FARM NOTES

"There seems to be no good reason why creamery managers and butter makers cannot launch a campaign for better cream," Professor Chappell points out. "I can see no good reason why the country creamery should regularly make poor butter."

Pasteurization is compulsory, and the acidity test and neutralization are open to all, says the report for July. At this season it is necessary for most creameries to neutralize and to do this effectively an acidity test is generally essential. Butter makers who rely on taste or just guess at it often get either a neutralization or a lumpy flavor. Proper neutralization generally eliminates metallic flavor, which cuts down the quality of butter.

An average of 139 dead grasshoppers was counted for each square foot of poisoned area in the upper marsh district of the Klamath agency as a result of the control campaign recently conducted by E. H. Thomas, county agent. Many sick hoppers were also found throughout the area. The farmers who spread the poison were mostly stockmen whose came so nearly cleaning up the district that they have planned to begin early next year, and complete the job.

Homes Lack Running Water

Of 550 farm homes reported in the O. A. C. home demonstration survey 402 had no running water in the house, but carried it an average distance of 36 feet. That calls for traveling 72 feet for one bucket of water. The homes have no sink and the water has to be carried out again, perhaps about as far. The practice may make good walkers of the women but it also boasts the high price of shoes.
