

WILSON READS MESSAGE

Great Throng Listens to President's Address.

Plans to End Trusts—Punish Men, Not Business—Declares Enforcement of Strict Amendments Possible.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20—President Wilson personally laid before a joint session of congress today the fundamental principles of the Democratic administration's program for dealing with trusts and "big business." The President presented the case, he said, "as it lies in the thought of the country," reiterating "that private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable," and declaring that conscientious business men throughout the nation would not be satisfied until practices now deprecated by public opinion were restraints of trade and commerce were corrected. The President spoke as follows:

"In my report 'On the state of the union,' which I had the privilege of reading to you on the second of December, I ventured to reserve for discussion at a later date the subject of additional legislation regarding the very difficult and intricate matter of trusts and monopolies. The time now seems opportune to turn to that great question, not only because the currency legislation which absorbed your attention and the attention of the country in December, is now disposed of, but also because opinion seems to be clearing about us with singular rapidity in this other great field of action. In the matter of the currency it cleared suddenly and very happily after the much debated act was passed; in respect of the monopolies which have multiplied about us and in regard to the various means by which they have been organized and maintained, it seems to be coming to a clear and all but universal agreement in anticipation of our action, as if by way of preparation, making the way easier to see and easier to set out on with confidence and without confusion of counsel.

"Legislation has its atmosphere like everything else and the atmosphere of accommodation and mutual understanding which we now breathe with so much refreshment is a matter of course. It is not, however, a matter of course that we have been obliged to continue to act amid the atmosphere of suspicion and antagonism which has so long made it impossible to approach such questions with dispassionate fairness. Constructive legislation, when successful, is always the embodiment of convincing experience and of the mature public opinion which finally springs out of that experience. Legislation is a business of interpretation, not of origination, and it is now plain that the opinion is in the way that we must give effect in this matter. It is not recent or hasty opinion. It springs out of the experience of a whole generation. It has clarified itself by long contest, and those who for a long time battled with it and sought to change it are now frankly and honorably yielding to it and seeking to conform their actions to it.

"The great business men who organized and financed monopoly and those who administered it in actual everyday transactions have year after year, until now, either denied its existence or justified it as necessary for the effective maintenance and development of the vast business processes of the country with modern circumstances of trade and manufacture and finance; but all the while opinion has made head against them. The average business man is convinced that the ways of liberty are also the ways of peace and the ways of success as well and at last the masters of business on the great scale have begun to yield their preference and purpose, perhaps their judgment also, in honorable surrender. "What we are proposing to do, therefore, is simply to hamper or interfere with business as enlightened business men prefer to do it, or in any sense to put it under the ban. The antagonism is over. We are now about to give expression to the best business judgment of America, to what we know to be the business conscience and honor of the law. The government and business men are ready to meet each other half way in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law. The best-informed men of the business world condemn the methods and processes and consequences of monopoly as we condemn them, and the instinctive judgment of the vast majority of business men everywhere goes with them. We shall now be their spokesman. That is the strength of our position and the sure prophecy of what will ensue when our reasonable work is done.

"When a serious contest ends, when men unite in opinion and purpose, those who are to change their ways of business joining with those who ask for the change, it is possible to effect it in the way then which prudent and thoughtful and patriotic men would wish to see it brought about, with as few, as slight, as easy and simple business readjustments as possible in the circumstances, nothing essential disturbed, nothing torn up by the roots, no parts rent asunder, which can be left in wholesome combination. Fortunately no measures of sweeping or novel change are necessary. It will be under-

Phone Girls Save Lives.
Cumberland, Md.—That the breaking of the huge dam at Dobbin, W. Va., which sent a wall of water down the Potomac River valley, resulted in no loss of life and comparatively small property loss was attributed to the signal brigade of telephone girls organized by the residents of the river towns. Telegraph and telephone linesmen succeeded in restoring communication along the valley and all residents in the lowlands returned to their homes. Engineers have begun an investigation.

Wireless Site is Chosen.
Washington, D. C.—A special board of naval officers has selected as a site for a high-power radio station on the California coast a location on LaJolla Heights, about four miles east of San Diego and 11 miles from the seacoast. It is expected that a tract of land comprising 72 acres with an elevation of 450 feet above the sea level soon will be acquired by the government for about $15,000. As soon as the title to the site has been acquired the department will begin the erection of a station with funds already authorized.

RADIUM CORNER IS NOT WANTED

Commissioner Declares Search for Mineral Would Cease.

Colorado Alone Can Supply World If Left Alone—Prospectors Need Encouragement.

Washington, D. C.—Removal of all radium lands, as proposed by the government, was bitterly opposed before the house mines committee by Thomas R. Henahan, state mining commissioner of Colorado, who declared such action would ruin the radium mining industry. "All we want is to be let alone," he declared. "We are getting out the radium. If you tie up these lands, prospectors will not go into them. As it is, 99 out of 100 prospectors fail. What they need is encouragement, not discouragement, if this radium is to be mined."

