Oregon notes

Arizona State defenders can only watch as James Finley glides into the end zone for a two-point conversion in the third quarter last week. Finley caught two passes for 19 yards against the Sun Devils.

Ducks strive to maintain momentum against Huskies

Terrence Whitehead has returned to the field and provided quick production

BY JEFFREY DRANSFELDT
SPORTS REPORTER

Healthy and going full speed, Oregon's Terrence Whitehead again displayed the ability to have a big game against a ranked opponent.

Entering the game against then-ranked No. 17 Arizona State as underdogs, Whitehead became the first Oregon player in 35 years to run for and receive 100-plus yards in helping Oregon upset the Sun Devils 31-17.

Whitehead ran for 122 yards on 21 carries and 100 yards on 9 catches.

This after Whitehead ran for 96 yards and a touchdown and caught a second touchdown against then-No. 23 Fresno State earlier this season.

Whitehead's performance against Arizona State was the first time an Oregon player had run and caught more than 100 yards in one game since Bobby Moore against UCLA in 1970.

Whitehead moved to seventh on Oregon's all-purpose yards list with 3,679 in his career. He passed Don Reynolds and Terry Obee.

Quarterback Kellen Clemens climbed to third on Oregon's passing yards list with 6,943. The senior quarterback moves past Chris Miller and Joey Harrington and now only trails Bill Musgrave and Danny O'Neil.

Clemens 56 career touchdown passes trails Harrington's 59, Musgrave's 60 and the leader O'Neil with 62. Additionally, Clemens' 567 career completions trails Musgrave's 634 and O'Neil's 636. Only four Oregon quarterbacks, including O'Neil, Miller, Musgrave and Dan Fouts, have attempted more passes than Clemens. One of Clemens frequent targets, wide receiver Demetrius Williams, has six touchdown catches this season and has the single-season record of 10 by Tony Hartley, Cristin McLemore and Moore within reach.

redshirt year against Stanford two weeks ago, the Ducks have a full complement of running backs.

Against Arizona State, Oregon had four other players besides Whitehead combine for 123 yards on 22 carries.

Clemens and Jonathan Stewart each had nine carries and ran for 55 and 34 yards, respectively. Demetrius Williams ran once for 22 yards and Johnson ran three times for 12 yards.

Johnson also had one kickoff return for 21 yards.

Replacing Martinez

Matt Evensen filled in perfectly for injured kicker Paul Martinez, one week after not making the trip to Stanford.

It was determined in pre-game that Martinez would be unable to play because of a strained right thigh muscle on his right leg.

Martinez has made 15 of 19 field goals this season and earned Pac-10 Player of the Week honors twice. He came out for pre-game warmups and afterward appeared to be favoring his right leg, according to media reports.

Evenson was efficient, however, hitting two 42-yard field goals and a 51-yarder right before halftime. He also connected on two point after touchdown attempts. Additionally, Evensen handled all seven kickoffs.

Evenson's strong play was acknowledged with Pacific-10 Conference Football Player of the Week Honors. Evensen's award marks the third time an Oregon kicker has been honored this season, with Martinez earning recognition after games against Houston and Montana to start the season.

Active Trucks

Anthony Trucks was a disruptive force against Arizona State and quarterback Sam Keller. Trucks had three sacks for 12 yards and four tackles for 15 yards lost.

Trucks posted 11 total tackles, including 10 solo. He helped Oregon's defense limit Arizona State to 53 yards rushing and 330 yards total offense. The Sun Devil offense normally averages 518.7 yards per game.

He became Oregon's second defensive player to earn Pac-10 Conference Football Player of the Week honors. Linebacker A.J. Tuitele was honored after recording 11 tackles, seven solo, against Fresno State Sept. 17.
