TRUCKEE STILL A GREAT RESORT

One of the last reminders of the timber days at Truckee, Cal., was uncovered a few days ago when workmen demolishing one of the old Truckee Lumber Company's sawmills uncovered a bell used by the vigilantes. It was used to summon the vigilantes when the leaders felt the necessity of taking the law in their own hands and exercising the prerogatives of Judge Lynch. Truckee is among the oldest towns of the state, and just as it was prominent in the historic days when the Sierras' slopes gave up their gold, so it is prominent now as a summer and winter resort city. Its fishing and hunting and nearness to Lake Tahoe make it the mecca of sportsmen and pleasure-seekers during the summer months and its winter carnival, which begins about Christmas time, attracts thousands during the snow period. Preparations are already under way for the season of winter sports this year. There will be skiing, tobogganing, the ice carnival and the sleighrides to historic Lake Donner again this year, and the interest created by the city rinks in skating is expected to add greatly to the number of Truckee visitors.

SALE OF NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER

Assistant District Forester F. E. Ames has today opened bids for the sale of 227,000 feet of timber on the Olympic national forest, Washington. The Packard Logging Company of Seattle was the successful bidder for this timber.
The sale area, which is in unsurveyed Twp. 25 N., R. 3 W., covers two distinct units. One unit embraces about 2,700 acres on the Duckbush watershed and is estimated to contain 110,100,000 feet board measure of Douglas fir, western red cedar, white pine, hemlock, and other species (with 80 per cent Douglas fir); and the other embraces 3,200 acres on the Fulton creek watershed, and is estimated to contain 116,800,000 feet board measure of the above species, with approximately 73 per cent Douglas fir.
The bid prices were as follows: On Unit I, $1.25 per M. for Douglas fir, $2.50 per M. for western red cedar and western white pine, and 50 cents per M. for western hemlock, amabilis fir and other species; on Unit II, $1.40 per M. for Douglas fir, $2.10 per M. for western red cedar, $2.50 per M. for western white pine, and 50 cents per M. for western hemlock, amabilis fir and other species.
The company is to be allowed ten years in which to cut and remove the timber, and rates are to be readjusted every three years.

OREGON 10-HOUR LAW MUST BE REGARDED
Attorneys in the case of Franklin O. Bunting, a mine operator convicted in a case brought to trial to test the constitutionality of the Oregon 10-hour work day law, must reargue their case before the United States supreme court.
This was decided when the court denied a petition by the attorneys of both sides that the case be decided upon printed briefs. The case was argued last term, but it was not decided.
Bunting was convicted of violating the law and the conviction was sustained by the supreme court of Oregon.
AVIATOR STROMER HAS PORTLAND PLANT
G. Stromer, who last year was doing the air stunt in and around St. Helens, has moved his headquarters from Tacoma to Portland, and now has a factory in Portland where he is building airships. A letter to one of his friends here states he will soon have a four-passenger machine finished, and with favorable weather conditions will fly down the river to again meet his St. Helens friends.

FORESTER WILL SELL 20,000 CORDS OF BOLTS

District Forester George H. Ceell, Portland, Oregon, has begun advertisement for bids on a sale of 20,500 cords of shingle bolts on the Washington national forest.
The tract of timber which is put on the market at this time covers 700 acres on Bacon creek, a tributary of the Skagit river, in Twp. 37 N., R. 10 and 11 E., Whatcom county, Washington. The minimum price at which bids will be accepted is $1 per cord. The bolts will be paid for as cut and sealed, in $1,000 to $2,000 deposits, and five years will be allowed for the removal of the entire amount of timber covered by the sale.
Be sure to hear Congressman W. C. Hawley at the city hall Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. His speech will be most interesting.
