MIST MISTINGS

Earl Perry and a party of friends were noticeable as fair visitors.

H. S. Mason and Dr. S. B. Hoskins were Portland visitors Sunday.

Gus Lange of Scappoose, was a business visitor to St. Helens Monday.

Registration books close October 7. If you are not registered, "do it now."

J. P. Johnson of the Union Stock Yards in Portland was an interested visitor to the fair Friday.

Among the fair visitors Friday we noticed Dr. H. R. Cliff, N. A. Perry and wife, and Judge and Mrs. Cleeton of Portland.

Commissioner A. E. Harvey took a day off and came up from his farm near Clatskanie to see if he could learn anything further about running a farm.

T. J. Flippin and wife of Rainier, were visitors in St. Helens Saturday, and during their leisure moments motored out to Mountain View, where they visited farmer A. T. Laws.

George Cornwall, wife and sons of Portland, motored down to St. Helens Sunday and spent several hours here. Mr. Cornwall is publisher of the Timberman, which is recognized as the foremost lumber journal of the Pacific coast.

Frederick M. DeNeffe, a Portland attorney, was in St. Helens Saturday on legal matters. Mr. DeNeffe is well known here, and some years ago did part of the twirling for the local ball club. He was considered the best amateur pitcher in the state.

Otto Lorenston and family left Monday morning for Portland, where they will reside, Mr. Lorenston having accepted a position in one of the shipbuilding plants there. The Lorenstons have been residents of St. Helens for a number of years, own their own home here and were valued citizens. The Mist wishes them every success in their new location.

An improvement on the McNulty creek bridge which is much appreciated by the traveling public has just been completed. Heavy surfaced boards have been laid lengthwise over the bridge floor and the approaches have been evened up with fine crushed rock. One can now go over the bridge without the jar and bumps which, until this improvement was made, was expected.

E. I. Ballagh was a business visitor to Portland Wednesday.

James Muckle was down Friday last, in attendance at the county fair.

Registration books close October 7. If you are not registered, "do it now."

Mrs. Henry Morgan was taken to a Portland hospital Monday, where she expected to be operated on.

John Quick, who for some months past has been in Utah making paving blocks, has returned to St. Helens.

Mrs. Wilbur Muckle, Miss Leona Perkins and Mr. Hayes Easterbrook took a trip over the Columbia Highway Sunday.

J. H. Sheldon, who claims Portland as his home but makes St. Helens his headquarters, spent several days here this week looking after his fishing business.

Mr. and Mrs. John Matschnier of Portland, visited their daughter, Mrs. Leo Conlin, Saturday. Sunday morning they left for Seaside in their auto, accompanied by the Conlins.

W. J. Muckle and family motored to Salem Tuesday to take in the state fair. They returned late Wednesday night and report a pleasant trip and the fair very good.

Through the courtesy of the management of the phone company a free telephone was installed at the fair grounds, a courtesy which was much appreciated by the fair management.

The Taxpayers' League of Warren will hold a special meeting next Wednesday night. A full attendance is especially desired. By order of the president.

One of the large plate glass windows in the Muckle building was broken in a very unusual manner. A passing auto ran over a rock and "flipped" it through the window.

R. D. Gage and family of Tillamook, were the Sunday guests of J. Q. Gage and family. Mrs. J. Q. Gage accompanied them as far as Portland on their return.

G. L. Tarbell and family attended the state fair at Salem this week. Mr. Tarbell was a close observer and believes that the state fair is about as well managed as the Columbia county fair.

Miss Madeline Allen, who has been absent for several months past visiting home friends in Washington, has returned and taken up the work of stenographer in the office of the county school superintendent.

Mrs. C. H. Johns and daughter, Dorothy, were Portland visitors Tuesday.

E. C. Laws and wife returned Saturday evening from their wedding tour.

Mrs. G. A. Mace and children left Tuesday to visit relatives south of Scappoose.

Lotus L. Langley, a prominent attorney of Portland, was a visitor to St. Helens Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Coen were in Portland this week to attend the funeral of Mr. Coen's uncle.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Link of Goble, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Markam of St. Helens attended the roundup at Pendleton.

