The Women's and Gender Studies Program is seeking applications for potential graduate teaching fellowships for 2005-06.

QUALIFICATIONS:

- 1) Admission to a University of Oregon graduate program.
- 2) Substantial background in women's and gender studies.
- 3) Experience in group process.
- 4) Record of academic excellence and/or important experience in women's and gender issues.
- 5) Strong interdisciplinary background.
- 6) Cross-cultural sensitivity.
- 7) Ability to work independently.

DUTIES:

The successful candidate will teach two or three introductory women's and gender studies courses during the year. Responsibilities include syllabus design, lectures, selection and supervision of facilitators for discussion groups, office hours, weekly sessions for facilitators, participation in a pedagogy seminar, and evaluation and grading of students' performance. Lectures are scheduled on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Salary is determined by the GTFF bargaining contract, which mandates salary ranges based on academic level. In the academic year 2004-05, salaries ranged from $10,519 to $11,113 at .49 FTE. The fellowship includes a tuition waiver for the full academic year.

Application forms can be obtained by writing to the Women's and Gender Studies Program, 315 Hendricks Hall, University of Oregon, Eugene, OR, 97403-1298; by calling (541) 346-5529; or by leaving a request at wst@oregon.uoregon.edu. Applications must include transcripts, at least two letters of recommendation, a statement by the candidate outlining interests, qualifications, and future goals in women's and gender studies, a rough outline of topics and readings the candidate would cover in an introductory course and, if available, teaching evaluations from any previously taught courses. Applicants may choose from a variety of textbooks and may choose to use the on-line database Reading Women's Lives (Pearson Custom Publishing). Samples of syllabi and of the textbooks are available in the Women's and Gender Studies Office. The complete application must be filed at the Women's and Gender Studies Program office, 315 Hendricks. Open until positions are filled, however review of applications will begin Wednesday March 9th. Finalists will be interviewed and announcement of the appointments made by March 16.

Women's and Gender Studies seeks to employ a diverse group of instructors. We especially encourage applications from people of color, members of the LGBT community and people with disabilities. The University of Oregon is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act.
