Wimples Should Be Watched
They may be Means of Absorbing Disease Germs in Most Unexpected Manner.

The research laboratory of The Swift Pele Company has collected a vast amount of information regarding the spread of blood diseases. In thousands of instances the most virulent types have been the result of coming in contact with wimples in public places, and the wimples themselves have been found to be a potent source of infection. It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous S. S. may now be had at almost any drug store in the civilized world. This preparation stands alone as a disinfectant. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it accomplishes all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodine, arsenic, and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuralgia, and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than most people are aware of. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by a medical department of The Swift Pele Co., 150 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special list of advice, to all who are struggling with a blood disease. Get a bottle of S. S. to-day of your druggist. It will surprise you with its wonderful action in the blood. Don't accept anything offered you as "just as good." The only reason why some should not try to sell you S. S. is the large profit made on something so simple as a blood purifier. Beware of attempts to persuade you to buy something in place of S. S.

Moral Sense and Almanac.
Apropos of another scandal in the New York bar, Bishop Winston C. Rutherford said in Mobile:
"The morals of the New York bar seem to be about like the morals of Colonel Byrne, no better and no worse."

Colonel Byrne, a Kentuckian, defended a man for murder. It was testified that this man murdered a woman on the night of August 20. Two or three witnesses saw the deed. It was committed under the milky light of a full moon.

"The witnesses were able to identify the defendant on account of the brilliance of the moonlight. The defendant could not prove an alibi, and things looked pretty bad for him."
"But at this point Colonel Byrne produced an almanac showing that on the night in question there had been no moon whatever. Thereupon a great laugh resounded through the court room and the defendant was speedily acquitted."

"Colonel," said the defendant, afterward, "how much do I owe you?"
"You owe me," the colonel answered, "$500."
"Ain't that pretty steep?"
"No—not when you consider that I only get $100 out of it."

"Why, what did you do with the other $400, Colonel? Bribe the jury?"
"No, sir!" shouted Colonel Byrne hotly. "No, sir. Do you think I have no moral sense? It cost me $400, sir, to get that almanac printed."

The Broken Spell.
Among the White House correspondents is one young man who wears long hair and a continual poetic temperament. The other day the White House squad were putting Secretary Joseph Patrick Tumulty through the third degree. He was exceedingly coy, and they had just gotten him to the point where news seemed likely forthcoming, when the young man with the poetic temperament drew from his pocket a small leather-bound volume and cried out, ecstatically:
"Oh, Mr. Secretary, have you read this perfectly delightful little thing?"
The spell was broken. Secretary Tumulty retired into his shell and the disappointed news seekers went outside. When they had reached the safety zone Gus Karger turned ferociously on the poetic young man.
"Go back," said he, hoarsely; "go back and sing to him. And when you are all through we'll drop in and see if we can earn our salaries."—Washington (D. C.) Post.

Early Humor.
Gladstone, when a boy, was visiting in the country, and the farmer was showing him around. Coming to a field that contained a large black bull, the farmer said: "There's a fine, strong bull there, Master William, and it's only two years old."
"How do you tell its age?" queried the boy.
"Why, by its horns," said the farmer.
"By its horns?" young Gladstone looked thoughtful a moment, then his face cleared. "Ah, I see. Two horns—two years."—Boston Transcript.

HOW TO DESTROY THE DANDRUFF GERM
BY A SPECIALIST.
That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of catarrh and consumption, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. We are, therefore, particularly pleased to give herewith the prescription which an eminent scientist states he has found, after repeated tests, to completely destroy the dandruff germ in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair growth after years of baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you: 6 ounces Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing half an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. If you wish it perfumed, add half a teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. While this preparation is not a dye, it is unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color.
