POLITICS FROM THE PULPIT.

The political fight in Georgia has grown so warm that preachers have been discussing the parties and the issues from their pulpits. Last Sunthe most prominent minister in the South, preached against the third party in the following language:

"The old political parties are bad enough. They must either mend or end. But the new parties and their agrarian and communistic principles and spirit, and their nihilistic threatenings and methods are incontrovertibly worse. I hate despotism and I ufacture of shingles-that have no exhate the gates of hell, and especially perience in this line -realize the little the despotism of moneyed monopoly. contingencies which are a constant I believe it to be a robbery of the peo addition to the cost of manufacturing. ple, which a just God will punish with The cost of repairs is an item which and dread more the infidel madness certain factor.
