Chief Ries, of Albany, was defeated yesterday for re-election. His opponent, I. A. Munkers, received a majority of 45 votes. This is a sort of forerunner to what is going to happen to Chief Wells of this city if he doesn't get over being so perniciously active in enforcing the ordinances of this city.

A Linn county deputy game warden has been emulating Richard Brumfield, of Benton county. Yesterday he took to Albany one George Keeney, charged with killing a buck out of season and a doe. One charge was withdrawn and Keeney pleaded guilty to the other. He was assessed $50 and costs. That's rather dear meat all right, all right.

The annual bazaar of the Congregational church will be held Friday and Saturday of this week in the old Star Restaurant. Saturday evening a delicious oyster supper will be served at 25 cents. Polk County Observer—"Robert Johnson, prune king of Benton county, retired newspaper man, and all-around jovial gentleman, is down from Corvallis attending the trial of the damage case of Bailey vs. Benton county. Mr. Johnson has a wide acquaintance in Oregon and is kept busy greeting old-time friends during his stay in the city."

Philomath will have a number of inter-collegiate games of basketball this season. In yesterday's election at Albany, Mayor Wallace, a progressive who has served two terms, was re-elected. By a majority of 286 it was decided to erect a city hall at a cost of not more than $40,000. On the question of prohibiting the sale of near beer, the voters gave a majority of 205 in favor of prohibition. Despite the bad weather 724 votes were cast.

Mrs. John Smith entertained last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith, in honor of Dr. Ainslie, of Portland. After a season of "500" the evening was devoted to music. Dr. Ainslie, who is tenor at Dr. Dyott's Portland church, sang several songs very effectively. Genevieve Baum-Gaskins, W. F. Gaskins and W. R. Boone contributed their best. Delicious refreshments were served. The occasion was greatly enjoyed by the few fortunate enough to have been present.

Wilford McDaniel, a young man who once "stuck type" for the writer when in the intermountain region, was in the city yesterday and today with the crew of surveyors staking out the ground for the fine new stone depot the S. P. is getting ready to erect here. Young McDaniel left the employ of the Logan, Utah, Republican three or four years ago and associated himself with the Harriman system, and since that time his rise has been rapid. It is our prediction that the young man will be at the head of the system in less than a half score of years, but it is doubtful whether he will ever really make more money or enjoy himself better than when with the Logan Republican Typesetters, or compositors, are probably better paid than any other class of workers on the globe—considering what they know and their disposition to work. Most of them who stick with it becomes millionaires by the time they are thirty and bloated bondholders with a cross-tie ticket to the poor house by the time they are forty. This is more than most of them deserve.

McDaniel set a few lines at this morning and helped material getting out this issue of "the daily in Corvallis." He still retains old "last motion" but can set type than any of 'em. In pure Willamette Valley water, here's to Farmers in the vicinity of Philadelphia, Pa., do not readily swallow Gazette-Times stories about the big squashes now in the Watters and Lewis windows, the eight and ten inch and four and five pound potatoes on exhibition there and at Stevensons, nor of the very fine apples, peaches and pears raised here. When told of the productivity of the soil here they just smile and wink the other eye and tell Harry Springer that all such talk is buncombe, made of gentle western zephyrs that have found their way into cold type. Mr. Springer would like to have those squashes shipped back to him, but considering the fact that they would take a freight car he has passed these up and asks his brother, Charles L. Springer, of this paper, to send him two or three of those ten inch potatoes. He says he would rather have the potatoes asked for than any Christmas present that could be sent, for he is determined to convince the doubting Thomases about him. Mr. Harry Springer, while a Philadelphian, has a farm over in New Jersey and takes some pleasure in disturbing the equilibrium of the bewhiskered gentlemen about him. He was here on a visit last summer and saw evidence sufficient to convince him that any sort of story about phenomenal growths in these western valleys may be reasonably accepted. The potatoes will go to him all right.

Coach Forbes will not coach the University team next year. The U. wanted Forbes 'tis said, but he wants to quit. Oregon is trying to land Howard Jones, present coach, at Yale. No coach has been secured for O. A. C.

The time has again come to feed the birds. It is not often that it becomes necessary to feed the little wild songsters, but now their natural food is under a mantle of snow, and unless crumbs and scraps from the table are thrown out for them they will all suffer, and if the snow continues for a week thousands of them will die. Feed the birds yourself and tell your neighbors to do the same. No better opportunity will ever come to teach your children to be kind to animals than now. Encourage the little folks to feed the birds.
