

SEVENTEEN COUNTIES
EXHIBITED AT FAIR

Jackson County Took First Place and
Coos Second—Lake Exhibit
Was Remarkable.

The 1921 state fair officially closed its gates on October 1 with a record attendance. Visitors were unanimous in assertions that this year's fair was the best of its kind they have seen. The attendance was 125,000, an increase of 30,000 over the best previous year.

The county exhibits as usual attracted a large share of the attention of visitors. The number and quality of these county exhibits were unusual. Seventeen different counties competed. The scores given each county by the judges are as follows: Jackson, 96; Coos, 93; Douglas, 83; Tillamook, 86; Polk, 86; Lake, 86; Lane, 85; Hood River, 84; Clackamas, 82; Union, 81; Washington, 78; Morrow, 78; Columbia, 76; Marion, 75; Yamhill, 68; Wasco, 68; Malheur, 66.

The Lake county exhibit scored the highest among the counties of Eastern Oregon, a remarkable showing when it is considered that the exhibit was transported by stage 210 miles from Lakeview to Bend and was shipped from the latter point by rail.

The exhibits from Jackson, Coos, Lake, Union, Tillamook, and Wasco counties were prepared by and were in charge of the county agents from those counties.

COLUMBIA HIGH SCHOOL ACCREDITED

Five schools in Columbia county—those at Clatskanie, Rainier, Scappoose, St. Helens and Vernonia—have courses of study of such a high grade and taught with such efficiency that they are accredited by the University of Oregon. Vernonia, though a small school is well known at the university because it was this school that first used educational moving pictures furnished by the extension division. The principal drove a Ford alongside a window and thus furnished with illumination provided moving pictures for his students and his community.

To be admitted to the freshman class of the University of Oregon a student must have completed a four-year high school course or its equivalent, requiring not less than 15 units of work. The term "unit" means the equivalent of five recitations per week of not less than 40 minutes each, in one branch of study, for a school year of not less than 36 weeks. Considering these high requirements it is a distinct honor for a high school to be on the University accredited list.

Although there are more than two hundred high schools in the state, only 177 are accredited by the university.

The University of Oregon makes the following specific requirements. Three units of English, one unit each algebra, plane geometry, history and science, two units of one foreign language, an addition unit of any of these and five units in elected subjects. But it is recommended that in electives significant amounts of each subject be taken, not just a little of several subjects, which is described as buttering your bread too thin.

APPLE CULTURE IN THE NORTHWEST

Apple culture in the Northwest is no longer an infant industry but a full-fledged giant of the commercial world, according to Manly B. Haynes secretary of the Pacific Northwest Fruit Exposition, which is to be held at the Bell Street Terminal in Seattle, from November 21 to 26.

"Figures which we have prepared for use at the exposition demonstrate this fact," Mr. Haynes declared today, "and a glance at them should be sufficient to convince one that apple culture is on as firm a basis as could be imagined.

"Our report indicates that, while the number of apple trees bearing fruit has shown a tremendous increase in the last ten years in Washington, Oregon and Idaho, the number of non-bearing trees has shown an even greater decrease.

"This can have but one meaning—that the existing orchards of the three states are now fully stocked, and young trees are only being put out for replacement purposes. In other words, the industry has passed through the formative period, and is now on a basis of maximum efficiency—but not of maximum production, as there is still ample potential orchard land in all three of the states.

"To be specific, there were 3,999,337 bearing apple trees in Washington in 1919 as against 7,964,167 in 1920, while the number of non-bearing trees dropped in the same period from 4,862,792 to 755,858. In Oregon there were 2,929,513 bearing trees in 1919 and 3,315,993 in 1920, while the number of non-bearing trees decreased from 2,246,636 to 509,322. In Idaho there were 1,095,568 bearing trees in 1919 and 2,380,523 in 1920, while there were 1,639,896 non-bearing trees in 1919 as against 144,988 in 1920."

RANDOM OBSERVATIONS

This isn't a country publisher talking, but the editor of a farm paper: The metropolitan daily will bring to one's doorstep the news of the world seen through the spectacles of the city editor, but it is the editor who lives in the heart of the community who is able to reflect the sentiment of the local group. He alone is the true interpreter of events as they affect the small town and the farming community that immediately surrounds the town.

Makes Birth Record

The mortality of infants under 1 year of age for 1920 in England was only 50 per 1000 births. This is a record.
