BIG MINISTERS HERE TOMORROW

CITY CHURCH GOERS HAVE GREAT CHANCE OFFERED.

FANNING COUNTED A WONDER

Temperance Orator Said to Be an Able Talker—Pennsylvania Man at Baptist Church, and an Albany Man at Presbyterian Church.

Three able men from other sections will make tomorrow's church services of more than passing interest. M. J. Fanning, noted temperance orator, will speak at the Evangelical church in the morning and Congregational church at 3:30; Rev. Gesselbracht, of Albany, will preach at the Presbyterian church in the morning, and Rev. S. G. Reading, of Williamsport, Pa., will sermonize at the Baptist church in the morning. It is seldom that Corvallis has the opportunity to hear so many visiting speakers on the same day and the difficulty will be to determine which one to hear. The services are as follows:

UNITED EVANGELICAL

Evangelical Church, corner of Ninth and Harrison streets. Next Sunday at 11 a. m., Rev. M. J. Fanning, the noted Prohibition National field lecturer, will preach. He is a keen speaker and thinker. At 7:30 p. m., the pastor will fill the pulpit. Sunday School at 10 a. m., Wm. Schriber, Superintendent; K. L. C. E. at 6:30 p. m., R. O. Caves, president. All are invited to these services, and especially students and their friends.

BAPTIST

Rev. S. G. Reading, of Williamsport, Pa., will preach at Baptist Church Sunday morning at 11 a. m., evening service at 6:30 p. m. instead of 7:30, as Bro. Reading will speak to the young people at the Presbyterian church at 7:30; Sunday School at 10 a. m. Special invitation to all to hear the eastern man.

PRESBYTERIAN

Preaching at the Presbyterian church tomorrow morning by Dr. Gesselbracht, of the First church, Albany, Oregon. The doctor is a very excellent speaker. The young people will hold their rally service in the evening at 7:30. This will be a very interesting service. All made welcome to all of these services. Rev. S. J. Reading, of Williamsport, Pa., will speak to the congregation in the evening. Both old and young should hear Mr. Reading, as he is a speaker that will be worth your while to hear.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

We will hold our first services this Lord's Day in the auditorium of the church since the improvements began in June. Bible School at 10 a. m.; preaching and communion 11 a. m. Subject of sermon, "A Generation of Bible Students." C. E. at 6:30 p. m.; preaching at 7:30 p. m., subject, the first of a series of three on the subject "It Is Finished" or "The Final Word From Heaven." Everybody cordially invited to attend these services. H. H. Hubbell, pastor.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL

A lecture on "A Noble Hero: Father Damien, the Leper-Priest of Molokai," 7:30 p. m., tomorrow, Sept. 26, in the First Congregational Church, corner of Third and Jefferson streets, by the minister, Evan P. Hughes. In his lecture the speaker draws upon his experience as a traveler in the South Sea Islands while depicting the famous leper-colony. 11 a. m., Morning Worship, theme, "At Their Wits' End." 10 a. m., School for Bible study, superintended by Prof. A. B. Cordley; 6:30 p. m., the Devotional Hour of the C. E. This church extends a most cordial invitation to all to attend its services and especially assures students of a hearty welcome at all times.

PUPILS SHOULD REPORT MONDAY

All pupils of the public schools, whether for the high school or grades lower, will report at the central building next Monday, Sept. 27th at 9 o'clock. They need bring no books. Registration, classification, and assignment of books will be made. Also announcements will be made concerning the further school work. It will be very helpful in systematizing the work to have a full enrollment next Monday.

HALLEY'S COMET DUE IN MAY

Astronomer Heber D. Curtis of the Lick Observatory has photographed Halley's comet with the Crossley reflecting telescope. In publishing this fact Director W. W. Campbell states that it is a very faint object of the fifteenth or sixteenth magnitude, and is therefore visible only with the largest instruments. Prof. Campbell expects that it will grow brighter very rapidly.

Halley's comet visits the region of the earth in its recurrent journey around the sun at long intervals of seventy-five to seventy-seven years. It is now coming toward the earth's orbit at the rate of about 4,000,000 miles per day. It will be in its most visible glory to mundane inhabitants in the early spring of 1910 and will approach within 50,000,000 miles of the sun, then receding for thirty-eight years until it is far beyond Neptune's path.

At its nearest approach to the earth, which will be in next May, Halley's comet will pass within 20,000,000 miles of us and will present a most wonderful sight, which can but attract the admiration, if not the fear, of the lowliest of human creatures. The infrequency of its visit will make it an object of especial interest, both to astronomers and laymen.

