

THE OREGON MIST.

SUBSCRIPTION, $1.50 PER YEAR.

St. Helens, October 30, 1891.

The business men, especially those who have real estate to dispose of, in Columbia county, who expect any portion of the immigration to this coast in 1892 to find their way down into this county, should commence at once to advertise the resources of the county. Steps in this direction cannot be commenced too soon. There will be a large immigration to Oregon next year, and the sooner we commence to place our abundant resources and advantages before the people of the East and South the larger the result will be. More people is what Columbia county is sadly in need of. Every man, whether in business or not, if he will stop to think, will readily realize the necessity of something being done along this line. We have more good land subject to homestead entry than any other county in the state; we have over sixty miles of frontage on the Columbia river, with all fishing privileges; we have coal and iron deposits, large bolts of the very best fir and cedar timber, can produce large yields of all vegetables and fruits not especially adapted to the tropical climates, and above all a ready market for all farm products with cheap transportation rates by river or rail to reach this market. All these facts properly laid before the people of the East would be the means of thousands finding their way to Columbia county, and when once here it would be an easy matter to keep them here.

The United States is, from all appearances, liable to have her hands full in this Chilean matter. Chili is encouraged just enough over her late victory, considering the hot-headedness of her people, to engage in a war with the whole world. But in the present difficulty between the United States and Chili there are a number of conflicting influences being brought to bear, all of which tend to encourage the Chileans. Although they are a small nation in number, yet they have a navy fully able to compete with the United States, because it is composed of the entire navies of both factions in that country during the rebellion just ended, and in addition they have had vessels built in France since the war, which are of the latest improved equipment. In addition to her own strength Chili has the sympathy of the greater portion of Europe, including England and Italy, the latter being especially bitter against the United States because of the New Orleans lynching last spring. This is, beyond doubt, the most serious difficulty the United States has had to handle for many years.

There is a vast quantity of the despised hemlock in certain parts of Washington. The word despised is used advisedly, however, for in this country already is hemlock beginning to be used—not for lumber, but for extracting the tannin in it so much prized by tanners. In Pennsylvania hemlock tracts are much sought after, and it is in that state one of the most valuable woods. In Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, where hemlock is only used, through necessity, for lumber, it is much despised. It is not supposed that hemlock will ever be used in Washington as lumber, for there is too much fir and spruce, but that it will be utilized by the tanner is beyond question. This state possesses the only hemlock belt of any consequence on the Pacific coast, and therefore will naturally become the center of the tanning trade. There is already one large tanning factory on the Sound, which is coining money, and it is only a question of time when other factories will be started.—Lumberman.

One of the evidences, says the Puget Sound Lumberman, of the beginning of a new era among the lumbermen of the Sound is the establishment by several mill men, of yards in the agricultural districts. This is the beginning of an extensive yard system, which in future years will solve the question of a market for Puget sound lumber. When the yards are extended into the neighboring states the lumber industry will flourish like a green bay tree.

Spare From Oregon Pine.

Spare of Oregon pine are to be put into the United States cruiser Philadelphia, now being overhauled at the Brooklyn navy yard, replacing the steel ones now in use. The three steel masts now in use in the Philadelphia weigh upwards of twenty eight tons, and cost over $25,000, while the pine masts will weigh about two tons and cost less than $500. The lower masts are Oregon yellow pine sticks, twenty inches in diameter and sixty feet long. The topmasts are each ten inches in diameter and thirty feet long. Steel masts have been given a thorough trial and the return to wooden spars by the navy means a great deal for the prosperity of timber owners on the Pacific coast, whose forests are vast reserves of timber particularly adapted for that purpose.—The Timberman.

THE CHILIAN AFFAIR.

Reparation Must Be Made for the Outrage at Once.

The United States Government is Determined to Protect Her Subjects Abroad.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The Chilean difficulty seems to be the sensation of the hour. The administration is receiving assurances from various parts of the country—that its position is warmly endorsed by the American people without regard to political or other considerations. Here in Washington there is no abatement of interest in the outcome of the affair. At the navy department every item of news that has even a remote connection with the difficulty is eagerly read. Many officers are more or less in Secretary Tracy's confidence, and all of their utterances support the belief that the government, so far as the navy department is concerned, is thoroughly in earnest in securing satisfaction for the murder of the Baltimore's sailors. At the state department the affair is discussed in a more subdued but no less earnest manner. One of the under officers, a man who is noted for his hard common sense and careful conservatism, said today:

"I have not seen an administration so determined before for a long number of years. It means business. I am not prepared to say that war will result. Personally, I don't think it will, but we are going to have a fitting apology for the assault on our sailors and proper punishment for the men engaged in the assault. I think these demands will be granted. If the Chilean junta is wise, it will not only grant them, but grant them quickly. I know what I am saying when I tell you that both President Harrison and Secretary Blaine are greatly outraged at the occurrence, and are in no mood for trifling. The death of Coalheaver Turnbull, one of the six sailors injured in the affray, has intensified the administration's bitterness against the Chilean ruffians who engaged in the attack."

