W. A. MEEKER,
Sheriff and Tax Collector for Columbia county, Oregon.

He Figured It Out.

While we were smoking on the veranda in front of the hotel a native in backwoods dress came up and sat down on the steps without addressing anyone, and during the next hour he seemed to be asleep. When he roused up it was with an exclamation of "Hu!" and he danced around so lively that the colonel asked him if he had been stung by an insect.

"No, sah—no, sah!" was the vigorous reply.

"Do you always wake up that way?"

"No, sah, but I dun figgered it out and I want to be kicked."

"What is it?"

"Last April," said the man, as he turned to us, "I was a-drivin' my ole mewl and cart along that road down thar', and when we come to the railroad that mewl quit on me. He jist stood right thar' and wouldn't pull a pound."

"I see."

"I heard the train coming and I pulled and pushed and whipped, but it was no use. He stayed right thar' and let the injine hist him half a mile high."

"Well, what have you figured out?"

"Why, sah, I orter onhitched that mewl and driv' him off the track, and then backed the cart off. I hev felt all along that I skipped a cog somewhar', but I couldn't tell whar'. I see it now. I kinder fell into a dose as I sot thar', and it cum to me like a flash. Thar' I stood with my mouth wide open and my legs a-shakin', and saw a $75 mewl flung sky high, to cum down among the splinters of a $50 cart, when I might a-saved both as easy as mud. Gentlemen, please excuse me. I'm a-going around to the co't house to find an onery nigger and give him that mewl's harness to kick me all over South Carolina!"—Detroit Free Press.

The New Handwriting.

Has anybody noticed the quiet changes that have been going on in fashionable handwriting? That once called "English" style has quietly vanished from polite society. In its place is found a rounder, more legible script that does not take up half the room, and is read in one-quarter time. "Learn to acquire the angular hand" can no longer be set as a copy book text, if these signs of the times be true. By all the signs the principal object of the new handwriting is to make itself clear, and for this reason the rounded letters have quietly edged out the stilted ones, and once more carries the rule of common sense into a fashionable matter.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Women Who Receive Big Salaries.

Miss Van Vranken, a native of New York, is one of four or five ladies in the treasury who receive a salary of $1,800. She is connected with the law division, and prepares briefs in compromise cases among her other duties. She has been employed since 1865, but passed the requirements of a clerk in the civil service commission under Gen. Grant.

Miss Seavey, who is also in the law division, directing the work of a number of clerks, also receives a salary of $1,800.

Miss L. S. Ralston is one of the most capable clerks in the law division. She is a native of New York, is an expert stenographer, and receives $1,600 a year.

The daughter of Corporal Tanner, who served her father as private secretary, occupies the same position in the office of the treasurer, Mr. Huston, and receives $1,800.—Cor. New York Press.
