Arthur Lund tested his new car over the Mist hill. His objective point was Vernonia where it is stated he goes occasionally to spend a few hours with one of Warren's former roushuda.

"He Jacot Jim." Here lies poor Jim, would be an appropriate sign on the warehouse store that is now in the hands of the auditors. Another monument to the failure of the farmers to stick together.

The members of the Swedish Lutheran church are building a new parsonage for the recently selected minister. When completed it will be one of the fine residences of Warren. The land was donated by C. J. Larson who is now traveling in Europe and Asia.

Many of the farmers have completed their seeding and are longing for a change of weather to bring forth the crops. The cold rains have done much to retard the pollinization of fruit as the bees do not work in cold damp weather and the fruit crop does not promise a heavy return this year.

VERNONIA

Arthur Lund of Warren spent Sunday in Vernonia.

Anabel and Naomi Sparkman spent a week end in Portland.

Shooley transacted business in Vernonia on Saturday.

Much interest was manifested in the $1 club social Friday evening. Fifty dollars was realized from the affair, which was in charge of Mrs. MacDonald. Mrs. L. G. Smith baked a very fine cake, and sold per slice, to earn her dollar. The slices were auctioned and the ten slices netted $17.00. An enjoyable program was rendered. Refreshments were served and a real good time enjoyed.

The community was greatly shocked upon learning of the death of Mr. Charles Soder. Mr. Soder was engaged in pulling stumps on his home-stand when the end came off the swing-tree, letting it swing back and striking him causing a punctured bowel. He was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, operated on and regained consciousness, but owing to the shock and weakness he died Thursday. He is survived by his wife and three children, a son at home, Washington high, and Bertha, attending high school at Scappoose, also two brothers, Victor Soder of Tacoma, Wash., and John Soder, residing in the east. The funeral was held Monday from the Pearson parlors, Portland. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to this family in their bereavement.

Friday afternoon, April 22, was a red-letter day for the Women's Benefit association. A visit of inspection and for congratulations was planned by Mrs. Pauline Moore Riley, state commander of Oregon, and Mrs. Mary M. Krill, commander Portland live work done by the local lodge by which they secured a state banner. Mrs.

Minnie W. Aydelotte, deputy supreme commander of Oakland, Cal., was a guest of honor, No. 7 of Portland was represented by Mrs. Riley, Chambers Wilson, Little, Campbell, Coombs, Schuit, Baker, Negelspach, Portland No. 17 was represented by Mrs. Gladden, Marsh, Bryon, commander of Golden Rule, Mrs. Evans, Ketchum and Mrs. Berry. The ritualistic and drill work was exemplified by ladies from No. 7. The address of the supreme commander in which she outlined the work for the coming three years and described the national meeting at Los Angeles, was eloquent, witty and well received. A delicious luncheon was served and livened by toasts, roasts, songs and fortune telling. The departing guests were unanimous in voting this local live, one of the best and liveliest in the whole state, and the day was one to be long remembered.

Our principal of schools, Mr. Hargett, has recovered from his recent illness and is working very diligently to bring the pupils up to his standard of what school work should be.

Each Sunday at 10 a. m. a few faithful men, women and children gather for Sunday school at the school house. Parents, you and your children should be there. It is undenominational and every creed is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Barker suffered financial loss from an early morning fire last Saturday morning. 2500 little chicks, 3000 eggs just placed in incubators, new brooder and incubator house, and other things of value were destroyed. The loss is between $2500 and $3000 with no insurance.

The ladies of the Beaver Homes grange were guests of the men at a banquet last Saturday evening. The banquet was a delicious repast even if the men did cook and serve it. Of course, the ladies enjoyed the sight of their husbands washing dishes, while they chatted with their neighbors. Dancing and cards made the remainder of the evening pass pleasantly. Mrs. H. Wasser was asked to represent our grange on some official business in Portland, and will visit the metropolis Saturday.

The Warren Warehouse

To the Editor:

There seems to be a desire on the part of a correspondent to the Mist and Portland papers to air their grudges on some of the members of the Warren Grange and Warehouse association who differ from them in opinion, in a smooth and under-handed way. As I had no part in the management of the warehouse at any time, I wish to say that I voice the sentiment of most of them who understand the situation when I say that:

The business was in such condition when the management a year ago took it over that it was almost impossible to save it. and had there not been a change in management at that time there would not have been any management the past year on whom to lay the blame.

L. E. GULKER, A Stockholder

Ed. Note.—Replying to the statement of Stockholder, the Mist assumes responsibility for items appearing under the regular correspondence columns. It does not assume any responsibility for what appears in Portland papers, even though the correspondent for the Portland papers might also be the correspondent for this paper. After a careful perusal of the columns of the Mist for some months back, we are unable to find any item which warrants the statement of "Stockholder." On the contrary, much booster news has been printed as to the Warren Co-Operative Warehouse Association which many papers would have considered as pay matter. The Mist carried it, however, as news, hoping that it could help its many farmer friends and subscribers, who were interested financially in the defunct concern.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the beautiful flowers and for your kind sympathies during our great sorrow.
