Married about forty or fifty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hall were given their "charivari" last night, the Corvallis Marine band playing several tunes on the front porch of the Hall home. It developed, however, that the musicians intended to serenade Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Adams, just married at the Hall home, but that couple had fled to their own bower on North Eleventh street. The joke was on the band, but Mr. and Mrs. Hall got their "shivaree," and enjoyed the joke as much as the music.

There will be a county exhibit for counties outside of Linn for which a premium of $100 and $50 cash will be given for first and $50 cash for second. It shall consist of not less than 20 boxes of five or more varieties. Beside this grand prize there are several smaller ones and of sufficient size to bring out an attractive exhibit. No better way to build up the apple industry than to make the best exhibit possible at these apple shows.

The noon C. & E. passenger train pulled out of the station yesterday while Oliver Berchtold was still engaged in loading expressage, and a sad mix-up resulted. A truck was dismantled and all but pulled under the train, and the steps of one of the coaches were dislocated. Expressage was strewn over the station platform and as watermelons were there the havoc was terrible. At least it seemed so to those who have hungered for melon and denied themselves because of the prohibitive cost. This accident resulted from a misunderstanding, another workman signaling that all was clear. It is said that the accident might have resulted seriously for young Berchtold, who was on the truck at the time the train pulled out.

"The perennial disagreement between the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College starts early this year and as usual begins with the football game. Prof. Angell, who manages the athletics of O. A. C., announced a schedule yesterday, dating the game with Oregon at Portland November 19. The college games usually alternate between campuses and the college whose turn it is to have it at home considers it its game. Last year was O. A. C.'s turn and it held the game in Portland by a special arrangement, but Oregon announced immediately afterward that it wouldn't play here in 1909 and although the university does not open until next week, the Portland students are railing at O. A. C. for trying to say where their game should be played."—Portland Telegram.

The Mary's River Sanitarium is now ready for patients. It's not well to get sick just to patronize the sanitarium but if one does fall ill it is not infrequently much better for the patient, to go to a sanitarium when perfect treatment under ideal conditions may be had.

State Senator Cameron, of Washington, was down in the Willamette Valley recently looking for sheep to replenish his flocks on his home ranch. Edgewood Farm was one of the places visited. But from the way G. G. Belts has been disposing of stock we doubt if he succeeded in securing many there. Buyers were down in Corvallis district and took away a flock from the Five Oaks farm. Jno. Wyatt also reports sales from his farm recently, all of which indicates an unusual activity among the sheep men. The quality of the Willamette sheep is being more appreciated every day.—Oregon Agriculturist.

A press dispatch from Medford says: Two experts from the Oregon Agricultural College, Professors Cole and Brown, are in the city this week giving instruction to classes of young men on properly packing apples for shipment. The instruction is free to students, leading orchardists of the Rogue River Valley paying the expense. A large number of young men who expect to have employment in packing apples during the picking season are taking instruction in the art of packing apples. The fruit was supplied by orchardists. This is the second time such instruction has been given here, and it is appreciated by the fruitgrowers.

How seldom people think to bestow praise upon those with whom they are in daily contact. Your employes, your associates, your children and your wife would find their loads lightened by a word of commendation now and then.

Decollete gowns are being worn just a trifle lower than formerly—the sheath gown will be slit just a wee bit more—and now comes the seatless and "nuthin', nuthin'" gowns. We men will soon have to turn Christian Scientists and just imagine we don't see anything.
