MODERN DINNER ALL RIGHT

Physician Declares That Appurtenances and Menu All Tend to Promote the Digestion.

Dinner as a social institution has been so sedulously attacked by gastronomic experts in recent years that the banquet has been held responsible for many untimely deaths of public men. One of the most conspicuous statements in America was said to have been killed by dining out. The consumption of course after course upon a menu is held by various authorities to be inconsistent with long life and even with continued health.

Now, all these notions, according to Dr. H. S. Levenson, are based more or less upon delusion. Discoveries in the physiology of digestion during the past dozen years do not discredit the modern dinner, he says. They vindicate it. Man has unconsciously established a routine of courses in the dinner that takes thorough cognizance of the physiological principles upon which digestion is founded. Take, for instance, the elaborate gowns worn by the women and the evening suits by the men; the floral decorations and the music. There is no doubt that each of these items serves the purpose of composing a generally favorable stage setting for digestion. It has been shown in recent years that the moods created by these details have a directly favorable bearing upon the performance of the digestive function.—Current Opinion.

Great Soldier's Mistake

When General Moreau was in England he was once the victim of a rather droll misunderstanding. He was present at a concert where a piece was sung by the choir with the refrain:

"Tomorrow, tomorrow, Having a very imperfect knowledge of English, he fancied it to be a cantata given in his honor, and thought he distinguished the words: "To Moreau, to Moreau."

Each time the refrain was repeated he rose to his feet and gracefully bowed on all sides, to the great astonishment of the audience, who did not know what to make of it.

Still Demand for Flints

Millions of flints are produced annually in England by "knappers," who use much the same tools and work in much the same manner as did the men of the Neolithic age. The flints go to Africa, South America and China. Flintlock muskets are still used by many negroes in the depths of Africa, and shipments of the bits of stone find ready market in the benighted regions.

"Canna Ye Boo, Ye Brute?"

Rev. Maxwell Nicholson, when minister of an Edinburgh parish, was called upon to marry a couple in humble life, and in the course of the ceremony he thrice asked the bridegroom whether he took "this woman" as his wedded wife without eliciting a reply. At last the patience of the bride was fairly overtaxed and she thus politely addressed her lord and master, in the hearing of the assembled friends, "Canna ye boo, ye brute?"

DAISY FLY KILLER

Indignantly Denied. I see by your paper that you have published in the Duncan news department what you called a dance at my house and the statements made are entirely false. Demand is Made on Dunne

Springfield, Ill. — Twenty-six members of the Progressive party—its full strength in the Forty Eighth General Assembly—called on Governor Dunne and presented a demand that he sign the woman suffrage bill without delay. Governor Dunne had already delivered the bill to Attorney General Lucey, with a request for an opinion as to its validity. The Progressives demanded official approval of the bill without waiting for any opinion from the attorney general and without regard to what the opinion may be when given.

BRITISH LORDS ADMIT ERRORS

Marconi Scandal Reaches Climax in Parliament.

Attorney General Admits Tempting Lloyd-George and Takes All Blame—Truce Reached.

London—For the first time in many years British cabinet members were compelled to defend their personal honesty before parliament. The attorney general, Sir Rufus Isaacs, and the chancellor of the exchequer, David Lloyd George, excused their dealing in American Marconi shares on the floor of the house, and the final scene in the Marconi affair, which their political enemies had attempted to magnify into a scandal rivaling the Panama debacle, was tense and dramatic.

The two ministers admitted that they had acted thoughtlessly and mistakenly, though without dishonest intentions, and regretted their failure to divulge all the facts when they had made their denials to the house last October of buying English Marconi shares.

Having finished their defense, in deference to the tradition that the house should be left to discuss their conduct without the embarrassment of their presence, they walked from the chamber together. A great cheer from their partisans followed them.

The resolution introduced by George Cave, Unionist, in behalf of the opposition, which brought about the debate, went no further than to express the regrets of the house at the transactions of the ministers and the lack of frankness displayed towards the house.

By expressing their regret, thereby agreeing with the resolution, the two ministers spiked the guns of their bitterest opponents, who regarded the case as an opportunity to make political capital.

This comparatively tame ending to a fierce controversy was apparently the result of a truce between the party leaders to protect the good name of the parliament. The Liberals were threatening, if attacked unreasonably, to resurrect all the buried shortcomings of the Conservative ministers from almost forgotten graves.

WILSON CALLS AT CAPITOL

Crowd Cheers as in Campaign Days When President Wages Hat.

Washington, D. C.—President Wilson made another trip to the capitol Thursday and this time did not get away as inconspicuously as on previous occasions. A large crowd had gathered to hear a band concert on the east front of the capitol and when the President arrived there were cheers and applause, reminiscent of campaign days. The President rose in his automobile and waved his hat to the crowd.

The President had on his list 20 senators, Republicans as well as Democrats, and saw them all within an hour. He consulted them about appointments of all kinds in their home states. It had been thought that he would take advantage of his opportunity to sound his callers on their attitude toward currency legislation.

Keeping the Body in Repair

Nature intended that the body should do its own repairing—and it will do so were it not for the fact that most of us live other than a natural life.

Nature didn't intend that we should wear corsets, tight collars or shoes, nor live in badly ventilated and draughty houses, nor eat and drink some of the things that we do, nor ride in street cars when we should walk.

The consequence is that the body when it gets out of order must look for outside help to make the necessary repairs.

COURT CALLED IT CRUELTY

Method of Negro Lion Tamer Met With the Decided Disapproval of English Judge.

Lady Helmsley was a witness in an interesting case heard at York, in which a negro lion tamer named Albert Maccamo was summoned for cruelty to animals, and Albert Manders, manager proprietor, of Oldham, was summoned for permitting the animal to be terrified, says the London Pall Mall Gazette.

Manders was at the York Martinmas fair, in November, and Lady Helmsley was told by one of the attendants that the lioness had already caused the death of one man and attacked two others, and that Maccamo would at the peril of his life enter the cage.

Lady Helmsley described how the animal was frightened by noises and by the insertion into the cage of red-hot bars. She was so disgusted with the performance that she left and reported the matter to the police.

Further evidence was called to show that the man entered the cage for a few moments, firing blank cartridges while he was inside.

Manders was fined 20 shillings and costs, and Maccamo 10 shillings and costs.

Simply Do One's Best

Everything that happens to us leaves some trace behind it, everything contributes imperceptibly to form us. Yet often it is dangerous to take a strict account of that. For, either we grow proud and negligent or downcast and despondent; and both are equally injurious in their consequences. The safe plan is, always simply do the task that lies nearest us.—Goethe.

Dear Sir: Having suffered with stomach trouble for a number of years, and tried a great many doctors and a great many proprietary preparations but obtained no permanent relief until I took your stomach remedy, and am pleased to say that I have no further stomach trouble and am not eating anything I desire and suffer no bad results. I am a professional nurse, having nursed for 30 years, some of the time for Dr. H. Since learning by my own experience the great benefit from the use of Powell's Stomach Remedy, I have recommended it to a great many for children and adults, and in each case it has been successful for the good it has done. I cheerfully recommend it to anyone suffering with any kind of stomach trouble, as I am anxious to aid anyone suffering from sickness of any kind, and I have never known of medicine to compare with Powell's Stomach Remedy for all kinds of stomach trouble.
