

What the Faculty of the University of California Has to Say.

Your committee have made a very careful examination of the ROYAL BAKING POWDER and are satisfied that it fulfills all the requirements which the public can make of a baking powder. For purity and care in preparation it equals any in the market, and

Our test shows that it has greater leavening power than any other of which we have any knowledge.

No safer remedy can be had for coughs and colds or any trouble of the throat than "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Price, 25 cents. Sold only in boxes.

The summer bids fair to run mostly to politics and grass.

Use Emaline Stove Polish; no dust, no smell.

Try GERBER for breakfast.

Tobacco is man's most universal luxury; the fragrant aroma of MASTIFF PLUG CUT starts people to pipe-smoking, even those who never used tobacco before.

Tower's Improved SLICKER is Guaranteed Absolutely Water Proof. Will not Peel or Leak or Stick. Soft Woolen Watch Out! Collar.

Ask your doctor what happens to cod-liver oil when it gets inside of you. He will say it is shaken and broken up into tiny drops, becomes an emulsion; there are other changes, but this is the first.

He will tell you also that it is economy to take the oil broken up, as it is in Scott's Emulsion, rather than burden yourself with this work. You skip the taste too.

Let us send you an interesting book on CAREFUL LIVING; free.

Scott's Emulsion, Chemists, 130 South 5th Avenue, New York.

Your doctor keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do.

CONSUMPTION. I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send you a BOTTLE FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their names and P. O. address. T. A. "German Syrup"

My acquaintance with Boschee's German Syrup was made about four years ago. I contracted a cold which resulted in a hoarseness and cough which disabled me from filling my pulpit for a number of Sabbaths. After trying a physician, without obtaining relief I saw the advertisement of your remedy and obtained a bottle. I received quick and permanent help. I never hesitate to tell my experience. Rev. W. BUDDHIST DOCTRINE.

A STATEMENT ABOUT SOME OF ITS MYSTERIOUS PHASES.

The Teaching of Rebirth Explained—The Fundamental Rules Upon Which the Whole Religion of Buddha is Built. How Rebirth is Obtained.

A deep Buddhistical vein is now going through the modern world of western nations, having become especially forceful and penetrating since the period when Schopenhauer erected his philosophical system, more or less, on the very old teachings of Buddha Gautama.

There is no want of comprehensive scientific works in reference to Buddhism, and poets also have been unable to resist the great attraction of the doctrine of the Indian sage, as is shown in the works of Richard Wagner, which are largely influenced by the ground thoughts of Buddhism. The Sansara and Nirvana have become current expressions of many of our modern poets, not only in their descriptions of scenes relating to the world in which we live, but also in their pictures of salvation from this world of error, guilt, suffering, birth and death. The doctrine of Buddhism, of rebirth, that is, the continued reincarnation of our real spiritual being, forms the fundamental principle of the great Asiatic religion.

The doctrine of the rebirth is alone sufficient to explain to the Buddhist the mystery of existence; it explains why the righteous man is often so poor and despised, while the evildoer enjoys riches and honor; it replies to the despairing question, arising in the mind of the soul, "Why have I to suffer and endure so much?" It explains that indestructible force, the force of nature and matter, so likewise is the innermost being of man. Death is no annihilation, but only the passing over from one form of existence to another, who ever takes pleasure in this world, there is none to gain him; neither a god nor a devil can rob him of them, but he must abide by the consequences.

THE VIRTUES OF APPLES.

Their Medicinal Value and Some of the Troubles Which They Aid.

Chemically the apple is composed of vegetable fiber, albumen, sugar, gum, chlorophyll, malic acid, gallic acid, and much water. Furthermore, the German analysts say that the apple contains a larger percentage of phosphorus than any other fruit or vegetable. This phosphorus is admirably adapted for renewing the essential nervous matter, leucine, of the brain and spinal cord. It is, perhaps, for the same reason, rudely understood, that old Scandinavian traditions represent the apple as the food of the gods, who, when they felt themselves to be growing feeble and infirm, resorted to this food for renewing their powers of mind and body. Also, the acids of the apple are of signal use for men of sedentary habits, whose livers are sluggish in action; these acids serving to eliminate from the body noxious matters which, if retained, would make the brain heavy and dull, or bring about jaundice or skin eruptions and other allied troubles.

Some such an experience must have led to our custom of taking apple sauce with roast pork, rich goose and like dishes. The malic acid of ripe apples, either raw or cooked, will neutralize any excess of chalky matter engendered by eating too much meat. It is also the fact that such fresh fruits as the apple, the pear and the plum, when taken ripe and without sugar, diminish acidity in the stomach rather than provoke it. Their vegetable salts and juices are converted into alkaline carbonates, which tend to counteract acidity.

A good, ripe, raw apple is one of the easiest of vegetable substances for the stomach to deal with, the whole process of its digestion being completed in eighty-five minutes. Gerford found that the "pulp of roasted apples mixed in a wine quart of fair water, and labored together until it comes to be as apples and ale—which we call lamb-wolfe—never faileth in certain diseases of the rains, which myself hath often proved, and gained thereby both crowns and credit." The pining of an apple, cut somewhat thick, and the inside whereof is laid to hot, burning or running eyes at night, when the party goes to bed, and is tied, or bound to the same, doth help the trouble very speedily, and contrary to expectation an excellent secret.

