One of the Taylor Bros., of Medford, is in the city looking after speculative opportunities. He came as a prospective buyer of the big prune orchard north of this city, but found the crop sold and this changed plans. It is said that Mr. Taylor's apple crop at Medford last year averaged $1000 per acre. He was here last fall and negotiated for orchard land south of this city, but failed to take it. Since that time the land has been cut into five acre tracts and can not be bought at treble the price of last year.

For Sale—A bird dog and gun. Telephone 204, 9-2-5t

Work on O. A. C.'s new athletic field will begin next Monday, B. S. Taylor having a contract to finish it by September 15. He will level a space 275x450 feet and cover 180x350 feet with sawdust. After the beginning of school a special holiday will be given and the students will build a high board fence entirely around the new place. The new field will be located north and west of Waldo Hall, next to the C. & E. railroad, a portion of it on the ground just acquired from M. S. Woodcock. It is believed the new field will be superior to the old.

Miss Florence Bowden, who was elected a teacher in the public schools at a special meeting of the board on Thursday, brings an excellent record for preparation and experience. She graduated from the regular course of the Oregon State Normal School in 1906, afterwards completing an advanced course in the same institution. She was a member of the Independence public school corps for two years, meeting with the greatest success. Last year she was a critic teacher in the State Normal at Monmouth and has just resigned her position in the Monmouth public school, where she was to receive $65 per month, in order to accept the Corvallis place. Miss Bowden is also highly proficient in music and drawing.

The condemnation proceedings inaugurated by the O. A. C. Board of Regents against M. S. Woodcock, for the purpose of securing land south of Waldo Hall, have been called off. Rather than be placed in the position of apparently fighting the college, an institution he says he has favored heretofore in every way possible, Mr. Woodcock decided to take several thousand dollars less for his property than he considers it worth,—hence the cessation of legal activities. While the papers have not yet been signed by all parties, the G.-T. understands from Mr. Woodcock and the college people that the matter is definitely settled. The property alluded to comprises about forty lots south of Waldo Hall which Mr. Woodcock valued at about $17,500.

W. R. Boone, of the O. A. C. School of Music, went to Portland today to play at the First Congregational church tomorrow. Mr. Boone played at the Centenary Methodist church last year and made such a reputation that he was offered twice the salary at the other church, and accepted. He will have charge of the choir work and handle the fine organ at the First Congregational.

Gilbert, the Freshman who made such a favorable impression in O. A. C. football circles last year, is already in the city, and Director Angell names him as one of the likely candidates for the first team this year. Gilbert played at quarter last year and in the Freshy game made two goals from the field, a rather remarkable performance for a beginner. He went to Chemawa with the second team and injured his foot there, but has recovered from this and has broadened out in a magnificent way. He may make good as a candidate for quarter on the first team.

In the new Armory, O. A. C. students will have the greatest indoor college athletic track in the United States. The new Armory covers more ground than any athletic building or drill hall at any of the big eastern colleges. It will be possible to provide therein a race track requiring but six laps to the mile. Director Angell proposes to take advantage of this by arranging a college relay tournament, and a college circus, about the middle of the year. For the tournament he will invite the speedy men from all colleges of the West and expects to have some great doings. The college circus will prove an innovation and a hummer.
