CANADA TAKES SOLDIER CENSUS

Dominion Seeks to Learn Number of Discharged Men Wanting Farms

The "back to the land" movement for disabled soldiers in Canada is being handled by the department of soldiers' civil reestablishment through a census of the soldiers with a view to ascertaining their occupations and future ambitions. About 200,000 cards have already been obtained and are being analyzed in order that the government may know the magnitude of the problem.

Among the questions asked of the soldiers were the following: How many men wish to go on the land? In what provinces they wish to settle? How many can go back to positions which are being held open for them? How many have trades or professions? How many wish to return to provinces other than those from which they enlisted? How many are young and single? How many have family ties? How many under each trade heading want to go to each province?

The farm problem is one that has been carefully considered in Canada, but one difficulty has arisen, in the desire of the men to obtain land in fairly well developed communities instead of being shipped into remote places. Most of the land most readily available is owned by railway companies, and one faction in Canadian politics believes that this should be released for the returned soldiers.

"And when I marry your daughter will you settle anything on us?" "I'd like to." "You'd like to?" "Yes, I'd really like to settle the phonograph and the girl's mother on you, my boy."—Yonkers Statesman.

THE CROWN PRINCE WRITES TO PAPA

Sends Special Delivery Letter After Meeting Ignorant Yanks

The following was taken from a newspaper published in France and sent to Nevada relatives by a Nevada doughboy who is now fighting in France:

"On the Run, Somewhere in France. 'Everywhere in France 'All the Time

"Dear Fadder: I am writing on der run, as der brave and glorious soldiers under my command have no, seen der Rhine for so long dat dey have started back dat vay, and of course I am going mit dem. Oh, fadder, der has been some offel dings happened here in France. First I started in my big offensive which was to crush de fool Americans, but dey know so little about military tactics dat dey won't be crushed like I vant 'em. I sent my men in der fight in big waves, and ven dey got to de Americans dey all said 'Boo' as loud as dey could holler. Yell, according to what you have always told me, de Americans should ought to have turned and run like blazes. But vat do you tink! Dem fool Americans don't know anything about war, and instead of running de odder vay, dey came right toward us. Some of dem was singin' 'Ve von't come back till it's over over dere,' or some odder foolish song, and some of dem were laffin' like fools. Dey are so ignorant! But dey are so offel reckless mit dere guns, and ven dey come towards us it vas dat my men took a notion dey wanted to go back to der dear old Rhine. Ve don't like de little dirty Marne river anyway. And oh, fadder, dem Americans use such ofel language. Dey know nothing of kultur, and say such offel dings right before us. And dey talk such blasphemy too. Vot you tink dey said right in front of my face? One big husky from a blace dey call Missouri, he said—oh, fadder, I hate to tell you, vat an offel ting he said, but I can't help it—he said 'To hell mit der kaiser!' Did you ever hear anything so offel? I didn't tink anybody could say such an offel ting. It made me so mad, I wouldn't stand and hear such an offel ting, so I turned around and run mit de odder boys. Vas I right? Vat? And oh, fadder, you know dem breastplates vat you sent us—you can send some to put on our backs? You know we are going de odder vay now, and breastplates are no good for de cowardly Americans are shootin' us right in der back. Some of our boys took der breastplates and put 'em on behind, but der fool Americans are playin' 'De Star Spangled Banner' mit machine guns on dem breastplates. Can't you help us? Yot remember in your speech you said nothing could stand before the brave German soldiers? Oh fadder, I don't believe dese ignorant Americans ever read your speech for dey run after us just like ve vas a lot of rabbits. Vat you tink of dat? Can't you send 'em some of your speeches right away? Dey don't know how terrible ve are. Can't you move my army back to Belgium vere ve von all our glory? My men can vip de vimmen and children vat dem Belgians can bring us. But dese ignorant Americans are so rough. We can't make 'em understand dat ve are the greatest soldiers on earth, and ven ve try to sing 'Deutschland Uber Alles' dey laugh like a lot of monkeys. But ve are getting de best of der Americans. Ve can outrun 'em. Fadder, if ve arn't der best fighters on earth ve arn't der best runners sure. Nobody can keep up mit us ven ve tink of der dear old Rhine, and my army never tink so much of dat dear old river. Let me know right away vat to do by return postoffice."

A stubborn fountain pen has wrecked many a man's train of thought.—St. Paul Dispatch.

The farmer, in common with every good citizen, wants to do his best to help win the war.

A Great Teacher

Said Count Hertling: "War is the greatest possible experience for the nation." You uttered the truth that time, Von! Germany is going to learn a lot from that particular experience. As the colored gentleman remarked, before he was hanged: "Dis am a-gwine to be an awful lesson to dis niggah!"—Buffalo Express.

The dairy cow requires an ounce of salt a day, and while she should be given all she needs, she should not be forced to take more than she wants. It is best, therefore, to give only a small quantity on the feed, and to place rock salt in boxes in the yard.

Sour Stomach

Eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, abstain from meat for a few days and in most cases the sour stomach will disappear. If it does not, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper. Red meats are most likely to cause sour stomach and you may find it best to cut them out.

The Mist is still $1.50 per year.
