

Graduate and Professional School Fair 2005 - Fir Room

Table	School	Profile of School/Program
23	Carnegie Mellon University Heinz School of Public Policy and Management	Since its inception in 1968, the mission of the Heinz School has been to advance the public interest through research and education. By strategically integrating expertise in policy, management and information technology, our faculty focus on critical public issues, including arts management, crime and violence, health care, information systems and technology, and public policy.
16	Concordia University School of Law	Concordia University has been educating leaders for over 100 years. The campus has evolved into a university that offers a solid liberal arts education, pre-professional programs, professional church work programs, over 40 undergraduate majors and minors, and graduate degrees in education and business. The campus' 1,500 students come from all over the United States and the world, but primarily from the Pacific Northwest.
25	Golden Gate University School of Law	Based in the beautiful landscape of the San Francisco Bay Area, Golden Gate University offers a variety of programs to students wishing to participate in a challenging and diverse classroom setting. Our Doctor of Jurisprudence degrees are available with a variety of specialization certificates. Come speak to a Golden Gate University Representative at the Graduate and Professional School Fair.
27	Gonzaga University School of Law	Gonzaga University School of Law belongs to a long and distinguished tradition of humanistic, Catholic, and Jesuit education. It is an integral part of Gonzaga University, which was founded in 1887 and continues to maintain the tradition of academic excellence in education that is at the heart of the mission of the 450-year-old Jesuit order. The School of Law, which has approximately 500 students, was established in 1912. The campus is located in Spokane, a four-season city.
7	Lane Aviation Academy - Lane Community College	Training to prepare candidates for careers as professional pilots. Lane offers aviation-related training to meet Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) certification and licensing. Lane is geographically central to both the University of Oregon and Oregon State University. Lane freely articulates with both universities.
17	Lewis & Clark College Graduate School of Education & Counseling	The Graduate School of Education and Counseling at Lewis & Clark College offers a number of programs in the fields of Counseling Psychology, Educational Leadership, Teacher Education, and School Counseling.
18	Lewis & Clark College School of Law	Located in Tryon Creek State Park and only minutes from downtown Portland, Lewis & Clark has one of the most beautiful law facilities in the nation. Students can attend school full-time or part-time. Student satisfaction at Lewis & Clark is high, largely due to the quality and accessibility of the faculty, flexibility and number of program offerings, beautiful location, and supportive atmosphere.
8	Monterey Institute of International Studies	The Monterey Institute of International Studies is a small, private graduate school that educates American and international students for professional, global careers in international business, the international policy world, translation and interpretation, and language teaching. In addition to expertise in their respective fields of study, Monterey Institute graduates have attained second language proficiency, intercultural awareness and communication skills, and a global mindset.
9	New College of California	New College of California is committed to education in support of a just, sacred, and sustainable world. We cherish intellectual freedom, the search for social justice, respect for differences, and a belief in collective responsibility for the welfare of all people. New College of California strives to help each student develop intellectually and creatively so that they may more fully enjoy opportunities in life.
10	Northwestern University Medill School of Journalism	Medill is a world renowned school offering a Masters of Science in Journalism or Integrated Marketing Communications.
11	Oregon State University College of Business	Our traditional MBA focuses on entrepreneurial and experiential learning culminating in an integrated business plan project with business partners. The program can be completed on a part-time or full-time basis with classes offered within an afternoon or evening program. Small class size emphasizes team interaction and leadership skills necessary for success in the business world.
30	The OGI School of Science and Engineering	We provide graduate level education in: Environmental Science & Engineering, Computer Science & Engineering, Computational Finance, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, Management in Science and Technology, Biomedical Medical Engineering, Biomedical Optics, Cardiovascular/Tissue Engineering, Neuroengineering, Speech and Language Engineering.
3	Pacific University Graduate and Professional Admissions	Pacific University is located 25 miles west of Portland in Forest Grove, Oregon. Pacific University's graduate and professional programs include Pharmacy, Dental Health Science, Optometry, Occupational Therapy, Physical Therapy, Physician Assistant Studies, Professional Psychology, & Education.
4	Pacific University School of education	Pacific University's College of Education offers excellent full and part time MAT programs, including Special Education, on campuses in Eugene and Forest Grove.
29	Portland State University Master of International Management	Portland State University's Master of International Management Program is a one-year full-time or two-year part-time graduate level business degree. This program can help you position yourself in the growing markets of Asia and the Pacific Rim, by focusing on Asian business with an emphasis on China and Japan. In addition, students can specialize in Global Marketing, Global Supply Chain Management, or Global Business and Sustainability.
