

Not competitive? Not a problem.

The University offers a range of intramural sports for serious and recreational competitors alike

BY RYAN KNUTSON
FREELANCE REPORTER

With affordable options for experienced and recreational athletes, intramural sports at the University has a division and sport to perfectly fit the needs of any interested participant.

"It has been a great way to stay connected with sports," veteran intramural competitor Eric Sorenson said.

The Recreational Sports Office offers different intramural sports each term depending on the season. During fall term, it offers flag football, indoor soccer, volleyball and three-on-three basketball. Also in the fall are weekend intramural tournaments, including cross-country, golf, tennis and racquetball.

For many upperclassmen and faculty, intramural sports have become a highlight of their University experience. They look forward to their next go at those coveted championship T-shirts — not to mention bragging rights for the remainder of the off-season.

Cindie Edamura, the assistant director of recreational sports, has won more than 30 championships while participating in almost every sport offered. There is no limit to the number of intramural sports available, and the program offers more than just competition, she said. "It's a great opportunity to meet a lot of people."

Teams are set up by signing players

INTERESTED?

You can find everything you need to know about intramural sports in 102 Esslinger, across from the Pioneer Cemetery on University Street, next to McArthur Court. The office has all the necessary paperwork to sign up as a free agent or start a team. The office's wall of cubbyholes holds rosters and information for each of the 30 sports offered each year.

Costs, which are split between team members, range by sport.

SPORTS, page 11B

Golf at its finest.

College students $22 for 18 holes $12 for 9 holes

Scrap Happy

Scrapbook Supplies

Specializing in Archival & Acid Free Products

- Create beautiful scrapbooks for a lifetime of memories.
- Area's largest sticker selection.
- 100's of unique papers, pens, classes, cards, craft punches, acid-free adhesives, magazines and idea books.
- Bring this ad in for 10% off your entire purchase through the month of October.

Gift certificates available but not valid with special discounts

You'll find us inside the center...
12 Oakway Center, Eugene (through Borders Books) • 684-4575
www.scraphappyonline.com

TEP
TEACHING EFFECTIVENESS PROGRAM

ALS
CLASSES

TEST
PREPARATION
LSAT GRE
MCAT GMAT

USP
Undergraduate Support Program

TUTORS

TRiO
PROGRAMS
McNair Scholars Program | Student Support Services

STUDY SKILLS

MATH & WRITING LABS

Free, drop-in workshops focused on academic success.

Tues., Nov. 1st
and Wed., Nov. 2nd
River Rooms, EMU
Beyond Spell-check
Smart Scheduling
Presentation Skills and more . . .

Academic Learning Services

ALS can help...
68 PLC, 346-3226
<http://als.uoregon.edu>

want fun?

club sports • craft center • cultural forum • outdoor program leadership resource office • women's center • multicultural center international resource center • asuo student organizations • break pool hall

