

CORRESPONDENCE

SCAPPOOSE

Miss Addie Adams of St. Helens, was a Scappoose-visitor last week.

Mrs. H. A. Stone is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Gran.

Mrs. B. Stantor has returned to Scappoose after several weeks in the St. Vincent hospital.

Mrs. F. Tolly has opened a summer school and has a nice little class enrolled.

Albert Johnson and family and D. W. Price and family motored to Portland to witness the evening celebration July Fourth.

Mrs. Mamie Hartman Eaton and daughter of Tacoma, is visiting with the Heimuller family. Mrs. Eaton lived here several years ago and will be remembered by many friends.

Mrs. Wm. Caldwell and daughter Helen of Portland, are visiting her daughter, Mrs. James Pomroy, for a week.

Miss Athline Torry has been employed to teach at Mayger, the school to open July 31.

Victor Watts celebrated the Fourth with his cousin, George Hartness, in Portland.

Mrs. Rita Elliott of Portland, is spending a few days with friends and relatives.

G. B. Milloy reports a rush in his business the Fourth. He says it was a good day for firecrackers, as he sold 240 bunches and could have sold as many more. Ice cream was also in demand.

Pete Loomis has moved into the Samuel Adams cottage recently occupied by H. Lamberson.

Mrs. May Gatchell of Portland, spent several days with her many friends at Scappoose.

Lester Adams has gone to Clatskanie, where he has secured employment for the summer.

Valdez White has also left our town for the summer. He is employed at Westport.

Armand Duncan is visiting with his sister, Mrs. Mat Campbell, at Clatskanie.

Mrs. G. W. Watts, who went to Wellesley to be present at her daughter Hazel's graduation, arrived in Portland Tuesday night on her homeward trip.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Butler spent several days at the home of Mr. Butler's parents in Mouthmouth and helped them to celebrate the glorious Fourth.

Mrs. Maude Moore of Portland, is spending a few days with her father, Mr. Tidcombe, while Mrs. Tidcombe visits her daughter, Mrs. Hal Patton, at Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morgan entertained their son and wife of Portland, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Divens visited with Mrs. J. Leonard before taking their departure for a long joy trip which will be a well deserved vacation.

Mrs. Barnott went to Portland the Fourth to attend a meeting which is held every year by the members of the Saints of God.

Miss Vera Tipton of Hillsboro, is visiting her sister, Miss Ruby, this week.

Jim Ebersole has been very sick with rheumatism but is convalescing.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Brown, Albert Boessel, Henry Lange, Gus Lange and Rudolph Titz spent their Fourth at St. Helens.

Burt West has rented his big dairy ranch to two men from Astoria.

Little Miss Vivian Brown gave a party Wednesday in honor of her cousin, Virginia Sifort, who is visiting her. The guests, besides the little hostess and honor guest, were Golde Grewell, Glee Gearhart, Mary Richardson, Nellie Richardson and Fern White. The games were of the "dressup" kind, with queens and maids, etc. A dainty lunch was served.

Miss Mary Ewing, one of the Salem teachers, is spending a part of her vacation in Scappoose.

Kenneth Duncan and bride are visiting at the home of Mr. Duncan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lamberson of St. Johns, have been in town a few days, closing a deal transferring their property in East Scappoose to Henry Lamberson, and Mr. and Mrs. and Mrs. H. Lamberson are now cozily settled in their new home.

The meanest person that ever lived is in existence, but I don't know who it is yet. He (or she) must have sneaked in from some other town for I know nobody in this town would stoop so low as to play me such a trick. I told you last week that I had something to tell you this week and was going crazy to tell it. Well now I am raving mad. After going to the trouble to get all the facts about the wedding and informing myself so I could elaborate upon the beautiful decorations of each room in festoons of roses and the many beautiful, useful and costly presents and the elaborate wedding dinner, and being fully prepared to paint you a picture of the bride in all her beauty and the wedding gown and the groom in his conventional suit of black (and a worried expression), and after searching the dictionary to find just the proper words, I picked up the Mist last week and found that some sneak thief of a reporter "beat me to it" and had it all in print. I never prepared to give a good "writeup" yet but some other reporter "stole my thunder."

