IN BRIEF

Men's Club lacrosse wallops Washington, 16-5

A battle on Saturday night between two of the top teams in the Pacific Northwest Collegiate Lacrosse League turned into a 16-5 rout in favor of the Ducks.

Oregon's Danny Ernst, last year's PNCLL Most Valuable Player, scored four goals to help lead the Ducks to their convincing victory over Washington, one of only two teams ahead of Oregon in the Division A standings.

The Ducks dominated the contest from the start, building a 6-0 lead behind two first-quarter goals by Ernst. While the offense displayed a powerful attack, the Oregon defense remained strong as well, holding the Huskies scoreless until the opening minutes of the second quarter. Washington's first score of the game cut Oregon's lead to five — the smallest deficit the Huskies faced in the game.

The Ducks eventually tacked on four more scores in the second quarter — two from Ernst and one of three goals from sophomore Julian Coffman — to take a 10-2 advantage into the half.

Oregon continued the onslaught in the second half, adding two goals in the third quarter and four scores in the final quarter — three of them unanswered — to claim the 16-5 victory.

In addition to solid play from Ernst and Coffman, Oregon's Ryan Warren and Matt Connors added to the offensive explosion with two goals apiece. In all, nine Oregon players scored at least one goal.

Goalkeeper Nate Cordova anchored the Oregon defense with eight saves, including a denial of a one-on-one fast break. Brauck Cullen relieved Cordova in the fourth and also played well, recording six saves.

The win improves Oregon's record to 2-1 in division play and 6-4 overall. Up next for the Ducks is Western Washington in a non-division game at home Saturday.

Celtics beat 76ers, take hold of Atlantic Division

PHILADELPHIA — The Boston Celtics took control of the Atlantic Division.

Paul Pierce scored 27 points, including the go-ahead basket in the final minute, and the Celtics moved closer toward clinching the division title with a 105-98 victory over second-place Philadelphia on Tuesday night.

Allen Iverson scored 28 points and Kyle Korver added 17 for the 76ers, who fell three games behind Boston with five games remaining.

"This was the biggest game to date," said Pierce, who had 13 rebounds. "We had a lot on the line. We're our own worst enemy right now. It's in our hands to take."

Philadelphia holds the eighth and final playoff spot in the Eastern Conference, one game behind Cleveland and one game ahead of New Jersey.

Football: Williams' potential 'unlimited' due to size, speed

"Right now I'm just playing mediocre. I'm not living up to the potential of my game so far. I just need to keep at it, and I'll get where I need to be."

Williams played tight end during his sophomore year at Culver City High School before moving to wide receiver during his junior season, where he eventually garnered Super-Prep All-American honors. With his size, Williams offers the kind of security blanket to quarterbacks that only a select group of receivers can. The freshman can snare passes nearly 12 feet off the ground with his tremendous reach and will allow Oregon signal callers to be a little high with their throws.

"If you throw him a jump ball, that's a mismatch against safeties, let alone corners," senior quarterback Kellen Clemens said. "Once he refines his skills a little bit, he's going to be one hell of a receiver."

As spring practice continues, Williams will battle a talented group of receivers — including Demetrius Williams, Cameron Colvin, Brian Paysinger and James Finley — for playing time.

While inexperienced, Jaison Williams certainly has enough talent to produce.

Now it's just a matter of shedding that dreaded label.

"Jaison, right now, is a guy who has improved immensely over the offseason," Clemens said. "With his size and speed, he has unlimited potential."
