WEST ST. HELENS

John Setrin of Astoria, visitor sister, Mrs. W. H. Smith of St. Helens, returning to Astoria, Sunday, July 2.

Rosecrans and bride of Northma, visited Mrs. Rosecrans' mother, Mrs. Rev. W. R. Plumb of Free Methodist church in West Helens, returning to North Yakima Friday.

Miss Nettie Amelia Snyder spent Sunday in Portland, remaining with friends over the Fourth, returning to West St. Helens on Wednesday.

The ladies of the Methodist Episcopal church held a cooked food sale at the Chambers Meat Market on Saturday which was well patronized by the citizens. The dainties certainly were attractive and delicious. Mrs. D. Fuller and Mrs. Rhoda Goodman were in charge of the sales.

Chas. Graham of the firm of Perry & Graham, attended the banquet given by the Good Samaritan lodge, I. O. O. F. Guess Charlie must like banquets as he was ready for another on Saturday night and seemed none the worse for two banquets in one week, one in Portland the other in West St. Helens.

On Friday the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Urie of West St. Helens left on the boat for Portland, for the purpose of joining the United States (Oregon) forces being sent to the Mexican frontier. He was accompanied by another young man whose name we did not learn. It is not known as yet if they succeeded in passing muster.

Mr. Shear, a newcomer to West St. Helens, invested in a new Ford. After about half an hour's instructions he started home. Not being used to the business he succeeded in having a head-on collision with another auto just as he was crossing the railroad at the depot. Fortunately no damage was done to either car, and beyond being scared and "shook up a bit" no one was injured.

The I. O. O. F. Houlton lodge enjoyed a pleasant evening and banquet on Saturday night in their hall.

Quite a number of the St. Helens lodge members were present, also a goodly number of friends of the order. A fine program was given, consisting of speeches and recitations, among which were several members of the St. Helens lodge. Chas. Graham represented the Good Samaritan lodge of Portland. S. C. Knighton, retiring noble grand, gave an excellent talk. Miss Helen White rendered a fine solo, with Miss Nettie Snyder as accompanist. Miss Snyder also rendered a solo, "The Hills of Skye," which was enthusiastically encored. The program was completed by an address by Rev. Sanford Snyder on "Fundamental Doctrines of Odd Fellowship and Objections Thereof," after which the members and friends repaired to the banquet room. Here we were admirably entertained with a fine display of good things to eat and by a cheery speech by W. R. Fullerton. Bill Hinson presided and acted as toastmaster. The I. O. O. F. of Houlton certainly know how to do things.

Grandpa Long, the Florida land boomer, is again among us. He says that he came to sell his St. Helens holdings preparatory to moving to Florida, which place he says has no equal except Heaven, of which he knows so little that he is not sure, but of Florida he speaks with no uncertain sound. Many of our citizens think Mr. Long a joker and point with some degree of victory to the fact that all who went to Florida—Karth, Usher, Long and his son—are back in old Oregon and really seem to feel at home.

Some of our leading citizens and visiting friends began celebrating on Sunday by getting hilariously drunk, mixed with loud cursing on the street while the congregation at the Methodist church was gathering for evening services. Marshal Robertson and Sheriff Stanwood were promptly on hand. Several of the company were before the court on Monday morning, where some wholesome lessons were learned. If such things appear again the prospects are that some will get a chance to board a while at Hotel de Stanwood.

BACHELOR FLAT

Well, the Glorious Fourth is over and I presume most everybody had a good time, especially those who went to St. Helens.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank George and daughters Ida, Agnes and Alice, are visiting at the home of Mrs. George's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Moyers.

Mrs. Guy Lillieh received by parcel post last week a very beautiful bouquet of sweet peas—prize winners grown and exhibited by her sister, Mrs. J. N. McCrea of Rainier.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Peterson were shopping in St. Helens last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Melton of Rainier, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Woods of Clatskanie have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lillieh this week.

D. Pope was a Portland visitor last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bumgardner spent the day with friends in Seapooose, and celebrated their first wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Reunels and son Francis have moved to Portland, where Francis expects to take a business course in school. He was one of the eighth grade pupils here this year and will be missed very much next term of school.
