Peerless Motor Car Co.

To All Dealers:

For your information we wish to advise that in our experiments and tests here at the factory with our new eight-cylinder car, we have been able to secure uniformly better results with Standard Oil Company's Zerolene motor lubricant than with any other which we have used.

Endorsed by Peerless Motor Car Co.

The above letter sent out from the factory to all Peerless dealers is an unsolicited testimonial to the perfect lubricating qualities of Zerolene. Less wear, more power, least carbon deposit—because correctly refined from California asphalt-base crude.

Dealers everywhere and at our service stations.

Everybody is glad to welcome Valdez White home from Mare Island on a 15-day furlough. He has been an unlucky boy and had to spend some time in a hospital there. We are glad he has so far recovered and hope he will soon be well.

A bunch of our young people remained for the evening train after the fair and put in the time at St. Helens. After lunch Mayor Morton gave them the keys to the city hall and they danced the happy hours away. Thanks to the mayor.

Uncle Silas Crookshanks concluded to take Nancy to the county fair, so they hitched up old roan to the one-hoss wagon with part of a bale of hay and a dinner basket in the back, which Nancy said was the most important thing in the outfit. Si says, "We were as happy as two kids going to a circus. Nancy dressed as girlish as she could and we got our mouths full of gum and started out."

"I thought Nancy was a peach—as purty as when she was a gal. Me and Nancy most laffer to death to see J. G. Watts and Jim Pomeroy thrown balls at a mess of dolls just like two kids. J. G. practices so much ruin' his eye down a strip of calico that he was able to sight good and hit the doll named Kiser. Jim wa'n't so good. You see, he milks kows and hits the pail about half the time and then talks conversation and can't produce enough milk to pay for feed. He fired away in a circle and accidentally hit Von Hindenberg. Then we took a ride on the merry-go-round. 'Most everybody else did. On the ponies ahead sat Walt Pomeroy and Jim McKay; ahead of them on the ponies was Mr. Gochnour and Fred Uhlman. Grant Lynch and Honeyman Ranch Ayershire Smith were a little beyond astride two more ponies. They held to their boot straps to keep their toes off the floor. That shows how men will ride their hobbies. Arter awhile we strolled over to the fortun teller's booth and found Asa Holaday comin' out one door and Prof. Dodson goin' in tuther door. Asa was so pleased and said it was worth his money 'cause she hit the truth—said he was married, had three children and lots of trouble. When Dodson appeared again he looked wise and said: 'Yes, sir, that's right. She says I can't get out of paying my taxes or dying when my time comes, even if I did move 'o Scappoose.'

"Then Clay De Graffe wanted to know his fortune. She told him that it appeared to her she could see far enough ahead to see that he will get married some time to a woman just like Maggy in the Journal's 'Bringing Up Father.' Clay said he hoped she saw a long ways ahead. Then kum Painless Parker, that gives all the other dentists a pain.

Well, Mayor Morton of St. Helens braced up and went up that full of confidence and said, 'Pull 'em all, as the dum things have bothered me long enough.' Painless took hold, braced his feet and out kum a whole set of false teeth. Dr. Blatchford, our popular dentist, said "That looks easy. I have been bothered with a tooth for a long time; guess I'll try him since I can't trust myself to pull it without pain." His legs shook as he took the chair. In a minute he stepped down and said, 'Gosh, it never hurt a bit. I wonder what makes people holler so when I pull their teeth.'"

Again the call goes out to women to register. Because you have all you can do at home is not a reason for not registering. Many resources will be revealed through these cards and as the most we can do is too little let us each one cheerfully do the things we are asked to do by those who are devoting both their time and money to furthering the purposes of the council of defense. Come to the Grange hall on Friday afternoon or call on Mrs. Nina Bush, secretary of the local council, to register.
