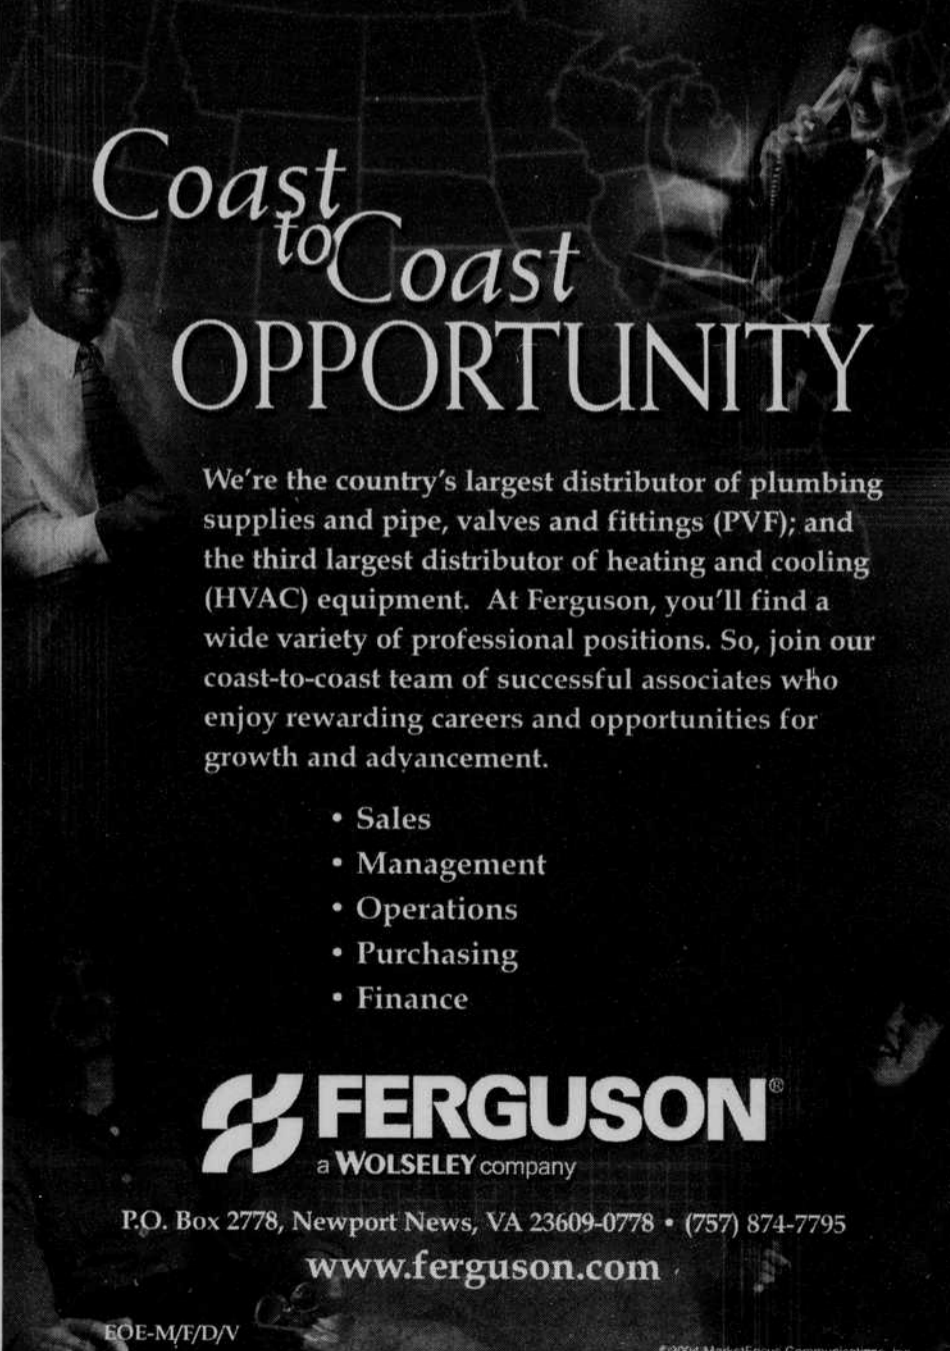

Compensation at ADP includes base salary, uncapped commissions and bonuses, company car, expenses, and stock options. You can also qualify for regional and national incentive awards and perks, the highlight of which is the President's Club (this year to London). ADP offers a comprehensive benefits package including 401K, stock purchase plan and tuition reimbursement.