F. T. Lidyard, who makes his home in Red Bluffs, Cal., was the guest of his brother a couple of days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Coen and family, Mr. Berger and A. B. Wood went out in the mountains Sunday in Mr. Berger's car.

The stamer Klamath is loading at the docks of the Columbia County mill. She will sail Friday for San Pedro via San Francisco.

Judge J. C. Moreland of Salem, was a business visitor to this city last Friday and Saturday. He complimented very highly the big Industrial edition of the Mist.

Jack Tunzat, who for some time past has been connected with Lynch's barber shop, left Thursday for Portland, where he and family will make their future home.

Mrs. Ed. Lope of Linnton, spent a couple of days in this city to visit her sister, Mrs. Henry Morgan, before she was taken to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob George are spending the week in Salem, taking in the state fair, and Mr. George is also attending the meeting of the Shriners.

Rev. Sandifur left Monday to attend the annual session of the M. E. conference at Lebanon. As a new district superintendent is to be elected, there may be many changes in the assignments.

Wanted—A local salesman or saleslady for St. Helens and Columbia county. The job will pay from $20 to $30 per week, according to ability. Inquire at St. Helens Mist office for particulars.

Finest salt mackerel and herring, Alaska and Lake Superior cod fish, crabs, halibut, salmon, etc. in the fish line. Oysters on Fridays and Saturdays. Don't forget we handle poultry. Place your order now for your Sunday dinner. Sonneland's Market. Phone 42.

S. L. Butler of Deer Island, drove up to Portland Friday in his car. It was the pleasure of the Mist man to accompany him. Mr. Butler promised to be in the "running" at the big republican rally in this city on the 10th of October.

J. S. ALLEN WAS A WASHINGTON PIONEER

J. S. Allen, who died in Spokane September 12, was a pioneer of Washington, having come to Olympia in 1871. By profession, Mr. Allen was a lawyer and practiced in the Washington courts for many years. Mr. Allen was married on November 5, 1878, to Miss Mary Furlow, a native of Rochester, Minn. They are the parents of five children, Mrs. L. R. Rutherford of this city, J. S. Allen, Jr., residing at Twisp, Wash., cashier of the Twisp bank; Paul Allen, cashier of the First National bank at North Yakima; Madeline and Mildred, who reside with their mother in Spokane.

In speaking of Mr. Allen, Judge Turner of Spokane, paid the following tribute:

"In the death of Joseph S. Allen this community and this state have lost one of the sterling characters associated with its early history and its later development.

"A brother of John B. Allen, the late senator, who was a great lawyer, Joe Allen was regarded by the bar and the public as in no respect behind his distinguished brother in legal ability and intellectual attainments. Ill health compelled his retirement from practice at a comparatively early period in life, but up to the day of his death he had not lost his interest in the development of our great state or in the many questions, legal, moral and social, connected with that development. He was a great lawyer and a great citizen and his death creates a void which will be hard to fill. Personally I feel a sense of bereavement at his death.

"He was one of the most active practitioners at the bar when I came to the territory as a judge of the supreme court 32 years ago. He was before me frequently in important litigations and I learned to know the strict integrity and high ideals which not only characterized his private life, but which controlled his professional conduct as well. We became fast friends, and it is a consolation to me now to remember that that relation was never interrupted during the 32 years of a strenuous business and political life that has intervened since our first acquaintance."

CHURCH NOTICES

Catholic Church

Next Sunday there will be Sunday school at 10 o'clock for the three classes. The Mass will begin at 11:30. The text of the sermon will be: "Jesus answering, spoke to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying: Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath day?" St. Luke XIV., 3. These words suggest a comparison and a contrast between the Jewish Sabbath and the Christian Sunday. When, and by whom, and for what reason the day was changed should be of interest to every Christian. These questions will be answered in the sermon. The public is kindly invited to every service held in the Catholic church.

WILLIAM HAMPSON,
Pastor.