Joseph M. Flannery, president of the Standard Chemical company, of Pittsburgh, said his company had spent in three years $850,000 to produce two grams of radium. The grams cost $480,000 to produce, he estimated, and brought in $240,000. In April, he said, the company would be producing one gram a month.

"There is enough radium ore in Colorado to supply the world five times over," said Flannery. "Only 200 grams are needed for the whole United States. I will undertake to deliver to the government in five years from January 1, 1915, 200 grams of radium at a maximum price of $80,000 a gram."

Flannery told the committee he had a friend "philanthropically inclined," whose name he declined to give, who was considering spending $15,000,000 in building 20 radium hospitals in sections of the country where they would serve 66 per cent of the population. Each would be endowed with five grams of radium, not only for the treatment of cancer, but also for other diseases. He said he expected a decision soon.

Mr. Flannery said he believed no company could enter the Colorado field and produce 10 or 12 grams of radium at a cost of less than $100,000 a gram. His own company, he said, now treated only 2 per cent ores.

GOETHALS SAYS VESSELS MAY NOW PASS CANAL

Panama—The Panama canal has reached a condition of completion that a large ocean steamer could pass through now, according to a statement by Colonel Goethals. There is 30 feet of water through the Colera cut and the Cucaracha slide, and it is Colonel Goethals' intention to send a Panama Railroad steamer through the canal in April. An order issued by Colonel Goethals Thursday abolished the Atlantic and Pacific divisions of the canal construction because of the nearness of completion of the work. Both ends of the canal are practically completed, only the electric installation and clearing up remaining to be finished.

$125,000 Fire Sweeps Portland Lumber Yard

Portland—Fanned by a stiff southerly breeze, flames swept the yards of the Portland Lumber company at the foot of Lincoln street in South Portland, from 11:30 to 1:30 Wednesday night, causing a damage variously estimated by L. J. Wentworth, general manager of the company, at from $100,000 to $150,000, covered by insurance. After fighting for two hours the main mill was saved only after all the finished lumber and a section of the rough planking had been totally destroyed. According to the fire records an alarm was sounded for a blaze in the vicinity of the lumber company's plant shortly after 7 o'clock and was responded to by two companies, who reported back a false alarm. Whether or not the fire actually started at 7 o'clock and was thought to have been extinguished by millhands is a question puzzling Chief Dowell. One report says the fire was started by hobses in an empty box car. Aside from this there seems to be no information as to the origin of the blaze.

Carload of Loot Taken.

Seattle—A fight between alleged car thieves and a search by deputy sheriffs for evidence against a "blind pig" at Green River hot springs, in the Cascade mountains, led to the discovery of a carload of loot alleged to have been taken from Northern Pacific freight cars and the arrest of Frank Mitchell, Jack McCarthy, Martin Auerdale and Fred Smith, an ex-justice of the peace, and Mrs. Hallie Lucore, who conducts a boarding house at Green River. The woman was released on bonds, but the men were held.

Bowery Outcasts Eat.

New York—To celebrate her first wedding anniversary Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, who was Miss Helen Miller Gould, provided a dinner for 500 Bowery outcasts Thursday, and 200 beds for the homeless. The dinner was served at the Hadley Rescue Hall, where Mrs. Shepard entertained 1000 at dinner on the day of her marriage.

Flood Food Condemned.

Chicago—Four carloads of canned foodstuffs, which were submerged in the Ohio floods last spring, were ordered destroyed by Federal Judge Landis. Judge Landis also confiscated 46 cases of decayed eggs shipped with the understanding that they were to be used in tanning. The government charged that the eggs were offered to bakers and grocers as "seconds."

The Ubiquitous Girl. There's pretty girls in every port That fronts upon the foam, For I've made love in Labrador, In Cairo and in Rome, I've kissed the girls of London Town And sweet to kiss were they, But Burnham girls are just as sweet And 'Frisco girls are gay!

There's always eyes to sparkle bright And hearts a-beating warm, There's lips the man who's bold may kiss, And waits to fill an arm; The maids are fair in Argentine And dainty in Japan, There's girls to love in all the world If you're a proper man.

And who's the fairest of the fair? Well, hang me if I know! Sometimes I think she lives in France Sometimes in Caliao; But take 'em north and take 'em south, And take 'em east and west, Of all the girls in all the world The last one is the best. —Berton Braley in Harper's Weekly.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which soured and ferments like garbage in a sour barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Unconscious Response. He—My dear, all the baggage and parcels are always thrust on me so that I'm a porter. I tell you I am sick of it! She—Have you got the grip?
