The City and Vicinity

J. R. N. Bell is at Eugene today delivering a lecture on Shakespeare to the University students.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Murphey were called to Eugene Monday evening by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his mother.

A basket social will be given at the Bellfountain Grange hall Dec. 31st under auspices of the Philathea Sunday School class. After the program the baskets will be sold and then games will be played until the New Year arrives. Proceeds to go towards a buying a new church organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira D. Wines, of Salt Lake City, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dryden during the week, leave for home tomorrow. Mr. Wines is a prominent capitalist of Nevada and Utah. Mrs. Wines is a sister of Mrs. Dryden and came to visit the latter on account of illness.

A piece of writing picked up on Main street says: "A young man in Bellfountain recently advertised in the local papers for 'a woman to wash iron and milk two cows.' I'll marry her." It is our impression that we would not want to marry any girl able to wash and iron even one cow.

The Red Cross stamp sale is assuming considerable proportions here. C. A. Gerhard sold $20 worth to W. A. Wells, and Graham & Wells say there has been a steady demand in considerable quantities. The stamps are "pretty little jiggers" and representing what they do they look especially attractive to those who delight in doing good.

The Democrat says Albany should have a $15,000 Carnegie library. Corvallis should have a $25,000 Carnegie library. Not that Corvallis people in their reading are that far behind Albany, but for the reason that we have here a great many more young people who should be reading. The college brings us 1000 young men and women that Albany has not. A city that will not provide a good library will not do much of anything worth while. But if Corvallis will do some of the other things now contemplated we can well wait a time for the library.

Campbell, the man who sold Corvallis a $100 page in a special Christian Endeavor number of some northwest religious publication, which carried with it an agreement to insert a quarter page in eastern associate papers having 1,000,000 circulation, is trying to get Albany to make a contract. From the result obtained from the expenditure of that $100, Corvallis might better have thrown the coin in the Willamette at flood time. Campbell presented the most glowing proposition imaginable, but there is no evidence that his 1,035,000 readers saw the page advertisement from Corvallis, clearly the most attractive ad in the papers sent here.

Luther Burbank has not been able to grow "potatoes on peach trees" and he has not yet produced the "tasteless gooseberry." Prof. Adrian, who lectured at Albany recently, has written the Gazette-Times the above statements. Neither has Mr. Burbank produced the pruneless prune, a fruit much desired by boarding houses. His most wonderful, if not his greatest, achievement is his production of the blackless blackberry; they are now white on the Burbank farm. Prof. Adrian says the great horticulturist "has crossed the apple and blackberry," and it is presumed that he gets a cobbler out of this. "He has also crossed the strawberry and blackberry," and this has produced a headache. The G.-T. is an intense admirer of Mr. Burbank.

He has done very wonderful things of great benefit to mankind. His spineless cactus—the transformation of the useless product of the plains into succulent food—is of incalculable value. His production of three new species of fruit, the "Plumcot," "Primus Berry" and "Phenomenal Berry" entitled him to highest recognition. But, most of all, his genius entitles him to freedom from such fool friends as Prof. Adrian who write protests at jesting reference to some of the wonderful and peculiar results Mr. Burbank has obtained.

The local tent of the K. O. T. M. is making extensive preparations for the social entertainment to be held next Wednesday evening.

At the regular communication of Corvallis Lodge No. 14, A. F. and A. M. to be held tonight, the annual election of officers will take place and there will also be work in the E. A. degree. All members are urged to be present promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

The Presbyterian chicken dinner was patronized by a very large number of people, and much candy was sold, also. The Bazaar articles are finding a ready sale. The ladies are offering supper tonight from 5:30 to 7:00. This is your last chance to get a good meal and at the same time to help out a good cause.

Hen. B. F. Mulkey, formerly president of the Ashland Normal and a member of the last state legislature, now a prominent attorney of Jacksonville, will give an impersonation of Hamlet at O. A. C. Armory Tuesday evening, December 21, at eight o'clock. There will be good music furnished during this entertainment and all the townspeople are invited to be present. Mr. Mulkey has given his impersonation of the Melancholy Dane 31 times in this state and is said to be perfect in the character. The usual weekly convocation will be held Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday as the holidays will begin Wednesday noon.

Alone in Sawmill at Midnight

Unmindful of dampness, drafts, storms or cold, W. J. Atkins worked as night watchman, at Banner Springs, Tenn. Such exposure gave him a severe cold that settled on his lungs. At last he had to give up work. He tried many remedies but all failed till he used Dr. King's New Discovery. "After using one bottle" he writes, "I went back to work as well as ever." Severe colds, stubborn coughs, inflamed throats and sore lungs, hemorrhages, croup and whooping cough get quick relief and prompt cure from this glorious medicine. 50 and $1.00. Trial bottle free, guaranteed by.

WELL KNOWN PLAY COMING

"In Wyoming," Willard Mack's stirring play of western life, will be on view at the opera house Wednesday, Dec. 22. Some one has said that the days of the western play are numbered. This may be true of the many so-called western plays, with the shooting, exaggerated characters, horse play and nonsense; but if the avidity with which "In Wyoming" has been received in each of the cities it has appeared in can be accepted as any criterion, it is safe to say the knell of the genuine, typical western play will not sound for a long time yet. In addition to the sympathetic story it details, there is a spirit of naturalness about the play which gives it an added appeal. The press in nearby cities say the supporting company give the piece a very good presentation, and bring out its beauties in telling fashion.

WILLIAM A. ST. JOHN

The subject of this notice, was born in Michigan, Nov. 14 1841, and his death occurred at his residence near Oakville, Linn Co. Ore, Dec. 4, 1909, at the age of 68 years and 21 days. His parents removed to Wisconsin, where they spent a few years, and in 1849 crossed the plains to Oregon, settling first in Marion county where several years were spent, when he removed to Tillamook county, and later to Polk, and finally to Linn county, about 1880, where he resided until his death. At the age of 21 he entered the army, serving his country faithfully for three years. In 1865, March 19, he was married to Miss Cynthia A. Goodell, who survives him. To them were born six children, two daughters and four sons, who were all present at the time of his death. Their names are: Mrs. Charlotte E. Pugh, Mrs. Ella M. Brown, Wesley S. Lincoln, Frank M. and Ira St. John.

Besides the wife and children, three sisters and one brother are left to mourn his loss.

Mr. St. John was a member of the Willamette U. P. congregation.

Very few of the pioneers of '49 are left in this community, and very few of the old army men still survive. But two men were found to plant the flags at his grave and pay the last silent tribute in honor of a departed comrade.

Mr. St. John was a quiet, peaceful, upright man and citizen, a kind and loving husband and father. A large circle of friends sympathize with the bereaved family.
