OREGON DOESN'T GET PATRONAGE SHARE

Entitled to 324 Federal Civil Service Jobs, Oregonians Are Actually Drawing Pay for Only 166.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Oregon is an example of the state which does not get all the civil service jobs in Washington to which it is entitled. In a set of figures compiled by Senator Willis of Ohio, to silence the cry that Ohio is getting more government jobs than it is entitled to, Oregon is shown as having 166 and being entitled to 324.

Ohio is entitled to 2388 and has only 1555. On the other hand, the District of Columbia, which is only entitled to 181 jobs, has on the payroll 11,824. The same failure to get its quota is true of every other Western state.

Oregon and other Western senators and congressmen say it is due to the fact that the small salaries and indoor work do not appeal to the people of Oregon and the West.
