T. D. Raffers and W. D. Galbreath started today upon their return to their home in Hebron, Neb. They have been spending several weeks here, camping out with M. H. Bauer.

Complete outfits for camping parties at Blackledge's furniture store. 8-3-tf

J. S. Watkins and three others living south of Corvallis are operating a combined harvester and thresher in the grain fields of this vicinity. The machine is pulled through the fields by sixteen horses and as it heads the grain, threshes it and sacks it. This modern apparatus has been attracting much attention from the farmers, several coming down from the Eugene neighborhood to see it work.

H. L. Taylor and wife, of Ogden, arrived here last night and this morning M. Burnap took them to the farm near Philomath, which they bought last winter.

Prof. C. I. Lewis and family left today for the coast to take a needed vacation. Prof. Lewis has not had a genuine vacation for three years and is figuring on enjoying this one to the limit.

Roy Heater was surprised beyond measure yesterday at receiving from the Yachats a salmon two and a half feet long and weighing between fifteen and twenty pounds. On the same train came a letter saying that Mrs. "Skeeter" Swan caught the fish with hook and line and landed it herself, with a little help. The fish was a beauty and looked of sufficient size to give a lusty man some trouble.

Wanted—Man and wife, German preferred, for general ranch work; good place and steady job. P. O. B. 602. 8-23-2t

Word from Newport or Elk City is to the effect that Mrs. Etta Lee, of Corvallis society life, got more water on her Sunday than she likes to have when not prepared for it. While at the dock with the Callahan family she got mixed up with the boat in such a way that it shoved off at the wrong time and Mrs. Lee went in to her chin. The bay water is as wet as any other and as cold, so the experience had nothing particularly enjoyable about it.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Irvine, of Albany, were over here yesterday on a brief visit. Mr. Irvine is conducting the Albany Garage, at 324 S. Broadalbin street in that city, and is making a marked success of the business. Autoists covering the Valley finding his well-kept place a convenient base for all needed supplies. He is handling a large line of the latest machines, and is now agent in Linn and Benton counties for the standard Chalmers-Detroit, Hudson, Buick, and Auburn cars.

LADIES Attention!

RUSSELL

The Tailor has just received his Fall and Winter line of 300 Patterns,

Suits, separate Skirts, Jackets, long Coats, Divided Skirts and Rubberized Rain Coats, made to your measure in the latest styles; strictly man-tailored; prices right. Before buying, call and look them over. Lady attendant. 132 Second St., Upstairs, Whitehorn Building

Mrs. C. V. Johnson returned last night from an extended visit at Grants Pass.

Ice cream delivered on thirty minutes notice by Winkley's Palace of Sweets. tf

Misses Ruth Lilly and Lulu Spangler left Sunday for Portland and the Seattle fair.

Miss Nelle Tate, of Jefferson, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowland and other Corvallis friends.

Mrs. Lee Anderson has gone to Portland to attend the millinery openings preparatory to stocking up the new store here.

Eat Golden Rod Flakes, They are better for breakfast, Than old-fashioned corn cakes, And five minutes time, Is all that it takes At Kline's. 6-12-tf

Miss Evelyn Wahrer, who has been spending the summer at the M. H. Bauer home here, left today for Wallace, Idaho, where she has been appointed as one of the teachers in the High school.

Best bargain on earth, brand new seven-room house east front, concrete foundation, sidewalks, mountain water and woodshed 14x16. No. 728 North 12th St. G. A. Whiting, 710. 11th and A. Sts.

M. H. Bauer, family and eastern friends, are in Corvallis from a three weeks camping trip into the Cascades. Mike got two fine bucks but the easterners, each of whom paid $10 cash for a non-resident hunting license, failed to get any big game.

Miss Edna Dow, living on N. Third street, met with a serious accident Monday night by being thrown from an overturned carriage while out riding between here and Albany. She sustained a severe fracture of her left collar bone. After being brought home her injuries were attended to by Dr. J. B. Morris.

J. M. Nolan and family returned yesterday from a two weeks outing at Newport. Mr. Nolan says he thoroughly enjoyed every minute of his stay at the beach and his healthy, tanned, appearance fully bears out his assertion. During thirty years he has missed but three vacations at either Newport or Yactats. This year he had the novel experience of being shaved by a lady barber. It struck him so favorably from every point of view that he looks upon the resort down there with greater favor than ever.