A poultice made of rotten apples is of very common use in Lincolnshire for the cure of weak or rheumatic eyes. Likewise in the Hotel des Invalides at Paris, an apple poultice is used commonly for inflamed eyes, the apple being roasted and its pulp applied over the eyes without any intervening substance. Long ago it was said apples are easily and speedily digested, and a modern maxim teaches that "If you eat an apple going to bed, the doctor then will beg his bread."—London Hospital.

THE NIRVANA.

The middle road alone, which has been followed by the one who has attained perfection, avoids the two extremes of indulgence and asceticism, and leads to peace, to truth, to enlightenment, to Nirvana.

The Nirvana, according to the explanation of the Buddhist scholar, is a condition of peace, unshaken and indestructible, a certain certainty obtained through release. Nirvana means, literally, to be extinguished. The will to live, the longing for earthly joys, here or somewhere else, is extinguished. The false idea that material goods can have any value or be a source of pleasure, and the flame of sensuality and selfishness, is extinguished.

Although it is possible to reach Nirvana already in this life, an extremely small number are able to accomplish it. Our mental and moral condition, through the effect of deeds in former births, is generally so deficient that many rebirths are needed before we can reach this lower place, and rich in sorrow and suffering, is the necessary and inevitable result. The consequences depend on our Karma, the moral law of the world, of which the physical law, as seen by us, is only the sensual and temporal appearance. Karma is that which other religions designate as divine purpose, providence or fate.—Arens.

Men Who Carry Money.

The rich never carry much money. There are millionaires who never carry more than one dollar to five dollars habitually. They have a theory that they are more likely to be "held up" than anybody else and are always afraid of being robbed. It is one of the penalties of wealth. The robber would be more apt to find money in greater quantity on the body of one of their clerks. The clerk has no bank account and carries his little surplus in his trousers pocket. The pocket check book is the safeguard of the millionaire.—New York Herald.

A Wily Street Fakir.

A street fakir in Boston deliberately broke some glass bottles of perfume upon the sidewalk, and the odor arising attracted the passing crowds to his wares, which he talked up earnestly and long with the result of satisfactory sales. For ways that are vain and tricks that are various the Chinese does not greatly surpass the American sidewalk merchant.—Pharmaceutical Era.

Feat of New York Burglars.

The feat of the man who stole a hot stove has been eclipsed by New York burglars, who stole a safe weighing 1,600 pounds from a barge that had sunk to the bottom of the Hudson river.—Chicago Herald.

It is an Irishman who defines a rich man as a man who bites off more than he can chew, and a poor man as a man who chews more than he can bite off.

MEN OF OAKLAND.

THEIR WORDS ARE ABOVE REPROACH.

An Interview With Some Well Known Citizens Brings Out Certain Facts of the Greatest Interest and Importance.

The interviews which follow are from people well known in Oakland and the result can be assured that every word they say is true. They are certainly most remarkable assertions, and coming as they do just at the present time, they can be read with the greatest interest and profit by all.

George H. Fogg, the well known literary publicist, will tell you in the course of a conversation that these facts: "About five or six years ago I was suffering from a disease of the kidneys which troubled me for a year or so before I discovered what the real cause of my discomfort was. Upon the recommendation of a friend I began taking Warner's Safe Cure and took three or four bottles. It helped me immediately. I spoke of it to friends of mine at the time and many of them have used it with benefit. I still recommend it at every opportunity. Since using the medicine I have had no return of the trouble, and that was some three or four years ago."

"Can you give me the name of any of your friends who have been helped by this remedy?"

"Yes, if you will see Mr. Geo. S. Naismith, the insurance man of 463 Ninth street, he will tell you more of it. He took it because he saw my name in the paper."

Mr. Naismith is well known to the business and social circles of Oakland. He greeted the reporter cordially and said:

"Five years ago I was confined to my bed and the doctors gave me up to die but I am now up and able to attend to my business. Warner's Safe Cure is a great remedy and in my case acted upon my system at once and completely restored me to health."

Mr. F. E. Armstrong senior partner in the real estate business of Oakland, Armstrong & Merchant, 40 Third street, San Francisco and whose Oakland home is at 1520 Broadway, said:

"Warner's Safe Cure saved my life and my wife's. I had kidney trouble so bad that I didn't know a moment's rest while I was in bed. I was told that those special troubles peculiar to women. We were induced by our friends to try the Safe Cure and it has completely restored us to health. Now we always keep it in the house and use it as a family medicine and would not be without it in any emergency."

Mrs. Armstrong was also seen at her Oakland home and fully bore out her husband's statements as to her recovery being remarkably strong and healthy in appearance.

George W. Baker is a painter by trade and lives at the little cottage at Barryman Station just beyond Berkeley. In answer to our reporter he said:

"Five years ago I had dyspepsia so bad that I did not know what it was to enjoy a meal. I got in such a condition that everything distressed me fearfully and at times I was seized with fainting fits. My chest and abdomen were so sore that I fell to the ground as though my backbone were suddenly severed with an axe. Well do I know what it is to be stricken down in the street and have to be carried home in agony. This went on for over a year and all the doctors and medicine failed. At last I was told that there was a doctor who could help me, but without success. I spent hundreds of dollars and was no better than at first when one day I saw an advertisement of Warner's Safe Cure. It was a big poster on a fence and I told my wife, I thank God to-day that I saw it. I bought a bottle and in ten days I was cured. I bought a second bottle and in ten days I was cured.
