A WORD OF THANKS

We thank you all dear neighbors, But words cannot express The gratitude that fills our hearts, For the good deeds done for us, With sickness in the family, And hearts filled with sorrow and pain, We can never in a life-time, Feel we've repaid you again, We can never forget that Monday, How you quietly stole in from space, With your thirty horses and so many men, And put the crops in on my place, And all those that helped with the nursing, With untiring faithfulness, We thank you dear kind friends, But its too great for words to express, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Throop.
