

Men: Kent was very impressed with overall team effort

Malik Hairston scored 12 points and Bryce Taylor added 11 more as they combined to shoot nine of 16 from the field. As a team, Oregon made 60 percent of its field goal attempts.

No Oregon player was in the game for more than 22 minutes, something Kent said is important because Oregon plays three games in three days beginning with Sunday's game.

"It was a great opportunity for our bench to get some minutes ...

and gain some confidence," Kent said. "With three games in three days, trust me their legs are going to feel it so it was an opportunity to get through a game and rest some guys."

The Ducks host Bowie State

tonight in both team's second game in the Hispanic College Fund Classic. Oregon plays Pacific Tuesday night. Both games have a 7:30 p.m. scheduled tip-off.

Women: UO frustrated by the officiating

Northwest Sports.

The Wolfpack had 20 defensive rebounds, leading to 21 transition points. They also had 17 points off of turnovers. Sabrina Keys led Nevada with 15 points.

Smith admired the play of Nevada who lacked size compared to her team.

"Hats off to Nevada, they played a good game, they were very physical," Smith said. "We challenged the ball tonight, we defended OK. Defense fuels our offense and when the defense isn't working, we can't move on offense."

Also preventing the Ducks from moving on offense were the game officials who were making calls well into the last 30 seconds of regulation.

"The officiating was frustrating," Smith said. "(Officials) slowed the tempo. We have to be bigger than that, we have to play through it."

During last week in practice, Nevada coach Kim Gervasoni told her team not to expect a high-scoring game against Oregon.

"They (Ducks) have the size to contest the shot," Gervasoni said. "Our shot selection was definitely not good. I knew going into today that we were not going to score a lot of points. We needed to pick up on defense."

Oregon (2-1) plays next on the road against the University of Portland (0-2) Tuesday night. They come home to face Arkansas (1-0) Friday at 5 p.m.