Today the Drydens are moving from 8th and Jackson to 8th and Van Buren. They sold recently to Prof. E. D. Resler.

Mr. Hugh Taylor and wife, of Osburn City, Kansas, returned from Newport Monday evening and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Musgrave.

Mrs. Minnie Lee and niece, Miss Ivy Ellison, arrived home today from a month's stay at Victoria, B. C. They had a pleasant trip but find Corvallis worth while.

C. R. Evans, water bailiff from Waldport, was in Corvallis today. He came to get legal advice in regard to an entanglement in which the Yachats telephone company and the subscribers are in difficulty.

Mrs. C. E. Merritt is in charge of Mrs. Wetherla's millinery store while Mrs. Wetherla is out on a vacation. Mrs. Merritt made no mistake in securing Mrs. Merritt as she has had many years experience in the millinery business in the East.

A. L. Stevenson took six people to Cascadia Sunday, spent a few hours fishing and returned to Lebanon that night. They could have made it home but had a puncture. This is a 52 mile trip, but the autos can and do make it in good shape.

Mrs. Charles Waddell and son Oliver will arrive in Corvallis within a week from Nebraska and will make this city their home. They say they are tired of wind and hail and are coming where these destructive elements are conspicuous by their absence.

LOST—between Sulphur Springs and Corvallis, one sheet iron flue for Perfection oil stove; size about 11x5 inches, blue color with mica door; return to W. H. Currin, 516 Fourth St., and receive reward.

A team belonging to Andrew Stegerwald ran out Jefferson street this morning and it looked like some serious damage was going to be done, but the nineteen-year-old driver brought the animals down. The team started from the Huston establishment where a great lot of machinery had just been piled in to the wagon.

Rev. D. H. Leech and daughters are back at the parsonage from a trip to the mountains and coast. Mrs. Leech and the boys are still at the seashore, where they will remain for another week. While up in the McKinzie bridge country the genial pastor and his son had the good luck to bring down six deer, the hunting around there being exceptionally good this year.

F. N. Hodge and family from Lebanon, Mo., and E. A. Cone and family spent a few days at Newport last week. There will be a reunion of the Hodge family this week at the home of Mr. Cone in this city, the following being in attendance: F. N. Hodge and family, Lebanon, Mo.; James Hodge and family, Oklahoma; Clinton Hodge and family, Shelton, Wash.; Chas. Hodge and family, Benton county, Ore.; Chas. Skinner and family, McMinnville; J. E. Winegar and family, Monmouth; Chas. Craven and family, Corvallis; S. S. Ewing and family, Philomath. Some of these have not met for 20 years.

The Palace put on an entire change of bill last night and played to packed houses. The vaudeville part of the program was well taken care of by the Hoyts in magic, dancing and globe rolling. Mr. Hoyt as a magician is one of the smoothest seen here in a long time. His tricks are well performed, especially the coin and card trick. He has a happy faculty of getting his audiences in good nature by his witty remarks and together with his talk and tricks gives a first-class entertainment. "Esanita," gives a very pretty dance with colored light effect and ended her performance with her globe rolling. These people are top-notchers and their performances are worth the price of admission. "Ben's Kid," the first film shown, is a western story and is one of the best. The chase of the husband after his wife is thrilling and the scene in the bunkhouse of the cowboys is as funny as anyone could imagine. "The Cry from the Well" is a foreign story, and while well acted and staged, is not up to the first one. The bill will be repeated tonight and crowded houses are sure.

seems impossible to you and your optimism is contagious."

Pres. Storms, of Iowa A. C., the greatest school of its kind in the U. S., found among the Corvallis people many from his state. He is almost seven feet of brawn and brain and as genial as a candidate for Congress. He thought Oregon might compare with Iowa some day, and admitted that we have a fair start. He was willing to concede that the Willamette has wonderful possibilities and he jollied things along like a good fellow.

HARRY THAW'S CHRONOLOGY.

What Fight For Liberty of Stanford White's Slayer Has Cost.

Some of the chief events in the career of Harry Kendall Thaw, who killed Stanford White, the New York architect, are given below in a chronological form. Thaw must return to Matteawan Asylum For the Criminal Insane, as Justice Isaac N. Mills of the supreme court, Westchester county, N. Y., recently handed down a decision in which he declares that the slayer of Stanford White is still insane.

