IN BRIEF

Team XO hosts second annual invite on Saturday

Team XO, a collective of former University athletes and athletes who train in Oregon, will host the second annual XO Invite at Hayward Field Saturday.

The invite will feature a number of high schools from each of the classifications in the state and will also include elite programs from the state.

"Team XO has a pretty different view on how track and field should be in the United States, so we wanted to make a track meet that epitomizes that," XO Invite meet director Ross Krempel said. "We want to really promote and make the athletes feel like stars, kind of like a football game. Also, we wanted to make a carnival, fun atmosphere at a track meet."

Last year's inaugural XO Invite and state champion Benson will return to defend its title. Also included in the field is 2003 state champion Sandy High School, as well as 2001 and 2002 state champion Churchill.

The field also includes last year's 3A boys and 1A boys and girls champs.

"This is the only time you will see many classes of athletes competing at the same time and against each other," Krempel said. "None of the 1A or 2A athletes get to compete at Hayward, and we saw that as lacking."

Tickets are $7 for adults and $5 for students. For more information, visit www.xoinvite.com.

Lacrosse to wrap up regular season this weekend

The Oregon women's lacrosse team travels east this weekend to take on Ohio University in a non-conference match up. The game will be the Ducks' regular season finale.

The Ducks (4-10 overall, 1-4 Mountain Pacific Sports Federation) and the Bobcats (5-9 overall, 1-5 American Lacrosse Conference) are both coming off losses last weekend.

"This weekend we're just going to try and piece more of our game together and be competitive for the full 60 minutes," Oregon head coach Jen Larsen said.

The Ducks have had trouble keeping their intensity up for the duration of games this season.

But Larsen said the problem has been addressed.

"We've had some problems maintaining our standard of play for full games this year, but we fixed a ton of these problems throughout the first phase of the season, and things have gotten a lot better," Larsen said.
