GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM TOBACCO

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER FROM STATE CAPITOL

SALEM, Or., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Dr. R. E. L. Steiner, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane, will place before the state board of control shortly a proposal to construct a ward for criminally insane at the state penitentiary.

J. S. Landers, well known Western educator, who has held important positions in Oregon, has been chosen by the board of regents of the state normal school at Monmouth as president of the school to succeed the late

J. H. Ackerman. The board previously had elected Dr. Fred C. Ayer of Seattle, but he declined.

Governor Olcott has appointed Judge John McCourt, of Portland, as a member of the state supreme court to succeed Judge Charles A. John. Judge Robert S. Tucker, who was first appointed to fill the vacancy, has declined to accept. The appointment of Walter H. Evans, of Portland, to fill the vacancy in the circuit court bench in Multnomah county and of Stanley Myers to take Mr. Evans' place as district attorney, will stand as first announced.

George A. White, adjutant general and members of the world war veterans' state aid commission, and Lyman G. Rie, of Pendleton, also a member of the commission, are visiting American Legion posts throughout the state.

The state board of control has awarded contracts for the installation of a new electric passenger elevator in the state capitol and a new electric freight elevator in the supreme court building.

Douglas County Taxpayers' league is making an effort to eliminate the county educational board and the school supervisor system, according to information reaching the office of J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of schools.

Proceedings have been filed with the supreme court by the grievance committee of the Lane County Bar association of Leon R. Edmunson, of Eugene. His whereabouts is unknown to Lane county authorities, who want him on a charge of violating the prohibition law.

Construction of the new state training school for boys, will be deferred until spring, so that weather will not interfere with the building work after it has been started.

O. P. Hoff, state treasurer, has delivered to the United States National bank in Portland state highway bonds aggregating $2,000,000. They were sold at a recent meeting of the state board of control, bringing $2,007,822.

The Shell Oil company of California has remitted to the secretary of state $5476.81, covering the tax on the company's sales of gasoline and distillate during July. A check for $77,711.78, covering a similar tax, has been received from the Standard Oil company.

Because of the lack of available airplanes, the state forestry department is considering abandoning the airplane forestry patrol in Oregon.

Governor Olcott has appointed O. Middlekauff, of Corvallis, as district attorney for Benton county to succeed Arthur Clark, resigned.

The Ochoce irrigation district has filed with the state irrigation securities commission an application for the certification of an additional bond issue of $75,000. The money will be used to make repairs necessitated by a recent storm. Previously $1,250,000 in bonds has been certified for the district.

Enrollment in the school of Douglas county during the last school year was 4566, against 4290 the previous year, according to a report of O. C. Brown, Douglas county superintendent to J. A. Churchill, state superintendent.

Frank A. Turner, state tax commissioner, has written the heads of public utilities in Oregon asking them to call at his office in Salem within the next few weeks to discuss the valuations of their properties.

Polk county complainants against the state highway commission, in which they seek to hold up construction of roads in that county, must prepare an amended answer, according to a ruling of Judge Percy R. Kelly. The court upheld a motion by the state that the complaint be made more definite and certain.

T. A. Rafferty, chief state traffic inspector, has left for Coos county, where he is making a personal investigation of traffic conditions.

SERVING DESSERTS

The serving of desserts has, in many instances, become more of a habit than a necessity and many modern home-makers are omitting them.

Salad with crackers and cheese, a few salted nuts and coffee are considered sufficient. If desserts are served, remember that light ones should follow heavy dinners and heavy desserts should follow light dinners.

Fresh pineapple, oranges or bananas cut up and served with plain cake or Japanese rice cakes make a very acceptable dessert and one easy to prepare.

These same fruits, mixed with mayonnaise and the addition of a few white grapes and chopped nuts, make a good fruit salad. Apple cake, apple roll or baked apples with cream are good when homemade and well seasoned.

Especially does the fruit roll have many possibilities, whether it be an apple roll, orange roll, raisin roll or currant rolls.

A baking powder biscuit mixture, rolled out on a floured board to a quarter inch thickness is the foundation. This is then spread with the sliced apples, sections of oranges, or washed raisins or currants.

After spreading with sugar and butter it is rolled like a jelly roll, and either baked whole or cut in sections and baked in muffin pans. A well seasoned fruit sauce or cream should accompany a fruit roll.

Any filling which has been cooked like stewed prunes apricot jam or preserves may also be used to vary the flavor of the fruit roll. The fruit should be drained, using the solid portions in the roll and the juice for the sauce.

CHRONOLOGY OF TARIFF BILLS DURING LAST THIRTY YEARS

WASHINGTON.—There is considerable speculation regarding the length of time it will require for the Senate to act upon the Fordney Tariff bill which passed the House July 21st. All estimates are merely guesses.

There is only one way to approximate the time the Senate will require on the tariff and that is by comparison with the length of time it has taken previous tariff legislation to go through the Senate. For all who are interested in this, the following chronology of the tariff legislation of the past thirty years may be of interest:

McKinley Tariff: reported to the House, May 21; referred to Senate House, May 21; referred to Senate Finance Committee, May 23; passed Senate, September 10th; approved by the president, October 6th, 1890.

Wilson Tariff: reported to the House, December 19, 1893; passed House, February 1st, 1895; referred to Senate Finance Committee, February 2nd; passed Senate, July 3rd; became a law August 15th, 1894, without the signature of President Cleveland, who refused to approve it but did not veto it.

Dingley Tariff: reported to House, March 18th, 1897; passed House, March 31st; referred to Senate Finance Committee, April 1st; passed Senate, July 7th; approved by the President, July 24th, 1897.

Spanish-American War Tariff: reported to House, March 25, 1898; passed House, March 29th; referred to Senate Finance Committee, May 2nd; passed the Senate, June 4th; approved by the President, June 13, 1898.

Payne-Aldrich Law: reported to House, March 17th, 1909; passed the House, April 9th; referred to Senate Finance Committee, April 10th; passed the Senate July 8th; approved by the President, August 5th, 1909.

Underwood Tariff: reported to the House, March 21st, 1913; passed House, May 8th; referred to the Senate Finance Committee, May 16th; passed Senate September 9th; approved by the President, October 3, 1913.

Kitchen Law: reported to the House, July 1st, 1916; passed the House, July 10th; referred to the Senate Finance Committee, July 11th; passed Senate, September 5th; approved by the President, September 8th, 1916.

War Income Tax and Revenue Bill: reported to House, May 11th, 1917; passed by House May 23rd; referred to Senate Finance Committee, May 25th; passed Senate September 10th; approved by President, October 3rd, 1917.

War Revenue Bill, No. 2: reported to House, September 3rd, 1918; passed House, September 20th; referred to Senate Finance Committee, September 21st; passed Senate December 23rd, 1918; held without President's signature until his first return from Paris when he approved the bill, February 24th, 1919.

The chronology of the Fordney tariff bill to date is as follows: reported to House, June 29th, 1921; passed the House, July 21st; referred to Senate Finance Committee, July 23rd.
