The leap year party at the Masonic hall on Friday night last was a grand success, as all testify who were present.

Commissioner Barrow's smiling countenance was seen on our streets Monday, having been called here on county matters.

Mr. B. O. Blood, one of Clatskanie's enterprising sawmill men, was a caller at THE MIST office Tuesday last.

Misses Emily Cox and Tillie Muckle left last Monday to attend school at the St. Mary's Academy, in Portland. They will be greatly missed by their many friends here, and we all wish them success in their new undertaking.

Following the advice of last week's MIST, Mrs. Mary Brain, of Seacoochee, availed herself of the opportunity which is only afforded every four years—leap year—and took to herself a husband, Mr. Stephen Haines being the fortunate individual. The ceremony was pronounced by Judge D. J. Switzer in the law office of Moore & Cole. THE MIST extends congratulations. Young ladies, take notice.

Many years practice have given C. A. Snow & Co., Solicitors of Patents, at Washington, D. C., unsurpassed success in obtaining patents for all classes of inventions. They make a specialty of rejected cases, and have secured allowance of many patents that had been previously rejected. Their advertisement in another column, will be of interest to inventors, patentees, manufacturers, and all who have to do with patents.

A very distinct earthquake was felt here Wednesday night at about 8:30 o'clock. Although no damage has yet been reported it is believed to have been the hardest shock for many years. Windows rattled, children were awakened from their sleep and even men and women ran from their houses terrified with fright. The shock lasted for several seconds. It is believed that the shock came from the vicinity of Mount St. Helens.

Mr. W. D. Connell of Deer Island, is erecting a large barn to take the place of the one that was destroyed by fire several months ago. The new structure will be 163x86, the main building two stories high with sheds on each side, all standing up off the ground. When completed it will have a capacity for 200 tons of hay and stall room enough for 130 head of stock. This will be the largest and best barn in Columbia county. Mr. A. H. George is the architect.

Mr. Josiah Weston has started an enterprise about three miles above Hainier, in the shape of a logging and wood business. He proposes to use a tramway instead of a skidroad. He has negotiated for a large amount of timber, built messhouses, shop and stables, has graded a large portion of the road, including a considerable amount of blasting at a place about one mile below Danby, called Big Eddy, or dead man's Eddy. (Here the fisherman's war was.) He has his tram-cars partly built, and will probably employ a good many hands when spring comes and the weather becomes more settled. He has also got out a large amount of split cedar stuff for corduroying his tram-road.

Some person signing themselves "Bartolomaeus," in last week's Chief, attempts to criticize this paper for publishing a communication from "Subscriber" of two weeks ago, in which said "Subscriber" found fault with the methods of the Clatskanie city council. Whether or not the communication referred to was founded upon facts we are not able to say; neither have we the time to investigate them. Mr. "Bartolomaeus" criticizes "Subscriber's" empty-headedness, and says the people should not be afflicted with such a nauseous dish of twaddle that does not concern them in the least; and in the same article claims that he is a disinterested party. Then why, if he is not interested, does he show his freshness in this matter. So far as empty-headedness is concerned we are of the opinion "Bartolomaeus" is not overflawing. This fact was plainly apparent immediately after the adjournment of the last grand jury if all reports are true, and they have not yet been disputed. So far as publishing "Subscriber's" communication is concerned we wish it understood that every man is entitled to a fair hearing on all matters of public moment through THE MIST's columns. These columns are always open to a fair discussion of important topics.

Further particulars have been received of the family quarrel and murder which occurred at Herford's logging camp, about three miles north of Castle Rock Sunday night. James Herford, who had been at Olequa, came home drunk as did also his brother Gillman, who had been at that place. James arrived at his father's home before Gillman and threatened to whip him as soon as he arrived. He even started down the railroad track to meet him, but was persuaded to return home by his father. Gillman soon arrived in company with Mr. Hyatt, better known as "Carolina." A quarrel took place between the two brothers, and the youngest, Gillman, placed a revolver against his brother's breast and fired the ball entering the left side near the heart. He died in about twenty minutes. The only words he spoke were to Mr. Hyatt, saying: "Carolina, I am shot. I'll die, too. Send for the doctor." Young Herford was arraigned before Judge Brown at that place and waived examination and was held to appear before the superior court now in session at Kalama. He claims self-defense.

The English ship Fenale went ashore at about 3 o'clock Friday morning near the entrance to Gray's Harbor in a dense fog. The ship was bound for Portland and arrived off the mouth of the Columbia on Sunday before, but was unable to get a tug, consequently she was compelled to lay out at sea until such time as she could secure a tug to come in. On Friday night a heavy gale commenced blowing and before morning the good ship was a complete wreck in the breakers. The captain, Blair, and twelve of his men were lost, including the first and second mates, and steward. Only five of the crew were saved, and they were dragged unconscious from the surf by a lone woman, the only person witnessing the wreck. Two of the crew have since been washed ashore and buried, while the remainder are no one knows where. It is yet thought that some of the missing may be saved.