The community celebration of the Fourth at the school ground was a perfect success and most thoroughly enjoyed by all. The old-fashioned picnic dinner on the tables under the trees proved a real neighbors' reunion. Asa Holaday was toastmaster, and the after-dinner talks were greatly enjoyed. The toasts were as follows: "You and Me and the Town," Dr. Blatchford; "The Sunday school and Our Town," Dr. Hatfield; "The School and Our Town," Mrs. Blatchford; "The Railroad and Our Town," Mr. Niblock; "The Ladies' Aid," Mrs. Price; "Good Roads and Our Town," J. G. Watts; "Boys and Our Town," James Pomroy; "The Parent-Teachers' Association," Mrs. Niblock; "Farms and Our Town," Mr. Crowley; "The High School Alumni," Ruth Duncan; "Girls and Our Town," Mrs. Washburn; "Patriotism and Our Town," Rev. Johnston. Out of town guests called on, who responded, were Judge Cleeton and Rev. Meyers of Portland, Mr. Wilson and Dr. Mann of Linnton.

Ice cream was served free, and the Sew & Sew Girls had a booth where they sold fruit punch and home made candy. A number of friends of our people came from neighboring towns and from Portland for a quiet celebration.

After dinner Asa Holaday and J. G. Watts felt a boyish feeling stealing over them and as they are both the leanest, hungriest looking men we ever saw, we knew from their actions that for once they had found enough to eat. They started races to run off that "full feeling." They began a race for tiny tots and then kept raising the age limit until they arrived at the over 30 years. That's another way they took to find out the ladies' ages (we did not enter the race). Then they had a preachers' race; and a fat man's race. That's where Judge Cleeton, Rev. Johnston, Rev. Meyers, D. W. Price and N. A. Perry were happy. We had a mishap as J. B. Duncan had been over-eating he looked down and saw his stomach stick out and really thought he was fat, so he stepped into line with the other fat men and started to run, but some way he had so much dinner to carry that his legs sank under him and down he went, rolling over, and Judge Cleeton "came tumbling after." And the impolite women's laughed.

Then we noticed in the hungry man's race were J. G. Watts, Asa Holaday, Clay DeGraffe, Jim Pomroy, Albert Johnson and Niblock, and some others we always felt sorry for. Mr. Johnson won. He keeps in practice chasing calves.

Then came a race for women who don't like to tell their ages. Then Maude Duncan and Neva Boyle took the lead with Mrs. Cleeton, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Spalding, Mrs. Metcalf and some others that don't want us to tell. Miss Duncan won this race easily.

Next year we will enter the race if they will call for an editor's and reporter's race and if its to tell the biggest lie, we'll bet on ourself.

Messrs. Martin and Looney came to Frakes Highland Farm last week, stayed over night and bought two cows the next morning and invited George E. Frakes to accompany them to W. K. Newell's Holstein Farm, in the extreme southern part of Washington county, and called on other Holstein farms and motored back the same day. They went via Portland then on to Junction City, Oregon, their home.

Lakeside Stock Farm is all under water but Mrs. Frakes still remains and keeps her chickens there. The hens are shut up in their houses.

YANKTON

The Yankton Sunday school's attendance has been decreasing. The school wants the children to attend and have a larger number present every Sunday.

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Yankton school will give a picnic. The date will be announced later.

A little grading and stump clearing has been done on the old Bunker Hill road and on the road south of the school house. This road has been in very bad condition for years. It is to be regretted that this much traveled road which has been so neglected for years, can not at present be properly built. The present condition of this road, owing to the mud, is worse than it was before the grading was done near Milton creek.

Fred Briggs' new barn will soon be finished. It will contain stalls for over eighty head of cattle and will be the finest barn in the Yankton district. Building this barn will no doubt be an encouragement to others to go into the dairy business, as the Yankton neighborhood is well adapted for dairying.

