The City and Vicinity

F. L. Price went out to his ranch on the Luckiamute Saturday to spend a few days.

Dr. Mentor Howard, who has been ill for several days, is now able to be at his office again.

The beautiful nights and sunny days, after the season of rain and snow, is greatly enjoyed. Not that the continuous rain and the snow were bad, but that they were unexpected.

Frank Boulden and wife left Friday morning for Portland for a few days' visit with Mr. Boulden's sister, Mrs. B. D. Arnold, after which they will proceed on their way to Afton, Wyoming, where they will work on a sheep ranch. Mr. Boulden has a brother living there.

Ferguson Chapter No. 5, Royal Arch Masons, held a very interesting communication here yesterday, the R. A. degree being conferred upon A. K. Russ, Peter Rickard, and a Mr. Anderson, from Toledo. The work lasted from four to eight o'clock and was concluded with a big banquet to which all did full justice. D. P. Mason and B. H. Marshall, of Albany, were over and took a prominent part in the work.

At the regular meeting of Modern Woodmen on Saturday evening, Dec. 11, the degrees were conferred upon one candidate. State Deputy Simmons, of Portland, made a short talk on the good of the order, after which they elected officers for 1910 as follows: Consul, M. S. Bovee; Advisor, M. Thompson; Banker, T. L. Davis; Clerk, J. E. Fowells; Escort, H. M. Vance; Watchman, Woodruff; Sentry, John Day; Manager, 3 years, Peter Bilyeu; Camp Physicians, Drs. Morris and Farra.

A marriage license was issued today at the County Clerk's office for Troy H. Hulbert and Miss Hattie Bullis, two of the best known young people of Orleans precinct. They will be married Wednesday in Corvallis at the home of Miss Bullis' grandparents. Mr. Hulbert is a native of Linn county, being the son of Frank Hulbert, a prominent resident of the western part of the county, and a member of one of the leading pioneer families of Orleans precinct. Miss Bullis is a daughter of S. A. Bullis, who resides near Tangent.—Albany Democrat.

E. W. Wyatt, in jail on a sentence for bootlegging, paid $31 today and Sheriff Gellatly turned him loose. Wyatt immediately hiked for a distant clime.

O'Connell, wrestling master at the Multnomah club who is training O. A. C. teams, bested Strangler Smith again Monday night. It took him more than two hours to get the required two falls.

R. H. Huston, the hardware man, has installed a National cash register that will do everything but talk. It registers the sale, the time of sale, who made it, adds up the accounts and sales, and presents a card asking you to call again. It does countless other things, too numerous to mention. Bob thinks he has hit on a great Christmas present for himself.

Miss Pauline Kline entertained the nameless 500 Club Saturday evening and was successful in keeping the guests so late that most of them failed to get to church the following morning—all of which was very bad, of course. But the guests had such a jolly good time, and such generous helping of good things to eat that they could not readily leave these bodily thrills for soul thrills on the morrow. At 500, three tied for first place—Mrs. McAlexander, Mrs. W. F. Gaskins and C. V. Johnson, the former being successful in a draw. Stephen A. Carver had such bad partners that he got only as far as the first rung of the ladder and was awarded the consolation offering. Before the fun ended, one of the Gaskins was elected president and the club was given the name "Igo Ugo Club." This stands good until the next meeting, at the Gaskins home New Year's eve. Miss Kline is elaborate and generous in her hospitality and there are few who find objection to this. Saturday evening she was ably assisted in serving by Miss Bessie Thorpe.

McKenzie's Fun Makers opened their engagement last night at the Palace theatre to a packed house. The four-act drama, "The Senator's Daughter," was presented, in which all the characters were well sustained and, considering the size of the stage, was as well put on and gave as much satisfaction as many a play that has appeared at the opera house. Robert McKenzie, as the insipid Lord Harry Bresford, had the make-up and English draw necessary to make a success of the part. Miss Eva Hazlett, as June, "strictly up-to-date," made a hit. Miss Gwynne Sterling as Leucia, the Senator's daughter, had the heavy female role, and while weak in some parts, as a whole gave a good interpretation of the persecuted woman. The female comedy part, Amelia Higgins, was taken by Miss Irene Palmer, who captured her audience at the start with make-up and funny lines. The work of Richard Lonsdale, as Senator Clay from Kentucky, and Frank Howe, as Colonel Stetson, was good, and Chas. Dale, as the Marquise de la Rochette, was exceptionally good. The company will repeat this play tonight, and tomorrow night will present "The Man From Mexico." If the company continues to give the class of plays it opened with last night, the success of the engagement is assured. Four first-class moving pictures were shown, the best of which was "The Best Man Wins." This is the story of a race for a bride by a bunch of cowboys and is exciting from start to finish. "Lines of White on a Sullen Sea" is a pathetic film and seemed to suit the female portion of the audience. The other two films are clear and very entertaining.

The Daily Gazette-Times, 50c month. Presbyterian chicken dinner 11:30 to 2 p. m. tomorrow for thirty-five cents and you can eat all that time if you desire.

Tonight at Shepard Hall the Benton county alumni of O. A. C. will cut up high jinks. There are about 150 Benton county graduates and a great many of these will be present. There will be games, music, speeches and refreshments and any other meanness that can be thought of.

The G.-T. promised a legal opinion on the advantage and disadvantage to the city of Corvallis in annexing O. A. C. grounds. That opinion is at hand but of such length that it is impossible to present it in this issue. It will furnish interesting reading tomorrow, and will be particularly interesting because it is conclusive and incontrovertible.

The steamer Pomona, when at a point near Independence Monday morning, blew out two cylinder heads and cracked her shaft. This put her out of commission. The Oregon stuck a snag at Coffey chute the Wednesday before and was disabled. The steamer Mascot will now ply between Corvallis and Portland until one of the disabled boats is repaired.

Tony Hanson, the Monroe man reported lost about flood time, is at San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Hanson received a card from him last week that was written about the time of his departure from Corvallis, but in some way it had not been delivered to her. Mrs. Hanson is now preparing to go to her husband, whom she says did not leave because of debt. It appears that he had long desired to move to southern California but could not gain Mrs. Hanson's consent because all her people are near Monroe. The husband decided to go and from there try to induce his wife to follow him. The plan has worked, for Mrs. Hanson will go. Had his card not been delayed somewhere, Mrs. Hanson would have known with two or three days where her liege lord had gone.