Captain Day, who has charge of the crew of men who are getting out brush at Reuben for the improvement of the channel at Walker's island informs us that the work is progressing splendidly, that they can get any amount of good brush at Reuben and handy of access. He has a crew of about forty men at work all the time in this work. The improvement is furnished by the city of Portland through the Chamber of Commerce, and not by the government, as most people suppose. The contractor, Mr. P. Hinkle, of Portland is doing all in his power to push the work ahead as fast as possible, and contrary to expectation, he is having very little difficulty in securing plenty of piling, stone, brush, etc. for the construction of the dyke. Mr. Day, who is superintendent of the brush department, is jubilant over their success so far.

Road survey No. 67, known as the Joseph White road, beginning at Wilford Miller's place on the Clatskanie and running from there in a westerly course to the Nehalem road from St. Helens to Pittsburg, was surveyed this week. Viewers, Fowler, Hendricks and Miller report that a good road can be obtained at a reasonable expense. When opened it will make a much shorter and better route between the Nehalem and Columbia rivers, as it leaves Banker Hill out entirely.

The new boat being built in Portland for the Shaver brothers to run on the Clatskanie route was launched Wednesday morning last at 10:30 o'clock and went into the Willamette flying the American flag and Union Jack. When she struck the water the flag bearing the new steamer's name upon it was unfurled to the breeze. She was christened the Sarah Dixon, that being the maiden name of Mrs. G. W. Shaver. The new steamer will be ready for business about March 1.

John Pringle, of Veronia, made final proof on his homestead before Clerk Quick Wednesday. His witnesses were Sigel Wickerson and William Mellinger.

Messrs. W. H. Braden and Dave Davis, of the Nehalem Journal, were welcome visitors at this office Wednesday last.

Remember Swager will sell as cheap as any store in town. All first class groceries. One price to all. No Jewing.

Mr. Will Woodard of the Sunday Welcome was in St. Helens, Wednesday.

Mrs. Hanagan, of Gilton, was a pleasant caller at this office on Wednesday last.

Mr. J. B. Doan, of Rainier, was at the county seat Tuesday.

PITTSBURG. Nature is blessing us with fine weather at present.

A H Powell and others are making good use of the fine weather in the way of clearing land. That's right, get ready for an early spring.

Some of the young people talk of attending the masquerade ball at Seacoochee on the 15th inst. We wish them a pleasant time.

La grippe is quite common with us at late.

Rumors say that the ladies of this place are going to give a leap year party. Who would have thought it! Some of the boys say they do not think they will attend. Us.

BRUCEPORT. Joseph DeRoos spent Monday last in South Bend.

H. J. Wiegard, of Bruceport, has gone to Bay Center on business.

The Messrs. Anna and Julia DeRoos paid Mrs. Mary Clark a pleasant visit last Sunday.

CLATSKANIE NEWS.

A. M. Tichenor, our mayor, spent most of last week in Portland. We are happy to note that the peace and dignity of the city was maintained during his absence.

Grant Jones and wife were over from Beaver on Monday. Mrs. Jones took the opportunity to get rid of an offender, in the shape of an aching tooth.

Mention of an aching tooth reminds us that we once had a resident dentist in the village, who went to Mist on a short vacation and has failed to return up to this time. It is rumored that at the country about Mist gives greater range for his abilities and ambitions, and that dentistry is only one of his many accomplishments. May fame and fortune attend his efforts.

A. F. Myers, of the Central hotel, and proprietor of the shoe store and repair shop of the village, made a business trip to Portland this week.

E. C. Blackford, of The Chief, is having a new dwelling house built on an elevated site, and when occupied will afford him a good opportunity to look out over the town and gather locals for the paper.

Strains of music from Conyers' hall indicating band practice, are heard quite regularly three evenings each week. The band is making commendable progress, and it's members are trying to furnish good music.

The writing school, under Mr. Higgin's tuition, closed last Friday evening.

The members of the school board are casting about a little for school house designs to be ready to begin building in the early spring time.

Steam escaping from the engine of Bryans and Conway's steam saw mill indicates that work is going on again, after a brief interruption caused by a scarcity of logs.

Our jeweler, C. R. Higgins, has packed his grip again and left us, having got the pressing and getting into the new pieces put to rights again. He expects everything to run smoothly during his absence.

Frank Merrill's property is being greatly improved in appearance, by the new paling fence being now built around the lot and the grading done inside.

Talking of improvements suggests that W. E. Conyers is getting his property in good shape by fencing and otherwise improving about his new residence. Will intends to have the place look attractive, which is a laudable ambition on his part. There is an opportunity for him to spend his evenings and mornings for a time in clearing off the ground he has fenced in, part of which is not yet free from stumps. A little work of that kind is an excellent thing in the morning to give one an appetite for breakfast, and a little more work in the evenings will help to drive away business cares.