The Yankton Grange gave an ice cream social in the Grange hall on Saturday evening, June 24. Over $19 was raised on the sale of ice cream. The proceeds will go toward the bounty money for exterminating gophers and grey diggers.

The Walker family is preparing to move to St. Helens.

RAINIER

Marion Fowler is possessor of a fine Overland car—who's next? There are about twenty autos in Rainier at present.

Mr. Stepp is the proud father of a daughter, who arrived last Sunday. Mother and child are getting along nicely.

Walker Nelson, who was seriously injured at the Hammond Lumber Company's logging camp recently, has entirely recovered. For some time after the accident he suffered a lapse of speech which he has now regained.

The local order of Odd Fellows will hold installation of officers at their lodge rooms next Saturday evening. An invitation is extended to all Odd Fellows in good standing to attend and a banquet is being prepared.

Earl Fleetwood returned Monday evening from Portland, where he has been for the past five weeks under medical attention. Mr. Fleetwood left Tuesday morning for Carrols, Wash., where he will visit his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Sutton, formerly of this place, arrived here from Roseburg, Oregon, last Saturday for a week's visit with their son. Mr. and Mrs. Sutton say that they are well pleased with their new home and that the southern Oregon climate agrees wonderfully well with Mrs. Sutton.

The voting contest for queen of the Rainier Sweet Pea Show came to a close last Saturday evening with the Misses Gladys Kennedy and Kathleen Mitchell running an exceptionally close race. Miss Gladys Kennedy won out with 7,530 votes to Miss Kathleen Mitchell's 7,390. The race was good naturedly contested by friends of the two candidates all last week and the honor belonged to either of the candidates up to almost the moment of the close of the contest.—Review.

CLATSKANIE

Mrs. J. J. Kinyoun left the first of the week for Ontario, Canada, for an extended visit with her parents. Mr. Kinyoun accompanied her as far as Portland.

The county is replanking the bridge at the foot of Bridge street. The planks are being laid lengthways and greatly add to the stability of the bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hall of Choyenne, Wyo., arrived in town the first of the week in their Ford machine, for an extended visit with the latter's sister, Mrs. H. Jurgens.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Larsen of Vesper, are rejoicing over the arrival of a little daughter, who came to make her home with them on Wednesday.

D. W. Freeman passed through town Tuesday on his way to his home at Mist in his new Buick machine, which he has recently purchased in Portland.

The young daughter of C. Isakson was severely injured last Wednesday. The young lady had come down to meet her father, who is doing some road work on Clatskanie Heights, and while returning home was kicked in the face, the upper part sustaining the most damage. At first it was feared that the eyes had been hurt, but Dr. Wooden, who was called, believes they have escaped any injury.

Last Friday the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nestor Lehto of Quincy, was drowned. Dr. B. F. Smith of Clatskanie, who had been immediately summoned, found on his arrival that the little life was extinct. This sad incident happened while the mother had gone for a few minutes to visit a neighbor about half a mile from the house. The usual path along the river had in some places been covered by the high water and a detour had to be made at these places. It is thought that the little one, who has been left in the care of the older children, had in some manner got through the gate and had followed her mother, and following the well-remembered path had fallen into the water.—Chief.

COLUMBIA CITY

We see Gus Bangsord pass through Columbia City, moving to Deer Island, where he will work in the new logging camp.

If anyone wants to have their cows milked free, bring them to Columbia City. Salt furnished, also.

A hen pecked husband as a general thing does not have a mustache and but little hair on the top of his head.

REUBEN

Mrs. T. C. Watts attended the Pioneer meeting in Portland.

John Burgess of Rainier, visited his grandfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lindsey, last Sunday.

The Columbia Timber Co. closed its logging camp last Friday until July 10, to give the boys a chance to celebrate the Fourth.

Mrs. M. Newton of Seaside, visited over Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Jane Zener.

Born—To the wife of E. A. Selfelt, June 28, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Rambalsky and Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Linton were St. Helens visitors last Sunday.

E. H. Selfert attended to business at Forest Grove and Dilly Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stewart of St. Helens are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Robbins of Nehalem Junction over the Fourth.

