Some interesting Indian mummies

Some interesting Indian mummles ion of Dr. I

Some interesting Indian mummles are in the possession of Dr. Morrow of Pendleton, Or. They were discovered one year ago on Long Island in the Columbia river, buried in a mound of sand. One of them is a figure of a full-grown adult, evidently of great age. The other is of a young child. Both are perfectly preserved, having hair and teeth intact. The skull of the younger one has been removed, showing the covering of the brain. The moccasins are yet on them, and are hardly changed.

The Delamar Mining Company is threatened with an apex suit that may become historical in the history of mining litigation in Idaho. The coroner's jury in the case of the fireworks explosion at Los Angeles, by which seven persons were killed and a large number injured, gave a verdict exonerating the man in charge of the fireworks. The jury express the opinion that the mortars used for the purpose of firings bombs had been tampered with, and that if the proper police protection had been furnished by the committee in charge of the celebration the accident would not have happened. This verdict indicates the jury accepted the theory that boys poured gunpowder into the mortars before the latter were loaded.

mortars before the latter were loaded.

A discovery made at Vancouver, B. C., by the legal traternity has had rather a startling effect. On October I the act of the Legislature setting apart the new Vancouver judicial district came into force. It provided that when it came into force the Sheriff of the New Westminister district should have the power to serve the processes then in his hands, and that his jurisdiction should then cease. It was expected that as soon as the new act came into force W. S. Patterson, who has been acting as Sheriff Armstrong's deputy there for four years, would be appointed Sheriff for the new district, but no appointment was made, and now, by the declaration of the act, all work done within the confines of the new Vancouver district since October I by Sheriff Armstrong of the old Westminister district, which embraced Vancouver, is illegal. The effect of this will be far-reaching, and no end of a legal muddle will be the inevitable result.

President Harrison has acted upon two applications for pardon, granting them both, for the reason that the prisoners concerned were about to die, and to be effective the pardons must be issued at once. In this view the President was prompted to put in abeyance for a few minutes his own great personal sorrow. One of the prisoners pardoned is Lee Sing, convicted of perjury in the United States Court for the Northern District of New York January 26, 1892, and sentenced to the Albany penitentiary for one year. He was charged with being unlawfully in this country, and an investigation proved the charges. His pardon was urged by the Superintendent and physician of the prison and the District Attorney. The other is Marshall Wheeler (colored), convicted in the United States District Court of South Oarolina of carrying on business as a retail liquor dealer without having paid the tax. He was sentenced August 18, 1892, to six months' imprisonment in York county jail. The jail physician, Sheriff and District Attorney recommended the pardon.