A little farther out on the public road towards Mist, Jim Van's place of five acres, has been wonderfully improved during the fall and winter. The logs are all gone, nearly every stump taken out and the ground fertilized ready for the plough. Jim can have fine garden there if he takes pains to properly cultivate it.

Mrs. Susie Bryant left on the Shaver Monday evening for Portland and other points, where she will remain a few days.

The Norwegian and Finn residents on and about the prairie are enjoying the visit of a couple of clergymen, who have been holding religious services, either at the different houses or in the school house just completed, each day and evening for a week or more. A large proportion of these people are members or adherents of the Lutheran church.

It is reported that a new medicine project is shaping and that another remedy to alleviate human misery will be placed upon the market from Clatskanie.

SCHOOL-HOUSE NOTES.

The school organ attended the leap year party at the hall last Friday evening.

Pearl Decker is absent from school on account of sickness.

Miss Mary Burke is well enough to attend school again this week.

Who was it that got hurt while trying to climb on the fence a few evenings ago?

Something ought to be done with the stove at the school-house, it smokes very badly. School took up 15 minutes late Monday morning because the room was too full of smoke.

A few days ago a little girl in the primary department was asked to stand up and point to the east with her right hand. After a few moments, of deep thought and having turned around several times she said: "I could do it if I knew which was my right hand."

We know now why the teacher was so cross last Friday. No lady asked him to be her partner at the leap year party.

Mr. T. C. Waits visited the school Tuesday morning.

Misses Cloe Searcy and Mary Gilmore were absent from school Tuesday, on account of sickness.

Miss Maud Decker burned her hand very badly Tuesday morning while lighting a fire with coal oil.

A walk across the street in front of the school house is very much needed.

The history class is having quite an interesting time looking for questions in historical recreation.

Messrs. James Muckle and S. A. Miles visited the school Tuesday afternoon.

Maud Watts began school again Wednesday, after having been absent a week.

the month are Cloe Searcy, Nellie Decker, Eugene Whitney, Albert Henshaw, Newton Sundry, Tom Muckle, Arthur Moore, Frank Moore, Mable George, George Emerson, May Whitney, Tennie Way, Maud Decker, Mary Gilmore, Amy George, Daisy Watkins, Fred Watkins, Frank Watts, John Cooper, Charlie Cooper, Charlie Little, Lulu George, Ephia Garrison, Grace Miles, Lottie Cooper, Percy George, Mary Dufour, Winnie Way, Alfred Sundry, Glen Watkins, Eugene Miles, Pearl Decker, Nellie Cooper, Anna George and Florence George.

MARKLAND.

News is very scarce this week.

Misses Lonnie and Mabel Graham and Messrs. Edward Davey and Tilden Graham paid Clatskanie a visit Sunday last.

Miss Donia Davey, who has been very sick for some time, is slowly recovering.

Messrs. James McDonald and George Sutherland attended the dance at Cathlamet Saturday evening.

Among other visitors to the flat this week were Messrs. J. W. McDonald, John Hardesty, Dan Guman and Lincoln Woods, and Miss Lettie Pederson.

John Hardesty and Jim McDonald are stopping on their claims in Nehalem this week.

The question debated at the debating society last Saturday evening was: "Resolved, that Universal Suffrage is a Success." On the affirmative were Louis Jarvey, A. S. Graham and Loyd Graham; negative, Silvio Graham, James Wallace and William Graham. After an interesting discussion the judge decided in favor of the negative.

The dance at Wallace and Graham's landing last Monday night, given in honor of Miss Lettie Pederson of Mist, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Dixon, for the past week, was one of the greatest events of the season. Jay Gould, Russell Sage, W. K. Vanderbilt and many other prominent Wall street operators were present. Miss Pederson left on Wednesday morning's train for Westport—Marshall Journal.

ENTERTAINMENT. The St. Helens Dramatic Club will render a splendid production entitled "Better Than Gold," next Friday evening. This play embraces four acts and nine characters. The performers are all residents of St. Helens, and have spared no pains to make this effort a success. It promises to be a grand dramatic treat and literary success. Reserved seats will be placed on sale at Edwin Ross' drug store Monday. As the opera house is small all those desiring good seats should secure them early. Doors open at 7:30 and the performance will commence promptly at 8 o'clock. Following is the cast of characters:

SUBSCRIBER AGAIN.

EDITOR MIST—Dear Sir: Our little communication in regard to the management of affairs in Clatskanie, seemed to ruffle the placid countenance of some of our councilmen. They seemed to blame THE MIST for publishing said communication. Now the Chief steps in and puts a finger in the pie in the way of publishing his feeble and erroneous answer—which, by the way, he didn't have brains enough to write himself. Now we don't profess to know much, but we are able to do our own writing and don't have to make our mark X, where our name should be written in full. He insinuates that we are in arrears as far as our subscription to THE MIST is concerned, but if he was to pay his honest debts we would not be in that predicament. We hope you will find space in your valuable paper for this little contribution. We remain as ever your faithful

How Electricity Cured a Man Who Had Been in Constant Pain Two Months.