The rains destroyed a lot of hay and cherries in this vicinity.

NEHALEM VALLEY

The weather here is such that we don't care to discuss it. Perhaps we will be able to make hay some time soon.

Mrs. Clark came in on the stage Tuesday.

Mr. Mills had a bad accident last week. While rounding a bend in the road, his machine shook hands a little too hard with the other one, causing a serious smashup to his machine. Mr. Mills is using his brother's machine for a few days while his own is being repaired.

Mrs. Dolman and infant came in on the stage Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lavendar came in Thursday to visit the home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Tregaar called on Mr. and Mrs. Wildman Thursday afternoon.

Pete Bergerson and Guy Mills went to Portland last week with Teck Mills in his auto, Pete and Guy both coming home with new Fords.

Cirel Johns hauled down a load of freight from timber Saturday.

Some of the road workers have been rained out while some others keep right at it.

Rev. E. Now came in Wednesday to visit his relatives and friends of Nehalem.

Mrs. Hult is resting as easy as can be expected. Her arm seems to be healing nicely.

Mrs. O. Malmstein and Goldie Mowe started for Newport Tuesday, going by way of Portland to visit with relatives and friends.

Wedding bells! Do you hear them? Listen! We all wish the happy couple a long, happy, prosperous life.

Mrs. Dr. Cole has kept pretty close to home lately, so guess everyone must be pretty well, thank you.

DEER ISLAND

The public has been put to a great inconvenience at this place by the high water. The highway has been entirely submerged for a distance of more than 100 feet. This is the condition of the road where a new and supposed to be first class fill has recently been made. The difficulties arising over this state of affairs have been met through the kindness of the owners of the Clover Hill farm, who have given the roadway through their property for public use while the highway is impassable.

The preliminary work of the Deer Island Logging Company is progressing rapidly and there are prospects that we shall have this company here for a number of years.

Mrs. J. Armstrong and daughter, Mary McGregor, left Saturday for Los Angeles, where they will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. English spent Saturday and Sunday in Portland as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Perry, at their home in Irvington.

Miss Dena Jones of Portland, is visiting at the home of her aunt, Miss Wilken.

Miss Verda Mattoon, a former resident of Deer Island, is the guest of Mrs. Otto Judish for a few days.

Miss Marguerite Kearns, principal of our school during the past year, spent a few days here this week visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller, who have lived in this vicinity for some time, have moved to Rainier.

Mrs. T. J. Toomey of Oakland, Cal., is spending a few weeks with her cousin, Mrs. Keenan, of this city.

Miss Agnes Enyart spent three days in St. Helens last week, where she attended the teachers' examination.

Mrs. J. Buckley and family are domiciled in the Armstrong cottage for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. English and son Harold, motored to St. Helens Tuesday to participate in the Fourth of July celebration.

Bolis Allen returned to the city Tuesday evening after spending several days with his parents in Portland.

A few of the ladies surprised Mrs. Armstrong with an afternoon tea the day previous to her departure for California. A very enjoyable afternoon was reported by all present.

Mrs. T. J. Toomey, Mrs. J. Buckley, Mrs. B. J. Keenan and little Miss Mary and Master Fred Keenan were visitors in St. Helens on Tuesday.

Mrs. Newton is showing marked ability in learning to drive her new machine and is already a first class chauffeur.

Mr. and Mrs. Bankstrom of Columbia City, have moved to Deer Island and are living on the Frank Enyart farm.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Cox and family and Mr. and Mrs. Casey of Astoria, were week-end visitors at the Andrews home. Mr. Cox is the possessor of a new car and was contemplating making the trip from Astoria by machine but found it impossible on account of the poor condition of the roads at this time.

Although there was no celebration here on the Fourth, the glorious occasion did not slip by without any manifestation of patriotism. Some of our merchants caught the spirit of the day and decorated their places of business appropriately, the result of which was very inspiring.

Frank and Eugene Keenan have gone to Eugene, where they are attending the summer sessions of the University of Oregon.

Go to the Royal for quality and quantity. Cold drinks, candies, cigars and tobaccos.