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The telegram which was sent by the president's order to Minister Egan the 23d inst., after reciting the facts of the assault on the Baltimore's sailors and the result of Captain Schley's investigation, says:

"You will observe the board of officers selected by Captain Schley to investigate this affair report our sailors were unarmed and gave no provocation; that the assault upon them was by armed men, greatly superior in numbers, and, as we must conclude, animated in their bloody work by a hostility to these men as sailors of the United States. You will also notice that the character of some of the wounds indicate the public police, or some of them, took part in the attack; and you will also observe that other American sailors were, without apparent fault, arrested and for some time held by the authorities. The friendly efforts of a few of the police officers to give succor to our men furnishes the only redeeming incident of this affair. This cruel work, so injurious to the United States took place the 16th inst., and yet no expression of regret, or of the purpose to make a searching inquiry with a view of the institution of proper proceedings for punishment of the guilty parties have been, so far as I am advised, offered to this government. You will at once bring to the attention of the government of Chili the facts reported to you by Captain Schley, and you will inquire whether there are any qualifying facts in possession of that government, or any explanation to be offered of an event that has very deeply pained the people of the United States, not only by reason of the resulting death of some of our sailors, and the pitiless wounding of others, but even more as an apparent expression of unfriendliness towards this government, which might put in peril the maintenance of the amicable relations between the two countries. If the facts are as reported by Captain Schley, this government cannot doubt that the government of Chili will offer prompt and full reparation. You will furnish the foreign office a full paraphrase of this dispatch and report promptly to this government."

DEMAND ANSWERED.

SANTIAGO, Chili, Oct. 28.—The Chilean government has replied to Minister Egan's demand for an explanation for the recent attack upon the American sailors. The reply is couched in very strong language, and it is understood it amounts to a refusal to accept the responsibility for the affair. The state department at Washington has been Poison in the Kitchen.

No article entering so generally into the food of every household is so generally and villainously adulterated as baking powder. These adulterated powders are shoved upon the public with the greatest persistency. Throbbing advertisements in newspapers claiming this brand or that is absolutely pure, backed by analyses and certificates, and yet they are adulterated with ammonia or alum. It is to be hoped the law will take hold of these merciless manufacturers and punish them for destroying the stomachs of the unsuspecting consumer. Amid all this fraud and deceit Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder stands almost alone battling for pure food and continues to furnish a pure cream of tartar powder at almost the same cost to the people as the ammonia and alum powders are sold at, yet it costs much more to manufacture. Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is of the highest strength. It produces the largest amount of leavening power attainable in a pure baking powder. It is free from ammonia or any other adulteration. No powder does such work. Housewives who have tested all use Dr. Price's only.

notified. Minister Egan, Commander Schley and Consul McCroery are consulting together, and it is thought decisive action will be taken soon. The state department's orders in reference to the matter are very strong. The intendente of Valparaiso has refused to guarantee safety to the market boats coming to that city early in the morning from the United States war ship Baltimore, or the safety of the officers of the vessel coming ashore at night. There is a practical boycott on the Baltimore. No American sailors are allowed ashore.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28, 1891. Secretary Blaine's return to Washington is a terrible blow to the writers of sensational rot about him and his intentions who have been sending out daily imaginary story one week only to be contradicted by a similar one the next week. This class of writers have pretended to think that Mr. Blaine was acting in a very mysterious manner because he would not take them into his confidence regarding his plans. Mr. Blaine is well acquainted with these newspaper jackals; they have lied about him for so many years that he has about gotten used to it by this time, nevertheless it must be a source of much pleasure to him to know that his return to Washington, in the face of many positive statements from these people that he would not do so, has resulted in a temporary cessation of their labors to convince the people, that they knew more about his intentions than he did. However, the cessation is only temporary. In a few days these same people will be telling detailed stories about why Mr. Blaine returned, etc. Meanwhile Mr. Blaine will quietly pick up the threads of his work and resume his pleasant personal and official relations with the president and his colleagues in the cabinet.

The president is deeply interested in the state campaign now going on, and though personal friends in the several states he manages to keep thoroughly posted on them all. He has never had a doubt about the election of McKinley and a republican legislature in Ohio, and he believes that Iowa, New York and Massachusetts will go republican, unless something unforeseen shall occur to cause a change in the sentiments of the voters in those states between now and the day of election. This belief is based on information which he has received from unbiased sources, and not merely upon his hopes.

Secretary Foster did not get off to Ohio until Tuesday night of this week. He will make ten speeches in the campaign, the last one the day before election. Just before getting on the train he said: "I think the majority for Major McKinley will exceed the normal republican majority of the state. It will be between 20,000 and 30,000, probably nearer the latter. Of the 107 members of the legislature we shall elect at least sixty, and of the thirty senators we will get about twenty. The democratic shenanigans of a rupture between Foraker and Sherman are not helping that party, as the people of Ohio know that no such fight exists outside of the columns of democratic newspapers."

The United States supreme court has designated the first Monday in December for the hearing of arguments in the Nebraska governorship case, Boyd vs. Thayer. General O. O. Howard, in his annual report as commander of the Department of the East, follows precedent and devotes much space to detailing the necessity for better coast defenses. It will seemingly take an actual hostile demonstration from some foreign nation to awaken congress to the danger of the present condition of our coasts and harbors. Then it may be too late.

General Ramm is at his desk in the pension office and says that he has not resigned. But that does not prevent it being positively stated by men who usually know what they are talking about that if he has not actually resigned he has informed the president of his desire to retire and his resignation will be tendered as soon as the right man to succeed him can be found. The name of Governor Steele, who has just resigned from the governorship of Oklahoma, has been mentioned in this connection, but there appears to be nothing known about it among his friends here.

Things move a little slowly in official circles, particularly those connected with international affairs. Although it was known some days ago that Italy had removed the prohibitive restrictions upon the importations of American pork, it was not until Wednesday of this week that the official notification of that fact was received by our state department.

Some enemies of Washington are evidently engaged in circulating stories about extortion to be practiced during the G. A. R. encampment here next year for the purpose of trying to keep people away from the encampment. Mr. J. J. Edson, one of our most prominent business men, a member of the G. A. R., and chairman of the encampment committee, requests all comrades to aid him in spreading the information that his committee is prepared to guarantee that his committee or individual who wishes to attend the encampment simple accommodations at prices which shall be entirely satisfactory in every respect. He invites correspondence from those desiring information or to engage accommodations.