This comet became known as Halley's through the fact that Halley, upon the discovery of the law of gravitation by Sir Isaac Newton, promulgated the theory that comets possess fixed orbits, like the planets, and he proved his view by figuring the exact orbit of the comet which bears his name correctly predicting its return, his later calculations placing the orbits of twenty comets to his credit.

Prof. Campbell states that in the present visitation it is expected that dry-plate photography and the spectroscope will add materially to astronomical knowledge.

COMING SHOW A GOOD ONE

PRESS PRAISES "THE TIME, THE PLACE AND THE GIRL."

GOOD SINGING, GOOD COMEDY

Criticism as Kindly and Enthusiastic as is Usually Found in City Press—Some of the Principals are Held Up as Stars of the First Magnitude.

It is interesting to note comments of the Portland press on "The Time, The Place and the Girl." The Telegram says:

"Although this attraction has played Portland on former occasions, there was a good attendance, and the pleasure-seeking audience found pleasure in it. As a rule, when a musical show is sent on the road the third or fourth season it travels on its reputation and the cast runs to seed. This does not hold with the present visit of "The Time, The Place and the Girl," for the manager has kept up the average of equality among the principals pretty well.

"Robert G. Pitkin, who has quite a following in Portland through engagements here in the past, has the leading comedy role, that of Johnny Hicks, the gambler with an unlimited coinage of slang. Pitkin handles his character and his breezy argot in a manner to keep his audience constantly amused and almost constantly laughing. May

BOOSTER GIRLS' GLORIOUS TRIP

TWELVE YOUNG LADIES TO BE GUESTS OF OREGON PAPERS.

TWO WEEKS IN CALIFORNIA

Girls Will See Sights in San Francisco, Be Housed at Hotel Del Monte, Stop at Various Coast Resorts and "Do" Los Angeles for One Week.

Twelve Oregon Booster Girls, two of whom will be from Benton county, will be given a two weeks trip through California during the Christmas vacation, with all expenses paid. Yesterday's Gazette-Times told of the wonderful sights at San Francisco, the Hotel Del Monte and something of Los Angeles.

Semi-Spanish Monterey.

The next step in the itinerary of this grand tour will take the party to the inexpressible allurements of historic old Monterey, spreading sleepily from the drowsy Mission to the Custom House above the fishing nets and boats along the beach. This was California's first capital—the first brick and wood buildings of California were here, the first post office and the first theatre.

Where Romance Still Remains.

Romance and history stand hand in hand in the walled gardens and around the adobe house-corners of this fascinating old town. The bells of the Mission ring on Sunday mornings, their voices fraught with a wistful call to all that bright-hued, dark-eyed life that made poetry here in the days before the gringo came. A great rosebush climbs over a quaint old doorway where a famous United States soldier is said to have looked deep into just such dark eyes and promised that the rose's next blooming would see him back again. The great bush buds there year by year, but the dark eyes grew dim with watching, and today young eyes eyes grow soft at sight of the blossoms. Next door to the rosebush is a busy American bank and high above the old Custom House is a Presidio, stoked with young American soldiers who have the Philippines ahead or behind them. With his back toward the Presidio and his face turned toward the deep blue water, as though watching for others as intrepid as himself, stands Tadre Junipero Serra, in stone, not far from where he landed during that wonderful journey when he planted the Franciscan missions along California coast. Below him, entrenched upon the rocks his brave but lowly feet once passed, stands the palace of a modern millionaire, luxurious in all the devices of modernity, yet clinging for artistic effect, to the lines of the Padre's buildings. And below these rocks is a more wonderful life than either—the hidden mysterious business of the bottom of the bay. Just as airships may yet make bird-eye views of the earth's life a thing of every day, so the glass-bottomed boats have disclosed the manners of the infinitely varied sea life in Monterey Bay. Nowhere in the world is there water so rich in these interest-forms, and students from all

STATE PAPERS COMMEND O. A. C.

ALL AGREE THAT STUDENTS' LICENSE SHOULD BE CURTAILED.

STATESMAN WRITES EDITORIAL

Salem Paper Praises Faculty for Making Rule Against Students' Use of Tobacco and Liquor, and Then Offers Caustic Criticism of Vile Habits.

At a recent meeting of the O. A. C. faculty it was determined that students should not smoke while on college grounds, or use liquor while attending school. The press of the state commends the decision very heartily. An editorial in today's Salem Statesman is an excellent sample of many in the papers of the state. The Salem publication says:

"The faculty of the Oregon Agricultural College, at Corvallis, has decreed that hereafter all male students in attendance at that institution must not use tobacco in any form on the college grounds.

"This action will undoubtedly be welcomed by a large number of parents whose sons have been placed in care of these instructors, and all other citizens should be rejoiced that the faculty has the stamina to make such a rule, which it is hoped will be enforced to the very letter; and whenever a student
