RETURN TO NORMALCY

MAIT NICHOLSON | FREELANCE PHOTOGRAPHER

University President Dave Frohnmayer, right, and former Vice President of Associated Students for Historic Preservation Chris Bell cut the ribbon at the Normal Gate rededication ceremony Thursday morning. The gate was first erected in 1885 as a memorial for the Normal School that trained teachers on campus and was moved to Monmouth, according to an e-mail from Bell. The gate was later buried when Robinson Theatre was constructed; students from the University's preservation program excavated and restored it to its original state in 2004.