26	Seattle University School of Law	Located in the heart of dynamic Seattle, Seattle University School of Law is a vital part of the community. The first year curriculum concentrates on the highly traditional and prescribed basic courses, and on an intensive, year-long course refining legal analysis and the writing skills which the ABA has called "among the finest legal writing programs in the nation."
3	Southern Oregon University - Masters in Applied Psychology	Our Master's Degree in Applied Psychology (MAP) gives you professional training for a career in applying psychological principles that help both groups and individuals excel. You'll learn to apply psychological principles that bring mental well-being and change to agencies, organizations, and communities. Completion of the program enhances your career opportunities in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors.
25	Thomas Jefferson School of Law	The mission of the Thomas Jefferson School of Law is to provide an outstanding legal education in a collegial and supportive environment with attention to newly emerging areas of law, particularly those related to technological development, globalization and the quest for social justice.
19	University of Oregon Graduate School	The UO is recognized internationally for its outstanding graduate programs and excellence in teaching, research, and service. The university is a member of the Association of American Universities, and its highly ranked programs attract approximately 3,900 graduate students from across the United States and nearly ninety countries. The UO offers academic master's and doctoral studies in the physical and biological sciences, the social sciences, and the humanities as well as specialized interdisciplinary programs in such areas as Asian studies, folklore, and environmental studies. Advanced professional degrees are offered in architecture and allied arts, business, education, journalism and communication, law, and music.
20	University of Oregon Lundquist College of Business MBA Program	The Oregon M.B.A. curriculum crosses functional and disciplinary lines for we see the MBA degree as broadly generalist and managerial instead of narrowly specialist and functional. Classroom and experiential learning are integrated through first-year consulting projects and second-year business planning classes and competitions. Small, informal, and collaborative, the program is known for strengths in sports business, entrepreneurship, sustainable supply chain, and finance.
21	University of Oregon School of Law	J.D. Doctor of Jurisprudence; J.D./M.B.A Business and Law; J.D./M.S. Environmental Studies and Law; and J.D./M.A. International Studies and Law.
5	University of Portland Pamplin School of Business	The University of Portland's MBA Program is a fully accredited (AACSB) 36-hour program with 24 hours of required courses, 9 hours where you can choose a concentration, and 3 hours of electives. It is a program which guarantees that you receive solid, cross-disciplinary exposure to all of the key areas of business, and it offers the flexibility for you to concentrate your studies in an area that best fits your personal and career goals. Concentrations include: Entrepreneurship, Finance, Global Business, Health Care, Management and Marketing.
13	University of Washington The Information School	The Information School of the University of Washington offers various educational opportunities including: a Bachelor in Informatics, a Master of Library and Information Science (both residential and distance), a Master of Science in Information Management (both day and Executive), and a PhD in Information Science.
14	University of Washington, Master of Arts in Public Policy Studies	The MAPS program allows emerging professionals to bring positive change in their local, regional, and global communities. Students in this program build the background knowledge and analytic skills that enable them to tackle policy challenges in society. The program explores the complex policy environment at the intersection of public, private, and nonprofit sectors. Optional focus areas: local and state government, human rights, labor, education, technology, the environment.
15	University of Washington Daniel J. Evans School of Public Affairs	The Evans School of Public Affairs is ranked nationally in the top tier of schools of public policy and management and is the pre-eminent school in the Northwest. For those who wish to actively shape public policy and the democratic tradition, the School is a vibrant community offering many opportunities for learning, research, professional development, and public engagement.
24	Vermont Law School	The Vermont Law School offer the following programs: Juris Doctor; Master of Studies in Environmental Law; Master of Laws in Environmental Law; Juris Doctor/ Master of Studies in Environmental Law.
1	Willamette University College of Law	Willamette offers law students an intellectually stimulating environment of study taught by talented faculty; a small student to faculty ratio; options to specialize in a specific area of the law or to study diverse subjects; a joint degree JD/MBA program; certificates specializing in International and Comparative Law, Dispute Resolution, Business Law, Law & Government; and study abroad in China, Germany or Ecuador. The College of Law is one of the smallest and oldest ABA-accredited law schools in the West.
2	Willamette University School of Education	Our mission is to prepare teachers as educational leaders. Students, professors and supervising teachers work together to critically examine classroom practices and enrich the learning experiences in public school classrooms. Students explore innovative methods for using technology to improve teaching and learning, design curriculum to strengthen their students' literacy skills, and develop teaching strategies to meet the diverse needs of students in their host classrooms.