Thaw's chronology: Born 1871, son of William Thaw of Pittsburg; forced out of Harvard in 1891 for high stakes at poker. Spent from 1891 to 1901 touring Europe.

Met Evelyn Nesbit in 1901, when she was a chorus girl.

Entertained chorus girls lavishly from 1901 to 1906, spending as much as $50,000 on a single dinner, it was reported.

Married Evelyn Nesbit in 1905 against his mother's wishes. His father had died meanwhile, practically disinheriting him, but his mother so arranged things that Harry got an equal share with the rest in the form of a trust fund income of $60,000 a year.

Started an active campaign against Stanford White in 1905, spending thousands of dollars on detectives, etc.

Killed Stanford White on the Madison Square roof on June 25, 1906, at the opening of "Mamselle Champagne," in full view of hundreds.

Tried for murder from February to April, 1907, the jury disagreeing, at a cost in counsel and incidentals estimated at more than $200,000.

Tried again for murder in January, 1908, the jury acquitting him on the ground of insanity; estimated cost of counsel, etc., $150,000.

Committed to Matteawan State Hospital For the Criminal Insane on Feb. 1, 1908, by Justice Dowling.

Commitment confirmed by Justice Morschauser at Poughkeepsie in October, 1908; estimated cost of that proceeding, $65,000.

Commitment confirmed again by Justice Mills recently, after a month's hearing, in which 127 witnesses were examined or their testimony read; estimated cost of this last proceeding, $50,000.

Incidental expenses of Thaw's confinement, luxuries while in the Tombs, and so on, about $15,000.

Money alleged to have been paid out by Clifford W. Hartridge, as counsel for Thaw, to keep some people quiet, $125,000.

Expenses of Thaw's mother in proceedings, estimated, $150,000.

Evelyn Nesbit's cost, estimated, since the murder, $30,000.

Incidentals in the way of detectives, etc., $15,000.

Grand total since Thaw killed Stanford White, approximately, $800,000.

VAN SANT'S DILEMMA.

Amusing Incident in Career of the New G. A. R. Commander in Chief.

When former Governor Samuel R. Van Sant, who was recently elected commander in chief of the G. A. R., went to New York a few years ago a former resident of Minnesota called upon the governor shortly after his arrival and was shown to his room in his hotel. He found the governor sitting in a chair surveying with a gloomy countenance a trunk which stood against the wall.

"What is the matter, governor?" asked the caller.

"I want to get a suit of clothes out of that trunk," was the answer.

"Well, what's the difficulty—lost the key?"

"No; I have the key all right," said the governor, heaving a sigh. "I'll tell you how it is. My wife packed that trunk. She expected to come with me, but was prevented at the last moment. To my certain knowledge she put in enough to fill three trunks the way a man would pack them. If I open it the things will boil all over the room, and I could never get half of them back. Now, what I'm wondering about is whether it would be cheaper to go out and buy a new suit of clothes or two additional trunks."

HOOF'S INSTEAD OF FEET.

Boston Medical Experts Predict Them For Humanity In a Thousand Years.

Medical experts of Boston predict that civilized man will have hoofs instead of feet in a thousand years. No less personages than Dr. David D. Scannell, surgeon and ex-Harvard athlete; Lewis F. Small, an orthopedist, and Dr. L. R. G. Cranston and Dr. E. H. Bradford, both of the Harvard medical school, see this probability.

Dr. Cranston says the human foot has become a hind foot or hoof in use if not in actual form. Dr. Small says the civilized races are slowly reverting to hoofs and that we must go to the Japanese to learn how to walk. Foot troubles are unknown among them.

Honeymoon In a Balloon.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Postleman of St. Louis, who were married the other night, afterward talked with their friends about honeymoons and were asked why they didn't take a tour in an automobile. Then Postleman announced his intention of making a wedding tour in a balloon. The guests did not believe the bride would agree, but when questioned she answered, "So long as I can be by George I'll go anywhere." Plans are now being made for the ascension.

Union Pacific Improvements.

The Union Pacific railroad is improving the appearance of its right of way by planting alfalfa along the tracks. The monotony is broken by a row of trees, elms and pines alternating.
